

A BIKER BALKED!

A Young Boy Falls a Victim to a Miserable Blue Law.

The First Offense He Is Given a Chance, but No Matter.

A LAW THAT SHOULD BE REPEALED

People Who Come and Go—Brief Reviews of Interest to All Readers of The Globe.

Dudley Yates was arraigned before his honor, the mayor, this morning for violating a city ordinance that should at once be repealed.

Dudley was enjoying the invigorating exercise of riding a bicycle, and by some unaccountable means he got upon the sidewalk. The proper authorities took him in charge, which, according to existing circumstances, they had a right to do.

We believe in fairness on all sides. We have never experienced any trouble in coming in contact with a bicycle, nor in having one come in contact with us, either from front or rear, but we have met as many as three baby carriages side by side and had to step off of the pavement to let them pass. A bicycle requires much less space. Sometimes a street car occupies the center of the street, and carriages on either side, and then it is impossible for the wheelmen to do otherwise than to take the pavement where they find no obstruction.

No one will consider it an inconvenience to step aside to let a bicycle pass.

Almost every day, at some points on Main street, the pavements are blocked with negroes who refuse to move an inch for anybody, and we have no law by which the matter can be remedied, or at any rate such is the case, law or no law. One of our public streets was blocked to-day by wagons loaded with hay, fodder, wood, etc., and yet no steps were taken to open the way.

No one will attempt to ride a bicycle on the pavements when he sees they are thronged with people.

Give our boys a chance to enjoy their wheels. We expect to get us a wheel when that nefarious law is repealed. The bicycle resembles a rattlesnake in one particular only. It gives you warning before it bites.

Here Is Something That Should Catch Every Graduate at Keeley.

THE GLOBE sees this floating in some of the newspapers. THE GLOBE knows that the Keeley-institute is expensive, and it wonders that all the men who have been saved do not turn in and help others who are staggering down the path of life. The letter below from Judge Eller should be all sufficient:

GREENSBORO, June 26.

An Appeal to the Graduates of our Keeley Institute.

The writer perceiving the just influence for good that has already gone forth with you into all parts of North Carolina and neighboring states, and further recognizing the great good that may grow from united effort, issues this appeal and asks that in addition to all past favors which he has received from you, that you make one grand effort to gether, and if possible let each graduate send at least one more patient to our institute during the month of July. You will notice by referring to Colonel Blackwell's interview copied in The Patriot and mailed you that our work is already felt in all parts of North Carolina and its good influence not confined to those who have taken the treatment here, but it is nevertheless felt from the cabin to the state house and from the mountains to the sea.

It now appears to us that the Keeley treatment is God's chosen way of saving our state and country from the ruin incident to the liquor traffic. Let each man who has been blest and reclaimed send at least one more worthy man as your contribution to the great work in which we are engaged. God will bless and reward you for your effort. With high appreciation, Yours truly, W. H. ELLER, Manager.

HE IS DEAD.

Andrew Meeks Died This Morning at 9 O'clock on Vickers Street.

Andrew Meeks, a worthy poor man, who lived on Vickers street, died of consumption this morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. Meeks leaves a wife and two small children, who need something more than sympathy.

While he was able to work, we learn, he provided well for his household, but an inseparable space now lies between husband, wife and children. Those who have the means can now find a good place to put some of their surplus.

Mr. Meeks was about 25 years old, and has been confined to his bed for nearly a year.

THE TOWN IS FULL!

Omaha Overflowing with the Calamity Howlers.

MONDAY THE GREAT DAY FOR ALL

Besides the Convention a Grand Old-Fashioned Fourth of July Celebration Will Take Place.

OMAHA, Neb., July 2.—[Special]—The city is full of people—hayseeds and all kinds of reformers. We are threatened with a visit from Mary J. Walker. After much exertion the local committee announces that the $10,000 has been raised and that there are enough places to keep all who may come.

The Fourth here will be celebrated in the grand old style, and this, together with the great convention, will fill the town full. Fully one hundred thousand strangers will be in the city. The advance guard of the North Carolina delegation arrived to-day. Farnam, the principal street, is gaily decorated.

It is now an unsettled question as to who will be the leader.

J. B. Weaver, of our sister state, Iowa, is not the kind of a fellow to work up enthusiasm. Stewart, of Nevada, seems to be in the lead for president, while Van Wyck, ex-United States senator, has a large following in the West.

Never in the history of the West has such a gathering been here, and it really seems that much importance, nationally, attaches to this convention. HAYNES.

Tobacco Association.

The North Carolina Tobacco association meets at Morehead City, July 5. Tickets on sale July 2 to 5 inclusive, limited to June 11. Round trip, Durham to Morehead City and return, $5.75. Any one can go to the convention that desires to do so, can enjoy all of the privileges of reduced rates and will receive the courtesies of the association. The meeting promises to be a big one and every tobacco section should take a big interest in it, as all will be much benefited by the results of the convention.
