THE FUTURE OF THE SOUTH

Effect of the Southern Railway Reorganization.

OPINION OF BANK OFFICERS

All Agree That It Will Prove a Powerful.

They Think It Will Develop This Section and Increase Its Prosperity in Every Form. Corbett and Courtney Will Be Indicted by the New Jersey Authorities for Prize Fighting.

BALTIMORE, Md., September 14.—Light bank presidents, including heads of banking houses, in New York, Baltimore, Atlanta, Birmingham, Richmond, Savannah and Norfolk, give opinions in the Manufacturers' Record this week of the effect of the Southern railway reorganization on the future of the south. The financial editors of leading dailies in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, have written letters to the Manufacturers' Record on the same subject. All agree that this will prove a powerful factor in developing the south and increasing its prosperity in every direction.

Watson and Gibson, of New York, say: "The Southern Railway company is a superior creation to its predecessors and will do good to the south as the south will do good to it."

Powerful Agency for Southern Prosperity. Hamilton & Co., of Baltimore, say: "The millions of dollars spent in improvement of the financial interests of Drexel, Morgan & Co., and other capitalists mean more than can be told to the south."

President H. M. Atkinson of the Atlanta Banking and Trust Company: "The putting of these railroads in sound financial condition as has been done and connection of such names with the Drexel, Morgan & Co., transform them into a powerful agency for southern prosperity."

President Hamilton, of the Merchants Bank, Savannah, predicts a prosperity unknown to southern history and regards the reorganization of Drexel, Morgan & Co., and the Vandebills, as one of the most promising omens for this section.

More People Seeking the Cotton District. President Taylor of the Norfolk Marine bank, writes: "The reorganization will indirectly benefit the south as a whole by directing the attention of capitalists to that section of our country."

President Hammond, of the Greenville, S. C., bank, finds more people and more money seeking the cotton district.

General Joseph Johnston, of the Alabama national bank, Birmingham, says it is the south's golden opportunity.

President Hugh R. Garden, of the Southern exchange association, New York says: "The reorganization gives evidence to the outside world of a faith in the future of the south by the strongest financial interests in this and other countries."

CORBETT AND COURTNEY.

They Will Be Indicted by the Kinestoscope Evidence is Corroborated.

NEW YORK, N. J., September 14.—Tuesday Judge Depue, in his charge to the grand jury directed a searching investigation into the recent fight between Champion Corbett and John Courtney before the kinestoscope at the Edison laboratory at Orange. The charge is very specific, and directed that an indictment be found against the principals and spectators, if the facts, as published, were to be correct. The grand jury could be pronounced, he said, for the newspaper men, who are not credible and consequently would not be indicting themselves. There is a high and growing sentiment here against prize fighting in any form. Something of a sensation has been created by the news that a New Jersey grand jury will probably indict Corbett for using a kinestoscope exhibition to glorify a prize fighting exhibition.

TORNADO SWEEPS MEMPHIS.

Robert Colpa, a Negro, Was Killed, and Two Other Persons Injured.

Memphis, Tenn., September 14.—A portion of North Memphis was swept by a tornado yesterday at 11:30 a. m., destroying and damaging property to the extent of $5,000 and killing one man, Robert Colpa, and injuring two other persons slightly. The portion of the city visited is the seat of the lumber yards and the damage falls upon them. One hundred yards of the Wolf river bridge of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Southwestern railroad was packed up and thrown one hundred feet away. The tornado came from the south, travelled one north and it is thought by the weather bureau to have been a local one. Conan's cotton gin north of Memphis was partly unroofed and trees were twisted and uprooted as if mere pipe-stems. Corn and cotton in the path of the tornado were destroyed.

To My Friends and Patrons.

I expect to leave next week for the northern markets to buy my fall stock of millinery and am forced to ask all those owing me accounts to come in and settle at once as I am needing the money. I hope all will make an effort to pay what they owe as I am going to make a change in my business about October 1, and I'm very anxious to close my old books.

The lawn party to be given tonight at Trinity park by the ladies of Main Street church for the benefit of Miss Lizzie Martin, who is now fitting herself for that work in a training school, should be patronized by every one. It certainly will be a very enjoyable affair, and should have the support of the entire community.

