SIDEWALK QUESTION.

The Case Submitted to the Town Commissioners.

They Meet To-night and Will Have Two Petitions Before Them.

A MARRIAGE EARLY THIS MORNING.

People Who Come and Go--Brief Briefs of Interest to All Readers of The Globe.

The town commissioners meet to-night, and the merchants of Durham would thank them if they would repeal the ordinance prohibiting tradesmen from using any part of their sidewalks upon which to display goods.

No man voted against the merchants, the list below shows how many voted for the merchants. Some are not tax-payers.

If the commissioners do not want to grant the prayer of the petitioners, it is their own business. This morning Chief of Police Woodall was circulating a petition, in the shape of a remonstrance, to anticipate THE GLOBE'S names, which will go before the commissioners to-night.

THE GLOBE presents a good list of good citizens. If the commissioners do not think it their business to respect this vote, then that ends the matter. The names are:

DURHAM DOINGS.

The Day's Record of Current Events in the City and Vicinity.

The new fertilizer works will soon be ready for business.

The next thing in order will be the meeting of the legislature.

The mail boxes are ready now to receive your mail. The uniforms will come by and bye.

Henry's street parade to-day caught the town. It is a good minstrel company and should have a good house to-night.

Have you numbered your house? If not, consult Captain Ramsey. He can fix you out, and tell you the number of your home.

It is stated by those who attended the performance, that the company which held the boards at Stokes Hall last night, played the devil.

The county commissioners met yesterday and adjourned until to-morrow morning. They transacted some business, but will transact more to-morrow.

The Mutual Co. has employed its secretary, and he will be in his office by next Monday, and then the wheels of that institution will commence to turn.

Mr. T. C. Williams becomes one of the proprietors of the Raleigh Evening Visitor, A. L. Ferrell retiring. The Visitor is a sprightly little sheet and we hope that it may continue to be a winner.

There is a mistake in history concerning the origin of Colonel Browning's story, "The Pied Piper." It was written in Durham on election day after witnessing the street parade of a minstrel show.

The manner in which our firemen responded to the alarm yesterday shows that they are ready for business. The thing to do however, is to have an electric alarm system, and then it will be a very easy manner to locate fires at once.

The keys for the city mail boxes came yesterday and the locks were put on immediately after their arrival. All is now ready for the free delivery system, and letters deposited in any of the boxes will be taken up by the carriers on their daily routes.

A. H. Michaels & Co. are opening up a stock of drugs in the store recently occupied by R. F. Whitehurst, and invite the public to call and examine. Mr. Michaels has lately been prescription clerk at the drug store of N. M. Johnson. THE GLOBE wants the new firm to succeed.

Arrivals at Hotel Claiborn: Natt B. Hyer, North Carolina; M. L. Randall, New York; J. E. Volk, Baltimore; H. R. Jones, Jasper, Cryne, Cincinnati; W. S. Loyd, Lynchburg; W. T. Meadows, H. L. Davis, Oxford; G. L. Thompson, New Frank, Atlanta; B. L. Evans, New York; J. A. Macdonigh, J. C. Mayfield, Virginia.

The W. Duke Sons & Co.'s great cigarette factory turned out at their Durham and New York house, 101,000,000 cigarettes and 105,000 pounds of smoking tobacco during the month of October. This is the first time in the history of the establishment that it sold over 100,000,000 cigarettes in a single month. And this is doing well enough.

Henry's famous minstrels of thirty stars who appear at the opera house on the 4th will, in addition to their superior performance offered, read the election returns from the stage during the performance. General admission 25 and 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents, on sale at Blackwell & Son's drug store. Their program is a superior one and their prices within the reach of all.

The North Georgia Citizen, of Dalton, Ga., says: "Henry's Minstrels opened the season at the opera house last Monday night to a good audience. The company gave a creditable exhibition, first-class in every particular, and many new and original features were introduced. Everybody was highly pleased with the entertainment, and pronounced the troupe a thoroughly good minstrel organization. The company travel in their own private car, and is composed of some thirty performers, among whom is some exceptionally good minstrel talent. We recommend the company as one in whom the theatrical public will not be disappointed. They advertise liberally and do what they say they will do. To-night at Stokes Hall, where the election returns will be read from the stage."

AS THEY CAST 'EM.

The Voting in Durham a Quiet Affair.

The Liars of the North and West Should Have Witnessed It.

REPORT OF THE COLORED SCHOOL.

