Son of Chap Bodenheimer Falls to His Death

Virgil Otis Bodenheimer, 42-year-old traveling salesman of Winston-Salem, died Tuesday in a fall or leap from his 13th story room in a St. Louis, Missouri, hotel.

Young Bodenheimer was a son of Chap Bodenheimer, former citizen of Stokes county.

Police said they found two sealed letters in his room, one of them addressed to his wife, at Winston-Salem, the other to J. C. Moore, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Bodenheimer, a prominent resident of Winston and a member of one of the town's older families, was reported on his first trip for the Union Hosiery Corporation, of High Point, by which he had been employed about three weeks.

He came to St. Louis from High Point about a week ago.

Police of the Missouri city said they had no information to show whether the death was accidental.

Bodenheimer was in business with his father, Chap Bodenheimer, in the operation of a cigar store for some time.

Several months ago he became associated with the Truetred Tire Company of this city.

Survivors include the wife and three daughters, Edith, Eleanor and Emily Bodenheimer, all of Winston, and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chap Bodenheimer.

Rubbing Alcohol

No action had been taken up to last night by the court to curb the sale of rubbing alcohol by Danbury dealers. This drug is sold to derelicts who drink it in the place of sugar-head, it being cheaper. Physicians say it corrodes the innards to a fearful extent, but does not kill until the system has absorbed a certain amount. It precipitates insanity, jim-jams and fits.
