New Year Starts With Bang As 'A', 'B' Btrys. Blast Enemy Planes

(This news was sent from Belgium by Cpl. Royce B. Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Shaffer of Sandy Ridge, who is in Btry. B of the 385th AAA AW Bn. The writing was taken from the "Daily Crap Weekly", a small paper published by the 385th Bn., for the week of Jan. 17).

The German aerial attempt at Allied airfields on New Year's morning found the 385th AAA AW Bn. ready and willing to celebrate. Protecting an important airfield in Belgium, the Battalion had great cause for celebrating when the miece was over. Coming in that morning at tree top level, the Germans were caught by heavy and accurate fire, forcing them to break formation and seek individual targets, targets which they never found and cost the already depleted Luftwaffe heavily. Before they had even reached the field, a FW-190 was smoking and sought altitude, the pilot boiling out a few minutes later from a blazing ship. Handling the situation, the gun section took the most suitable targets. One machine gunner had two of his guns shot off by a 20 mm fire from a ME-109, but stuck to his guns and saw the Hitlerite crash but 200 yards in front of him. Later examinations proved the markmanship of the gunner, t 50 calibre projectile in the pilot's head.

Another section, a 40 mm section, had a target all its own. A FW-190 apparently singled out this gun as ineffective and worthy his attention. The gun meanwhile, commanded by Cpl. Buckner of B Battery, was ready for action, actually on target and merely awaiting Cpl. Buckner's order to fire. He gave it when the 190 came into range and from then on it was gun versus plane, American guts versus German. Once again the superman theory was disposed and the Focke Wolf made an emergency landing in a beetfield a short distance away. The pilot was captured alive and the 190 in good condition.

Two other ME-109's meanwhile were heavily engaged by other units of the Battalion and were busily engaged in evasive action. Once again they were ineffective, one pilot bailing out and the other crashing with his plane. A sixth plane was seen by observers going east, trailing smoke.

Later investigations showed very slight damage to airfield or installations, nor were the casualties very great in the AA Battalion. At the time of this writing some of them have already returned to duty.

The entire action transpired in a very few minutes and possibly 6 planes never returned. Actually the 385th AAA AW Bn. started the New Year with a bang, quite a bang!

KING NEWS

By E. P. NEWSUM

King, March 1.—Lt. Worth Kirby, stationed at Tallahassee, Fla., is spending a short furlough with his father, Charlie Kirby, in Walnut Hills. Lt. Kirby expects to go overseas soon. A force of men are at work on a lot recently purchased from E. P. Newsum. The lot is on the corner of West Main and Fowler Ave.

Jesse Lawson of High Point is spending a few days here with guest of his daughter, Mrs. Nell Carroll, on West Main St.

Joe Dwiggins, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home last week, remains quite sick, his friends will regret to learn.

Jack Sprinkle of the U. S. Army, stationed at Miami, Fla., is here with his parents, on a furlough.

E. C. Slate has purchased from William Fowler the lot on East Broad Street where the Twin Star restaurant burned some time ago.

Mr. Slate is building a large lumber plant and office on the site.

Grady Collins is repairing his home on South Depot St.

Farmers in this section are finishing up seeding their tobacco plantbeds.

Theodore Newsum made a business trip to Walnut Cove Friday.

Tisey Calloway, planter of the Schaub's Mill section, was among the visitors here Saturday.

The stork, while not entirely out of business, has nothing to report this week, but kept tuned to his number next week.

Alton Brown and family of Donaha visited relatives here Friday.

Along The Home Demonstration Way

By CLARA R. RALSTON
(Home Demonstration Agent)

My schedule for the week ending Mar. 10th is as follows:

Monday, Mar. 5th—Panel meeting at 2:00.

Tuesday, Mar. 6th — Walnut Cove 4-H meeting at 9:30; Meadows 4-H meeting at 1:00; Pine Hall Grange meet at 8:00.

Wednesday, Mar. 7th—Agent's training school, Winston-Salem, at 10:00.

Thursday, Mar. 8th—Pine Hall 4-H meeting at 10:30; Pine Hall HDC at 2:00 at Mrs. Tom Preston's.

Friday, Mar. 9th—Reynolds 4-H meeting at 9:30; Service Club at 8:30.

Saturday, Mar. 10th—Office.

Miss Jean Shore of Rural Hall were visitors here Friday.

The doctors in this section are being run to death and cannot begin to see all the sick folks who place calls. Everybody should read Mr. I. M. Gordon's letter in last week's Reporter and try to start some kind of a move that will bring about some relief.

E. P. Newsum went to Winston-Salem Thursday to attend to some business matters. He had to go all the way to Winston-Salem to find out it was George Washington's birthday. Of course he had not entirely heard of George Washington, but the fact that he had a birthday report this week, but kept tuned last Thursday had entirely left his mind until he tried to enter the Wachovia Bank to transact some important business and found the bank closed.

Contractors, Builders Asked To Register At Rationing Board

Local Board release

All contractors, builders, installers and erectors supplying construction and maintenance for services or making sales in which they furnish building or industrial equipment or materials, together with labor or services by actual construction, installation or services, are asked to call at their local War Price & Rationing Board immediately and register with them. This list must be in the District Office as soon as possible.

Mary Sue Smith Dies

Mary Sue Smith, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Peter's Creek township, died at a Winston-Salem hospital.

Surviving are the parents; two brothers, Warren and Edward of the home; three sisters, Ramona, Doris and Raynelle, of the home; grandparents, Mrs. Elizabeth Sawyers of Reidsville and Mr. and Mrs. Giles Hall of Leaksville.

CAPT. CARSON, OVERSEAS, SENDS CHECK TO RED CROSS

Chairman of the Red Cross War Fund has received a check for $15 from Capt. Jesse C. Carson, who is at present with Gen. Patton's Third Army somewhere in Belgium. C. Capt. Carson, son of Supt. of Stokes Schools J. C. Carson, writes his wife to "do, say and give all she possibly can for the Red Cross which is doing a wonderful work for the boys."

THERE ARE BOOBY TRAPS ON THE HOME FRONT, TOO

THE ONLY difference is, the ones here have price tags on them.

People who are buying a lot of things they don't need with all the extra money they're making right now, might just as well label them "Souvenirs of the Great War Boom."

And in later years when goods are plentiful, and prices come down to normal... when an uncertain future stares them in the face...when others are getting four dollars for every three they've loaned to Uncle Sam—it'll be these people who'll have booby-trap scars, and not much else.

If you want the best security and the best investment in the world today, just sock your money into War Bonds. Don't settle for a bunch of mighty attractive souvenirs. And once you've got those Bonds, hang onto them, keep your dollars fighting—and get your full interest back when the time comes.
