DURHAM, N. C.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1892.

THE GLOBE FOR 1892

Will call things by their real names and name them properly.

It guarantees to advertisers more than double the combined circulation of all other papers.

It will continue to tell the truth and jerk the mask off of pious and pretending frauds.

It will not waver in its fight for the development and prosperity of the New South, and it asks the patronage of all honest men.

IT FLIES.

People who have made promises to The Globe to pay what they owed, must remember that time flies. It is a way that time has. Those who have promised and fail to call at the office with the stuff, will be given the advantage of an explanation to the effect that they lied about what they owed.

All must come and whack something.

The Hat and the Hat must get down to business now.

WE WANT to know—and all at once, is that hot enough for you?

CLEVELAND and STEVENSON. That is not a good sounding ticket. The campaign song writers will find it hard work to get up a rhyme on that.

IN THESE times our readers must remember that a little politics is not out of place. Accordingly we propose to use a little politics now and then.

The Greensboro Record says that it was for HILL and is for him yet. However, it will support CLEVELAND this time and HILL four years from now.

THE GLOBE takes back its proposition that it was the original CLEVELAND paper. A dozen now come in and claim that distinction. THE GLOBE has never been for CLEVELAND.

The date for the opening of the World's fair is less than a year off now and North Carolina is making very slow progress in the way of representation. The Durham auxiliary should get a move on itself.

It is announced that J. DANIELS will become editor of The Progressive Farmer. But as the last issue of The Farmer stated that Mr. RAMSEY would continue in charge, the rumor is perhaps a mid-summer joke.

THE Omaha Bee is just twenty one years old, and will vote this fall for HARRISON and REID. COLONEL ROSEWATER has been the most successful newspaper man in the West—and his great paper is a monument to his industry and ability that will endure forever.

IT WAS RIGHT.

Two druggists of Durham have been arrested for selling goods on Sunday. Of course no one will advise people to violate the law, but we are glad that MAYOR ANGIER dismissed the case.

It is to be regretted that we have such Blue Laws. What we should do is to make our ordinances simply consistent with common sense. If a man wants a glass of lemonade on Sunday he should be allowed the privilege of getting it.

As it is now if a druggist sells ice cream he is arrested, while a hotel keeper can sell ice cream and not be molested.

Such business is not good business, and the Blue Law should be repealed.

If we expect to ever have a town there should be no class legislation.

MAYOR ANGIER will be endorsed in what he did.

WELL SAID.

The New York Sun says: A witless and very vulgar cartoon caricaturing Mr. BLAINE appears on the first page of the number of Puck which was issued yesterday, dated June 22. Even if Mr. BLAINE were not at this time bowed down under a domestic affliction which entitles him to the sympathy of every sensible heart, the performance of Puck would be an outrage; under the circumstances it is unspeakably brutal. It may perhaps, be said that the cartoon which has excited so much indignation and disgust among decent people, had been prepared and perhaps printed before the news of the death of Mr. EMMONS BLAINE. That makes no difference. The three or four days intervening between the death of Mr. BLAINE's son and the publication of this coarse and heartless insult, allowed plenty of time for reconsideration. It would have been better to have recalled and suppressed the entire edition.

In generous contrast with the performance of the mugwump picture paper, is the act of the democratic convention in Chicago on Tuesday, when the resolution of sympathy for Mr. BLAINE in his bereavement provoked a remarkable demonstration of his popularity as a man. The heartless and the hypocritical may doubt the good taste of the demonstration; but of its sincerity, spontaneity, and cordial intent there can be no question.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

The money plank in the democratic platform is as follows:

"We denounce the republican legislation known as the SHERMAN act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future, which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage; but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted by international agreement, or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the purity of the two metals and the equal power of any dollar at all times in the market, and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes. The first and most defenceless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency."

This will not cause much rejoicing in the camp of the third parties. We will be obliged to wait for the Omaha convention before we get what we want.

Adlai E. Stevenson.
[News and Observer.]

The nomination of Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson for vice-president is extremely agreeable to us. In fact we had joined our friend Joe Caldwell in urging him for the first place on the ticket. Failing in that we are rejoiced to see him honored by the nomination for the vice-presidency.

