A Corn Test

On a corn variety test conducted with G. F. Stone near King in 1939, some interesting results were obtained by comparing the per acre production of 12 different varieties of prolific yellow and white corn and three hybrids, according to an announcement by J. F. Brown, county agent. Each of the plats received uniform treatment as to fertilizer and cultural practices. The plats were also located on a field which was uniform as to soil type and fertility. Results obtained in this demonstration were as follows:

Variety of corn	Bu's. shell'd per acre
Weekley's Imp'vd	71.80
Cooke's Prolific	68.95
S'tern B'ty	70.38
Douthits Prolific	73.38
Mosby's Prolific	66.47
Local	54.39
Jarvis G. Prolific	65.47
Indian Chief	66.67
Pou's Cross	82.43
Wood's H'b'd G'l'd'n	74.64
Wood's Yellow Dent	57.66
Wood's H'b'd White D'nt	58.41

Hints For Motorists
By Joseph R. Rollins
The Atlantic Refining Company

IT IS good insurance against repair bills to drain the oil frequently during the months of hard winter driving, instead of trying to get everything you possibly can out of it. Dilution destroys the body of the oil, and the grit that gradually accumulates makes it abrasive. The resulting expense for repair bills is likely to prove far greater than any possible saving from hoarding your oil.

Bluish smoke coming from the exhaust means that oil is burning up in the cylinders. Black smoke is due to a too rich mixture. White means steam, and if it is continuous it may be due to water leaking into one of the cylinders.
