V. W. Ham, well known and popular Walnut Cove barber, has lately been indisposed with heart trouble and high blood pressure. Mr. Ham will be better when the warm days of spring come—at least this is hoped by his friends.

C. G. Burge of Pilot Mountain was in the county this week on business. Mr. Burge conducts one of the most up-to-date restaurants in this section of the State at Pilot. He is a Stokes boy, and is making good at his chosen work.

W. F. Marshall, Stokes representative in the legislature, spent the week-end at his Walnut Cove home. Mr. Marshall thinks at the present rate at which legislation is being put across that it will be at least March 15 before the general assembly adjourns, possibly longer.

H. P. Loftis, superintendent of the county home, was here Monday. Going with him for supper were his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Ham and Jean, the grand-kid.

J. R. Rhodes of Madison, accompanied by Jim Pardue, spent a while in Danbury Tuesday attending to some business. Mr. Rhodes, who is now 78, says his health is not good as he suffers high blood pressure and complications. He is a good citizen and has been long a good friend and patron of the Reporter. Always keeps paid up, and always comes in to see us and shake hands. May he be spared yet many years, and we hope his health gets better with the fine spring days coming. John Pardue is a nephew of Rev. Tom Pardue, the "thunderbolt" revivalist who formerly lived at King.

SEE how many public benefits brewing has helped create in only five years! How can the brewing industry preserve these benefits for the people and itself?

The answer, brewers realize, lies in with the distribution of their mild, wholesome beverage through responsible retail outlets. Obviously, the brewers can enforce no laws. But they can —and will—cooperate with all law enforcement authorities to the end that retail beer outlets give no offense to anyone.

May we send you a booklet giving interesting facts about beer, and discussing the brewers' self-regulatory program? Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

Latin Club Meets

(Contributed.)

The Caesar Latin Club of the Walnut Cove High School met on February 14th with Angela Taylor at her home in Danbury.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president Angela Taylor. The minutes were read and approved. The following new officers were elected: President, Marion Fulton, vice-president, Nancy Jane Helsabeck, Secretary and treasurer, Angela Taylor. After the election of officers Mrs. J. Spott Taylor gave a very interesting talk on the Vatican at Rome. She showed to the club a memory chain which was collected on a trip to Rome. The memory chain contained pictures of Romulus and Remus and many other scenes in Rome.

Two interesting contests were enjoyed. The winner of the first being Marion Fulton who received a Valentine box of candy, and Nancy Jane Helsabeck won a chocolate heart with the inscription "Amo Te" in the second. Marion Fulton also won the prize in a guessing contest.

The guests were invited into the dining room, which was attractively decorated with a Valentine motif carried out in the decorations, where delicious refreshments were served.
