New York Symphony
The shiny look of the midtown area Saturday evenings, when it is drenched with humanity out for a good time, making the atmosphere laugh . . . Ships from Nazi-dominated nations anchored in the Hudson river. A whiff of deep tragedy surrounded by the peaceful, visual rhapsody that is the Hudson river sector. The maze of alleyways near the East river, reeking with mystery in the middle of the night, and wearing a blaring ugliness during the day . . . The uptown gym urging that you learn jiu-jitsu, to help our defense program. The instructors are Japanese . . . The trees in the city's parks wearing their autumn make-up. Featuring a tapestry of colors that makes your eyes sing.

The orgy of silence cloaking Riverside drive at midnight, sprinkled with lovers slipping into the deep quiet without hurting it . . . Starving actors making the rounds of booking agents housed in the million-dollar Radio City edifices . . . The workers in the subway change booths gripped by the clutches of boredom, looking into nowhere . . . The Times building electric lights flashing the news of the world to a Broadway that makes news every moment.

The cut-rate book shops that sell classics for two-bits and cheap song-sheets for the same price . . . The fame and fortune starved, drinking in and enjoying the jeweled first-nighters during intermissions. They seem to be happier than the first-nighters they long to be.

Old, posy-selling ladies, wearing their sadness uncomfortably, desiring to brighten your life with a few of their flowers . . . The entertainers in the knick-knack nightclubs, whose make-believe makes other people happy, haunting the cafeterias after work, trying to make-believe they are gay . . . Doormen in front of theaters wearing million-dollar uniforms with lead quarter jobs, shouting at no one in particular at the top of their voices . . . The great gabfest continually going on between Greenwich Village intellectuals at musty bars. When they get done with a subject, it's a nervous wreck . . . The 14-karat lovelies who came to the city to sit on the success throne, and are grateful to get jobs as waitresses.

The coffee-pot philosophers, composed of cabbies, musicians, waiters and other night workers, who enjoy themselves thrashing out world problems over a cupacawfee during the 3-to-5 ayems . . . The skyscrapers and the sunrise tinted with colors of silent music. Nature's thrilling overture to a new day . . . Cloudy-eyed successes sprawled across Lindy's chairs, discussing their worries and troubles. And the tourists, who see them and drool with envy—for "such a wonderful existence" . . . The fairyland skyline, ultra-thrilling when you see it from the ferry, wearing a shiny coat of moonlight . . . A lone plane racing over the city, its landing lights looking like moving jewels against the night-sky.

The movie theaters around town giving away all kinds of things to attract patrons—except entertainment . . . The sheer artistry with which bus drivers maneuver the gigantic things through the maze of downtown traffic . . . The so-whatty craze that afflicts almost everybody at this time of the year—guessing football results . . . The organ grinder with the monkey that is always in films about New York as something typical of the city, but we haven't seen one for years . . . The soapbox down at Union square making the air shiver from his growls about the "recession." Remember how popular that word used to be? Why don't these bores get a new act?

Broadway at five ayem: When all its throbbing excitement has boiled down to a murmuring hush . . . The new rubber tires on milk wagons, a blessing to light sleepers . . . The antique shop on Third Ave. It has a picture of Ben Bernie in the window . . . The continuous sleight-of-tongue by auctioneers who blab-blah about a 10-cent item with as much fervor as if they were running for public office . . . The whacky intolerance of an uptown barber shop. They have a sign in the window announcing that they don't give haircuts to red heads. Ever hear of anything dopier than that?

The castle-like Fifth Ave. library reading room filled with unemployed drinking knowledge . . . Broadway's blood-stream—the amazing lights that decorate a sector filled with the cheapest kind of honky-tonk establishments . . . The eerily running wild throughout Central park during the wee hours. It is the perfect atmosphere for love or crime . . . Poverty-stricken human zeros, draping the Bower. Probably all of them have a valuable novel locked in their lives.

Election Sidelights:
Both presidential candidates carried their own home voting districts. Roosevelt received a majority of 74 votes to win, 376 to 302; Willkie's native town gave him a margin of 438 votes. The count was Willkie, 4,151; Roosevelt, 3,713.

Post-election celebration kept Manhattan firemen busy after Roosevelt's victory became apparent. More than 50 fire alarms were turned in as a result of street bonfires set by celebrants.

In order to record the electoral vote the 531 presidential electors will gather on December 16 in their various state capitals and send their votes to Washington by registered mail. These letters will actually be tabulated by Congress on January 6 and President Roosevelt will be sworn in for his third term on January 20. Members of the electoral college used to get a trip to Washington but in 1934, congress decided that its duties were too routine and turned it into a "correspondence school."

FOR THAT EXTRA SPECIAL LUNCHEON
See Recipes Below.

When your children are in school, and your husband is at work, you find little pleasure in eating a solitary meal. And when you are rushed with household duties, you are apt to grab a quick sandwich, or a steaming bowl of soup, and then continue with the tasks that are still before you.

