YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO MEET HERE

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7 IS THE DATE—TO ELECT OFFICERS AND NAME DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION—PROMINENT SPEAKER EXPECTED.

R. L. Smith, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Stokes County, has announced the annual Young Democratic Convention will be held at the court house in Danbury on Saturday, Sept. 7, at 3 o'clock p. m., at which time the club will elect officers for the new year and delegates to the State Convention of Young Democratic Clubs to be held in Raleigh September 12, 13, and 14.

All young democrats are not only invited but urged to attend the convention this year in order that the largest delegation to the State convention in the history of the club may be sent, says Mr. Smith.

Hon. Lee Wilson, attorney of Lexington, candidate for State President of the Young Democratic Clubs has been asked to speak to the convention. Mr. Wilson is an outstanding young democrat and a good speaker. He represented Davidson county in the last General Assembly.

Stokes Farmers Buying Farms Under Tenant Purchase Act

Two additional Stokes county farm families are now preparing to live on their own land—two new graduates from tenancy into farm ownership.

Ernest McGee and Edgar O. Willard of the King and Chestnut Grove communities respectively, have received approval from Farm Security Administration of a loan for the purchase of the 87 acre Jessup farm and 45 acre John Smith farm in Chestnut Grove and Walnut Cove sections. Lacy A. Gibson, FSA Supervisor for Stokes county, announced approval of the loans this week and said the deal would be closed as soon as necessary papers are completed. A number of improvements will be made on the farms, including sanitary wells, repairs and additions to the homes, and new fences.

The loans for the purchase of new homes for Mr. McGee and Mr. Willard will come out of funds loaned to Farm Security Administration by the RFC under terms of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Purchase Act, the purpose of which is to make it possible for qualified farm tenants and farm workers to buy family-sized farms. The loan may be repaid over a period of 40 years with interest at three percent.

A plan for operation of the farms, designed to provide adequate and healthful living for the families and the conservation of soil and water resources, are being worked out by Mr. McGee and Mr. Willard and Supervisor Gibson. These are the 7th and 8th loans approved for Stokes county under the tenant purchase program.

There are numerous tenants in Stokes county that are eligible for tenant purchase loans under the Bankhead-Jones Tenant Purchase Act. All Stokes county tenants that are interested in owning their farms are urged to apply to Lacy A. Gibson, County Building, Danbury, N. C.

FROM OXEN TO STREAMLINED TRACTOR; A STORY OF SOUTHERN FARMING PROGRESS

The producers of the motion picture "The New South," searching for authentic local color, penetrated even to districts far off the beaten track. In one Southern farming section miles from a main highway, they were surprised to find a team of oxen, hooked to an ancient wooden cart, still doing active daily service.

A sequence portraying the team was filmed, and may be viewed in the picture, which is now being shown all through the South by the distributors of Arcadian Nitrate. The scene is part of the historical picture presented to portray the development of Southern agriculture.

Later on in "The New South" the most recent improvements in Southern farming, down to the streamlined tractor, are shown in contrast with the crude beginnings.

One of the greatest advancements has been the education of the farmer in the use of fertilizers to obtain the greatest yield from his crops, and to prevent his land from being depleted. In most Cotton Belt soils, the plant food which is most often deficient is nitrogen, the growth element.

Today the South, which still remembers the days when oxen furnished the motive power on the farm, can look forward to a new era of farm prosperity based on scientific findings.

Industry Ready to "Keep 'em Rolling" for Defense

Graphic illustration of the way in which one of America's greatest industries gears its activities with the United States Army for national defense is found at Little Falls, Minn., where the greatest peacetime maneuvers in the history of the country are being held Aug. 3—Aug. 24. To "keep them rolling," Chevrolet, one of the largest suppliers of motor transport equipment to the nation's armed forces, has set up through one of its dealers, the Bert Baston Motor Co., of Minneapolis, a complete parts and service headquarters in the military reservation at Little Falls. More than $10,000 worth of parts is maintained at this depot, where three service representatives are on duty 24 hours daily to service Chevrolet equipment in use. The 25,000 troops in actual combat maneuvers will use 1,150 Chevrolet transport units, including officers' cars, reconnaissance cars, hundreds of trucks adapted to special uses, and military ambulances.

Upper left in the photo shows army transport crewmen servicing an ambulance. Upper right is the Chevrolet parts and service headquarters tent, where service experts are always on duty. Lower left is Lieut.-Col. R. F. Rosenberg, of the Minnesota National Guard Quartermaster Corps. At lower center, an officers' car used by the major-general in command of the Little Falls encampment is being serviced. Lower right is an interior view of the Chevrolet parts tent, showing completeness of stock.
