TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS

I return to you my many thanks for your patronage during my shore experience in the Warehouse business while I was of the firm of Lea & Lockhart, and no less so since I have been by myself. I flatter myself that my past experience as your Commission Merchant for the sale of your tobacco entrusted to my care entitle | me to a liberal share of your patronage in the past, and I hope by close application to my business that you will continue to give me at least a portion of your crop. I advocate the principle that the interests of the planter, and warehousemen are the same what effects the interest and welfare of one effects the other. Therefore if there was nothing else but self interest, that alone would induce me to get the top of the market

The quality of tobacco this year is very inferior as you well know, but the prices paid has been uniformly higher than I have ever known them on this the results equal last year?" market.

Many of the patrons of the Durham market are carrying their tobacco to other markets without consulting their best interest, which would be to bring present year shall have closed, I think

The advantages and facilities for handling your crop is better than it has ever been. Capital is pouring in from every quarter. The trade of our to look for an increased business this manufactures has largely increased, and while Durham has sold more tobacco year, as compared with last. his year up to this time than has ever been sold any previous year, our anufactures will be forced to buy your tobacco on other markets, and pay onsult your best interest and "self preservation" which is the first law of and carry your tobacco to market where there is a local demand for holds. He said that a great cause of he largest Smoking Tobacco Factory in the United States is atted here, and many others are striving to be second if not first on the t. I hope you will pardon the illusion that I make just here, as I do not say it boastingly, but there has been reports circulating designed to effect our intribution of all kinds of goods by terest, and done for that purpose, that our market is financially weaker than wholesale merchants and jobbers, and

We have banking facilities that are not surpassed any where in North Carolina according to the business done here, the two can control over one million dollars. We have two manufactures of smoking tobacco, the Black-Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company, who manufactures from 6 to 8 millious pounds tobacco annually whose estimated worth is from two to three million dollars, another W. Duke Sons & Co., from 500,000 to a million dollars to say nothing of other large factories in successful operation. Then why not come to a market that consumes as much tobacco as any two or three counties in the state make, besides large orders are held here from large manufacturers from other states for all grades. Load your wagon and drive to the Banner Warehouse where you will get good treatment and high prices, and when you see big advertiseme about antity and prices tell them Lockhart did not open his house until 16th out when the year 1884 closes he will be at the head of the list

A hotel proprietor once said to a patron of his house who ated him to advertise that puffs was better on the table that they were in newspapers. The money in your pockets is better than so much blowing in circulars. Load your wagon and never stop until you get under Lockhart's shed at the Banner Warehouse.

YOUR FRIEND, J. S. LOCKHART.

visit we said, "What is the feeling regarding the air ion of the Tobacco Tax?" Mr. "The subject was not greatly divissed just at the time of my trip, but I could see that jobbers were buying lightly in anticipation of its agitation.

R. "What are your own wishes regarding the matter?" Mr. P. "As far as I am personally concerned, I would prefer that the tax remain as it is, for a period of two years longer, and at the end of that time, have it entirely abolished. This would give the manufacturers and the trade plenty of time to prepare for it, and that would prevent a disturbance of business. The people are tired of the tax and of the manner of collecting it, and and its entire abolition is merely a matter of time." R. "How would a removal of the tax affect Durham?" Mr. P. "By giving notice for the length of time I mentioned, the manufacturers of Durham would be enabled to put themselves in a position to be very little harmed by the removal. It would be necessary for them all to combine, and announce to the trade throughout the world, that Genuine Durham Tobacco,' could not be obtained in bulk, and that the style in which it is now put up, would be continued, and form a distinctive feature

R. "Were you delayed in your trip on account of the flood ?

M. R. "Yes, it was one series of delays, for a portion of my journey. All the other tributaries of the Mississippi were raised to a dangerous height, as well as the Ohio, and while there were no great cities to be affected just as Cincinnati was, similar consequences followed throughout the immediate region. I sailed down the Mississippi from Memphis to New Orleans, when the river was from forty to fifty feet above high-water mark At a town in Arkansas, named Forest City, communication was for a time entirely cut off, no trains, no mails, no telegrams. Between Forest City and Poplar Bluffs, a number of miles apart, a steamer regularly plied for several weeks over the very land where a railrood was submerged. R. "How did it affect business. Mr. P. "In many places business was entirely given up, and even whole towns were dispopulated for a time, the inhabitants fleeing to further back from the river. Even when one could make progress by rail, it was dangerous owing to the washing away of bridg es and road beds." R. "In what condition was the land left, as the water subsided? Mr. P. "In a very swampy and bad condition. In would take weeks for the land to be brought into a proper state for cultivation, and many of the regular crops will be a failure altogether.