Prof. James A. Whitted Makes a Report That Is Very Creditable to Him.

If there is anything in weather some party had the edge on the business today. In the West and North there is a dreary tradition that a damp, wet day is good for the democratic party. It is claimed that the democrats, in many states in that section being in the minority, would stem tide and water to vote. The republicans, being in the majority, feel assured of victory any way, and accordingly will not venture out unless the day is good. The democrats, anxious to roll up as big a majority as possible, would face even fire to get their ballots in the box.

Whether there are any traditions of that kind in this country, this writer does not know. But he does know that a grander day was never born. November will never see a fairer day than this election time, provided it continues as it started and remained up to noon.

The voting at the different polling places was carried on in a quiet manner; there was nothing like we read about in radical northern papers--in fact the vote in Durham to-day has been more orderly and more like the doings of a civilized community than is very often the case in the glorious North, with all its boasted freedom, and etc.

THE GLOBE would like to have seen about two hundred hot-headed radical, foaming editorial writers of some of the big papers which it knows, down here today. It would like to have taken them and stood them by the ballot boxes and exhibited to them the lies they have written in past years. The South, when it is once understood, will be the greatest country under the sun.

The vote at this place will be full, all the registered voters going up and casting their ballot for their country's cause. No disturbance of any kind has taken place, and the best of good feeling reigns.

GOOD ENOUGH.

BALLARD & HALLIBURTON SELL THE LOT TO THE NATIONAL BANK

It Brings Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars a Front Foot, and a New Building Will Go Up at Once.

When THE GLOBE announced that the First National Bank had purchased the corner of Main and Corcoran street for a new bank site, it almost knew what it was talking about. The sale was consummated to-day. The lot is 60x100 feet and the price paid was $15,000. This is an indication of what real estate is worth in Durham. The bank will at once commence the erection of a $25,000 brick building, three stories high. There will be two store rooms in this building, besides the bank, one fronting on Corcoran street and one on Main street.

This is one little boom, one substantial structure to take the place of an unsightly shell. Let the ball roll.

The lot formerly belonged to Blackwell & Carr.

Mangum street was agog this morning. The crowd that gathered around and about the residence of Mr. Lunsford, to catch a glimpse of the bridal party as they emerged from the door and entered the carriages, was larger and more enthusiastic than that which greeted the Italians with the big bear a few days ago. As a certain distinguished gentleman once remarked, it is strange what a propensity people have for attending marriages and funerals.

CUPID'S PLAY.

He Joins Two Worthy Durham People for Life To-Day.

On this day, big with fate, when candidates are in the air, Colonel Cupid concluded to be a candidate himself and settle the oft disputed question, "Is marriage a failure." Colonel Cupid won.

Mangum street presented a brilliant scene this morning. At an early hour a crowd of admiring friends assembled at the residence of Mr. W. D. Lunsford, to witness the marriage of his daughter Annie to Mr. J. S. Long, a popular young tobaccoist and one of the rising young men of Durham. The floral decorations were superb, especially the marriage bell of chrysanthemums, under which the couple stood during the ceremony, and the atmosphere within and without was freighted with sweet prophecies of hope and joy.

To the brilliant rendering of the wedding march by Miss Lessie Southgate, the attendants entered the parlor and took their places in the following order: Miss Maggie Lunsford, Mr. W. S. Halliburton.

Miss Ida Lansdell, Mr. J. W. Jones. Miss Sallie Yates, Mr. W. E. Lunsford. Miss Maggie Umstead, Mr. W. R. Israel. Miss Lillie Lockhart, Mr. W. M. Yearby.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Yates, who sealed the compact with the beautiful emblem--the wedding ring--and amid the congratulations of friends and a shower of old shoes, the pair left on the 9:30 a. m. train for an extended tour through the North, taking in Washington, New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

The bride is a favorite in Durham society, which she will continue to adorn. THE GLOBE has no old shoes about the establishment, but when it has it will remember them.

COMING AND GOING.

Durham People on the Move and Visitors in the City.

Mr. Lex Davis, of Oxford, is in the city.

Mr. W. T. Meadows, of Oxford, is in Durham to-day.

Mr. W. S. Jessup, of Greensboro, has accepted the position of secretary with the Mutual Land company, and with his family will move to Durham this week.

Mrs. J. A. Long and son, and Miss Long sister of the groom, came over from Roxboro to attend the marriage this morning and is visiting the family of Col. John A. Wilkinson.

TWO BAD MEN.