It goes without saying that we believe Mr. Stevenson will bring to the ticket his full share of the necessary popularity to secure its triumphant election. He is known throughout the union, and has a reputation for standing up for his party that is in accord with the large majority of the democratic people. We are gratified particularly that the North Carolina delegation should have been so instrumental in securing his nomination.

Mr. Stevenson is of North Carolina parentage. His father moved from the section near Statesville to Illinois just before the birth of this son. Mr. Stevenson has filled many positions of trust and honor in Illinois, and served with great acceptability in congress.

When Cleveland was elected president in 1884, Mr. Stevenson became his first assistant postmaster-general and won many encomiums on the efficient discharge of that difficult position.

This spring he was spoken of in connection with the nomination for governor of Illinois, but did not enter the race.

Most of the North Carolina delegation voted for him for president, and they were largely instrumental in bringing him forward for the vice-presidency.

Mr. Stevenson was from first to last a devoted advocate of Cleveland's nomination.

AT RANDOM.

For CLEVE and STEVE
We do believe
The welkin loud will ring.
The votes will come,
They'll make things hum
And crush the Hoosier thing.

The above comprehensive song is suggested by COLONEL CHARLEY WHITAKER, who says that CLEVE and STEVE is the only rhyme he sees in the democratic ticket. He says that GROVER.

Clover.

Rover.

Over.

Etc., etc., etc.

Jingles all right, but he will give a dollar to see the color of the man's hair who can get a rhyme on ADLAI.

WHAT OUR STATE WILL DO.

An insight into the North Carolina Department at the World's Fair.

The State Chronicle says: The committee on collections are hard at work and every division of the several classifications are being prosecuted as rapidly as the nature of the work will admit. The progress so far made in every department is perfectly satisfactory. In addition to what has been published heretofore we give below some additional items of interest to the public. The horticultural department; under the supervision of Dr. H. B. Battle, is being most thoroughly worked up. This department has been sub divided into viticulture, which will show the methods of planting, staking and training the vines and vineyards. Also pomology methods, appliances, manufacture and products. Floriculture, culinary; vegetables; seed; raising, testing and distributing. The division of horticulture being a most important one every means will be used to the furtherance of the best interest of the state; among other things, it is the aim of the committee to have the state's annual fruit fair held at Chicago next year; in addition to this, arrangements will be made to have in May next an exhibition at Chicago of the truck grown in eastern Carolina, getting the growers to make shipments twice a week.

A complete series of enlarged photographs, illustrating truck growing in the east, will also be shown in this department. The culinary department bids fair to be especially complete, which is being aided greatly by the ladies of the state. Canned fruits and vegetables will be shown from every manufactory in the state. It is the hope of the committee to be able to present such an exhibit in this line that will attract the attention of the fruit growers of the world.

In the mines and mining department, Prof. J. A. Holmes, state geologist, with his crops of assistants, are busily engaged. The collection of building stones will far exceed any exhibit heretofore made. A superb exhibit of the ores, including gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, zinc, &c., will be made. The finer crystals and minerals which have a gem value, that have been secured, will make the most complete collection of any state in the Union.

GROVER TALKS.

The Next President Feels Pretty Good Over it All.

BUZZARD BAY, Mass., June 23.—At 4:30 this morning Mr. Cleveland, through Governor Russell, sent from Gray Gables the following statement to the press: "I should certainly be chargeable with dense insincerity if I were not profoundly touched by this new proof of confidence and trust of the great party to which I belong, and whose mandates claim my loyal obedience."

"I am confident that our fellow-countrymen are ready to receive with approval the principles of true democracy, and I cannot rid myself of the belief that to win success it is only necessary to persistently and honestly advocate these principles."

"Differences of opinion and judgment in democratic conventions are by no means unwholesome indications, but it is hardly conceivable in view of the importance of our success to the country and to the party that there should be anywhere among democrats any lack of harmonious and active effort to win in the campaign which opens before us, I have, therefore, no concern on that subject."

"It will certainly be my constant endeavor to deserve the support of every democrat."
