Sergt. Bennett Writes

The Reporter has received a very interesting letter from Sergt. Lem Bennett, who is at Fort Bragg. Lem is a son of W. V. Bennett of the Jewell neighborhood, Danbury Route 1, and is a very efficient officer. He has been in the army for a number of years.

Lem was reared in the Buck Island hills where they do things right, and among other qualities they have the faculty of making tobacco grow sweet and waxy and orange-colored. And by the same token Lem makes a fine soldier. He is just the sort of fellow that will smash the Japs when he gets a chance at them.

FRANK RAINS AND MISS HOPE JONES UNITED — ERNEST NEWSUM IS ILL — OTHER KING ITEMS.

A reliable citizen has this to say about the royal town of King: "He has travelled over the United States and part of Georgia and failed to find a better small town."

King, May 14.—Frank Rains and Miss Hope Jones, both of King, motored to York, S. C., Wednesday where they were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. After a short honeymoon they will be at home in King.

Mrs. Ringo C. White is confined to her home on Forest Grove avenue by illness.

Miss Fannie Goff of Winston-Salem, formerly of King, was among the visitors here Friday.

Thomas William McGee spent the week-end with relatives at Mars Hill.

James M. Boles, who was reared here and who resides in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, has been visiting relatives here for the past several days. While here Mr. Boles stated to your correspondent, "That he is a regular subscriber to the Reporter and that he reads everything in it and enjoys it very much as it is like a letter from home. He looks for it as same as he looks for his check each month."

Ernest Newsom who recently moved from this section to the Mount Olive section is reported to be quite sick at his home.

It was all a mistake about the stork going out of business and here is his report for last week: Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Tuttle, a son; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McGee, a son; Mr. and Mrs. Clemon Southern, a daughter; and Mr. and Mrs. George Barr, a son.

Miss Ellen Spainhower of Pinnacle underwent a tonsil removal operation in the Stone-Helsbeck Clinic Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Delp, who reside on Pine street, are spending their vacation with relatives and friends in Alleghany county.

And that's the news from here.