But, you can take advantage of the days when the family is away, and the work all finished, to entertain your friends at a one-o'clock luncheon, a dessert luncheon for the bridge club, or for just a friendly get-together. A good menu and an attractive table will give you the poise and enthusiasm necessary to serve your guests easily and graciously.

Often times the most easily prepared food may be the most attractively served. A fluted orange cup makes a colorful container for many fruits, which may be varied with the season. The fruit must be cut into pieces of convenient size, free from seeds and skin, except for grapes. It should be thoroughly chilled and combined so that it is a neat arrangement. If a few pieces are crushed or wilted, the whole concoction will look careless and unappetizing. Remember, an appetizer should not be too sweet, for as the name implies, the first course should sharpen the appetite.

Fluted Orange Cup.
(Serves 6)

3 oranges
1 banana
1 cup grapes
3 tablespoons sugar

With a sharp knife pierce to center of orange. Cut the orange in half, using zig-zag strokes that meet to make the points of the scallops. Separate the 2 orange halves, and remove meat from shells. Cut orange meat into pieces. Peel, and cut banana into pieces. Combine orange meat, banana and grapes. Sprinkle with sugar. Chill. Serve in well-chilled shells, garnished with a sprig of mint, if desired.

Chocolate Mint Roll.
(Makes 1 11-inch roll)

5 tablespoons cake flour (sifted)
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar (sifted)
4 egg whites (stiffly beaten)
4 egg yolks (beaten)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 squares unsweetened chocolate (melted)

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together 3 times. Fold sugar gradually into egg whites. Fold in egg yolks and vanilla. Then fold in flour gradually. Add chocolate, and beat gently but thoroughly. Turn into a 16 by 11-inch pan which has been greased and lined with paper and greased again. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes. Cut off crisp edges and turn onto a cloth covered with powdered sugar. Remove paper, roll, and cool. Unroll and spread half of mint frosting over cake and roll again. Wrap in cloth and cool for about 5 minutes. Cover with remaining frosting. When frosting has set, cover with bitter sweet coating, made by melting 2 additional squares of unsweetened chocolate with 2 teaspoons butter.

Mint Frosting.
2 egg whites (unbeaten)
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons light corn syrup
Green vegetable coloring
¼ teaspoon peppermint extract

Combine egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, and cook for 7 minutes, beating constantly, until frosting stands in peaks. Add coloring gradually to hot frosting to give a delicate tint. Remove from boiling water, add flavoring and beat until thick enough to spread.

Mock Chicken Legs.
(Serves 6 to 8)

1½ pounds veal steak
1½ pounds pork steak
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup flour
1 egg (beaten)
Cracker crumbs

Pound meats, after seasoning with salt, pepper and flour. Cut into 1½-inch squares, and place 6 pieces, 3 of each kind of meat, alternately on a skewer. Press together. Chill for 1 hour. Dip in beaten egg and roll in cracker crumbs. Brown on all sides in hot fat in a skillet. Pour 1 cup water over the "legs," and cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour. (The liquid will all cook away.)

Corned Beef Souffle.
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups milk
½ cup celery (chopped fine)
2 tablespoons onion (chopped fine)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3 egg yolks (well beaten)
3 egg whites (well beaten)
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ tablespoon paprika
¼ tablespoon salt
2 cups cold corned beef (chopped fine)

Scald milk in a double boiler with the celery and onion for about 15 minutes. Strain and cool a little. Melt butter in a saucepan, add flour, then the milk, and stir until smooth, stirring constantly. When boiling, add the bread crumbs, paprika, salt and cold corned beef. Remove from fire and add the beaten egg yolks. Fold in the well-beaten egg whites, and pour souffle into a greased pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for about 45 minutes.

Rice Butterscotch.
(Serves 5 to 6)

2 cups milk
½ cup rice
2 cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt

Scald the milk in a double boiler. Add the washed rice and cook until nearly tender (about 30 minutes). Meanwhile, melt the brown sugar, butter and salt, and cook for 10 minutes over low fire, until a syrup is formed, stirring constantly. Gradually turn this mixture into the rice and continue cooking until the rice is tender. Turn into wet molds and chill. Serve with cream and sugar, if desired.

Easy Entertaining.
Everybody loves a party, from the toddling youngster to the sophisticated adult. A hostess who can entertain her guests with something new in the way of party ideas is indeed popular. You do not have to wait for a birthday to warrant a celebration, for soon there will be many holiday events to bring a group together.

Miss Howe, in her book, "Easy Entertaining," gives you many new party ideas and suitable menus with tested recipes. You may secure your copy of her book by writing to "Easy Entertaining," care of Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, and enclosing 10 cents in coin.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 8:4-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Take heed therefore how ye hear.—Luke 8:18.