They Get Drunk at Lexington and Cut Each Other's Throat.

Great excitement prevails at Lexington, this State, on account of a cutting affray that occurred there Saturday evening, between Charlie Blyard and Jim Lindsay, both colored. It seems the two negroes were near the depot, when they commenced boxing. Lindsay seemed to get the best of it, whereupon Charley Blyard drew a knife and cut Lindsay's throat, cutting his neck vein and partially severing the jugular vein. The negro is alive yet, but will die. Charlie Blyard made his escape. The negroes were both drunk and had been very noisy on the streets during the day. Every effort will be made to capture Blyard.

The spiritual shepherd of the Afro-Methodist Episcopal church at this place, has evolved a scheme for collecting his yearly stipend which is both novel and enterprising. Profiting by the success of the gift entertainment system in other lines of business, he has concluded to try it himself, and has placed on exhibition at the store of the Durham Furniture company, an $18 rocking chair, which he proposes to give away to the man selling the largest number of votes, said votes to be sold at ten cents a piece and proceeds to go towards the payment of the pastor's salary. If this is not enterprise, we would like to know what you call it.

Captain Ramsay called this morning with a copy of the election law which says expressly that no one shall be allowed to speak to the voter except the judges of election, and called our attention to the fact that some fifty or sixty fellows were button holing the man with the ballot until he let it drop. But suppose they did? The election is about over now. And we shall know each other better when the returns all come in.

A RARE TESTIMONIAL.

What Mrs. John Moring, of Pittsboro, Says of a Durham Company.

PITTSBORO, N. C., Sept. 28, 1890.

To the Durham Medicated Cigarette Co.: GENTS--I have used your Medicated Cigarettes for Headache and Insomnia, and have been greatly benefited by them. Especially for Sleeplessness I have experienced more relief than from all other remedies that I have tried during the eight years that I have been a sufferer. Since using them I am almost entirely free from Insomnia, although I have discontinued them for nearly two months. I can further certify that they have been of great service to some friends to whom I recommended them for Bronchial troubles. Very respectfully, Mrs. J. M. Moring.

TO INVESTORS

The Stockholders of The First National Bank of Durham have decided to increase the Capital Stock from $100,000 to $200,000.

The Bank was organized in November, 1887, beginning business January 1, 1888, and has been successful from the beginning. Some of the staunchest financial men in the state, non-residents of Durham, are numbered among the stockholders of the bank. Since the organization the bank has paid $16,000 in dividends to its shareholders and has to the credit of surplus and undivided profits to-day $15,000.

The Bank has an established and growing business and it is the judgment of the Board of Directors that, with an increase of capital, the bank can show an increase of earnings without any material increase of expense. The Directors feel almost warranted in saying that the bank ought to earn a dividend each year of 8 per cent, besides providing a satisfactory amount to be carried to the credit of surplus and undivided profits. The stock of the bank has always been regarded as "gilt edge," and in truth it has been next to impossible to buy it at all. The large crops which will see a market at Durham this fall and winter, the large amount of valuable business already permanently located here, the large increase of business which the near future promises to develop, and the general growing commercial interest of Durham, the Directors think justify them in making the increase. The value of the stock, as shown by the books of the bank to-day, is $115 per share, at which price the new stock is offered.

Books of subscription will be opened this day at the bank, and persons desiring to secure stock should apply promptly, as several applications are already on file. Very respectfully yours, J. S. CARR, President.

The management of the bank is in the hands of the following gentlemen, to-wit:

OFFICERS: J. S. CARR, President; LEO D. HEARTT, Cashier; W. W. FULLER, Vice-President; CHAS. A. JORDAN, Teller.

DIRECTORS: J. S. Carr, J. W. Walker, C. S. Bryan, Jno. W. Smith, D. C. Parks, W. R. Cooper, W. W. Fuller, A. H. Stokes, J. T. Mallory, Jas. A. Bryan.

Among the non-resident stockholders are: Hon. Paul C. Cameron, Hillsboro, N. C.; Mr. Ashley Horne, Clayton, N. C.; Mr. Jas. A. Bryan, New Berne, N. C.; Mr. Lawrence S. Holt, Burlington, N. C.; Mr. D. C. Parks, Hillsboro; Col. John S. Cunningham, Person county, N. C.; Mr. Jas. A. Long, Roxboro, N. C., and Mr. Chas. S. Bryan, New York, Jas. A. Cheek, Hillsboro, N. C.
