Walter Winchell keeps the country edge with curiosity and suspense. He has become an American institution— famed for his masterful "inside" news technique and for his wit as well. He created the "Confucius Say" fad, is a master of word coinage and vivid slang, and a brilliant commentator. His column-the most widely read and quoted in America-is particularly noted for its unconventional disclosures about celebrities and socialites.

You will keenly enjoy reading this refreshing, informative column.