"He that hath ears to hear, let him hear," cried Jesus as He taught the parable of the sower. Thus He reveals the heart of the lesson—that it is the hearing of the Word of God, and the manner in which it is heard that determines the destiny of men.

One may hear and yet not hear at all. Some who imagine themselves deaf have perfect hearing, but are so preoccupied with their own thoughts that they do not grasp what they hear. To be in such a state as far as spiritual things are concerned is desperately serious. Jesus cries to you, "If you have ears, hear the Word of God."

A parable is an earthly story relating common things of life to illustrate and present heavenly truth regarding the spiritual life. Parables are simple, but profound. A parable does not need interpretation, but it does need application. The parable of the sower, or rather of the four kinds of soil, presents the hearers of God's Word as being like four different fields.

I. The Wayside (vv. 5 and 12).
Through the fields of Palestine ran well-beaten paths, so hard from many footsteps that no seed could find lodgment and grow. The hearts of men are like that, with the world rolling its heavy wheels over the roads of our thinking. Sin and worldly pleasure add their bit, and the din and clatter of unwholesome or nonsensical radio programs cut their paths across our lives.

Little wonder that so much of the Word of God which we do hear is picked up by the devil's own birds and carried away. Let's break up the hard ground of our life's way, side.

II. The Rocky Ground (vv. 6 and 13).
Here we have the shallow soil on the rocky ledge, where seeds grow as if in a hothouse, but wither when the steady heat of the summer sun comes upon them.

Shallow hearers are those who receive the word with joy, are carried away with emotional enthusiasm, and seem to be most promising as followers of Christ until the real temptations and trials of life come, and then they are gone. They are like the soldier who enjoys wearing the uniform and marching in the parade past the reviewing stand with bands playing and flags flying, but who deserts his post when his company goes into battle. Surely none of us wants to be that kind of a hearer of God's Word.

III. The Thorny Ground (vv. 7 and 14).
The soil was good, the seed found its place to live and grow, but no one kept down the weeds, and they, as usual, got the best of the good seed.

Note carefully in verse 14 what are the destructive thorns and weeds in the spiritual garden. The very things people in our day most seek—riches and pleasure—are the things which choke spirituality. Watch them and root them out.

Observe also that the "cares" of this world are the weeds of the devil. How they do press upon us and hinder our spiritual growth. A man testified that while he had attended church for 20 years he had never heard a sermon because he was always thinking about his business. How about you?

IV. The Good Ground (vv. 8 and 15).
The harvest comes from the good soil, and how it does rejoice the husbandman as it brings forth even up to a hundred fold.

The hearers of the Word who are thus fruitful for God are "honest." They listen to really receive help and do something about what they hear. They have "good hearts"—a field plowed, prepared and weeded, ready to bring forth fruit. When they hear the Word they "hold it fast"—they are reverent, thoughtful and obedient to the Word. They have the "patience" to grow spiritually. It takes patient effort and devotion to do that, be sure of it (read Luke 21:19 in the R. V.).

In conclusion, we ask, "What then shall we do—sow only in the good ground?" No, let us ask God to break up the beaten soil of the wayside with the plowshare of His Word. Let us deepen the shallow soil, fight the weeds and thorns by His grace until they give up. Then let us go right on sowing the seed "in season and out of season" (read II Tim. 4:1-5).

In all such labors your heart will sing with joy because here and there you will be privileged to minister to "an honest and a good heart" which will bring "forth fruit a hundredfold" to the glory of God and for the encouragement of His faithful seed-sower.

Do Not Guess.
But let every man prove his own work.—Gal. 6:4.

Henry's Trip to See Thermometer Was Urgent

He slid his tired feet into a pair of slippers, lit his pipe, sat down in the easy-chair with a sigh of relief, and declared 20,000 wild horses couldn't make him stir from the house.

"Henry," said his wife, "you posted that letter I gave you this morning?"

"I did, my love," he answered. "I asked mother to postpone her visit for a while," his wife continued. "You see—"

Henry did so. The tired man jumped from his chair, kicked off his slippers, put on his boots, and slipped out into the murky street. Five minutes later, Henry came back with the tale that he had been to see how the thermometer outside the post office stood. She smiled.

Read These Important Facts!
Quivering nerves can make you old, haggard, cranky—can make your life a nightmare of jealousy, self pity and "the blues."
Often such nervousness is due to female functional disorders. So take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help calm unstrung nerves and lessen functional "irregularities." For over 60 years relieving "Pinkham's Compound" has helped tens of thousands of grandmothers, mothers and daughters "in time of need." Try it!

Facts of ADVERTISING

• ADVERTISING represents the leadership of a nation. It points the way. We merely follow—follow to new heights of comfort, of convenience, of happiness.

As time goes on advertising is used more and more, and as it is used more we all profit more. It's the way advertising has—

of bringing a profit to everybody concerned, the consumer included.