There are farmers in the city today from all our neighboring counties. They are here with tobacco. Most all of the old crop is in. New tobacco is selling well, especially wrappers, and farmers are highly pleased with the prices obtained. If all farmers who have the weed to sell will bring it to the Bull city they will get paid for their labor.

The Barlow Bros' minstrels gave a very creditable performance last evening at Stokes hall. Some portions of the performance were very good indeed. The acrobats were the best that have ever been in the city, and also the trapeze work of the tramps was excellent. Jim and Bill Barlow cannot be downed. We hope they will come to see us next season.

In Memoriam.

To Durham Lodge, No. 352. A. F. & A. M.

BRETHREN—Your committee appointed to present a suitable memorial on the death of our brother, the late W. A. Albright, herewith report as follows:

In the death of our brother we are again reminded of that omni-present law of human existence: "In the midst of life we are in death." "Man dieth and goeth to his long home, and where is he?" Life is even a vapor, that appeareth away. The latest conclusions of advanced science teach that what we call death is but a change of form. There is really no death. The vital essence disappears from the mortal tenement only to reappear in some other form. This, indeed, is confirmed by Revelation itself, which speaks of going on from glory to glory. So let us trust that our brother will go on from glory to glory, until at the general resurrection he shall hear from the great judge of all the earth the blessed assurance, "Well done, good and faithful servant: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

A famous English orator once said: "The angel of death is gassing over the land. I seem even now to hear the beating of his wings." Yes, in every day in every year in some household, the tread of the death angel may be felt, and the rustling of his wings be heard. But, we take courage when we reflect that the angel of death is also the angel of life, for, if death divides he may also reunite. Our brother cannot return to us, but we can go to him. Death has divided us, and only death will unite us. The angel who sits within the shadow of the sepulchre is also the angel of the resurrection of our immortal souls and bodies.

Pleasant of address, genial in disposition, kind hearted by nature, our brother had many warm friends. These, we may well believe, will long cherish his memory with tenderness and affection. As a Mason, he was as faithful to his obligation as human fallibility will allow. The scythe—the emblem of time—has cut the brittle thread of life, and he is launched into eternity. We shall greatly miss his presence and counsel in our gatherings for the good of the order. He discreetly wore the three precious jewels—a listening ear, a silent tongue and a faithful heart. We may well feel that when his work shall be finally passed upon by the grand master of the supreme lodge above it will meet with his approval. May he rest in peace and felicity and in the hope of a joyful resurrection, and so enter the heavenly abodes and live in the beatific presence for evermore. To his family we extend our earnest sympathy and bid them patiently wait the time when they may be reunited to him and enter the heavenly home and so pass together their eternity.

Resolved, That a copy of this memorial be sent to the family and a copy be published in the daily papers of the city and Orphans' Friend.

Cyrene the Dancer.

Cyrene, the clever dancer, will perform here on the nights of September 17 and 18, next Monday and Tuesday. The News and Observer, in speaking of the performance last night, says: "A very pleasant entertainment was given at the Academy of Music last evening by the Cyrene company. Mrs. Dr. Payne, of Nashville, Tenn., made her first appearance with the company and sang very prettily, her high notes being particularly clear and finished. She was heartily applauded, and sang as an encore 'The Song That Reached My Heart.'" Mrs. Governor Carr and party of lady friends were present and seemed to enjoy the entertainment. Mrs. Payne will sing at every entertainment given by the company hereafter.

West Liberty, O. Dr. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your valuable medicine, the 'Favorite Prescription,' to suffering females. 'Three years ago my health became so poor that I was scarcely able to help with the household duties. I was persuaded to try your medicine, and I purchased six bottles. That, with the local treatment you advised, made me strong and well. My sister has used it in the family with like results.

Composition on a Boy.

The Stanley Combination.

A boy is man before he's grown up. But his pants only run down to his knees. A boy is a very useful article. His usefulness comes in when his big sister wants him to run an errand; but his principal usefulness is in wearing out clothes, especially pants. Some boys wear out one pair each session. Others wear out two every week. This cut illustrates a happy boy. Why is the boy happy? Because his mother has bought from us the Stanley Combination.

This outfit consists of a Double Breasted Coat, two (2) pairs of pants, and the latest style Stanley Cap of same material. (Extra buttons with every outfit.) The goods are of most excellent and stylish fabrics especially adapted for service, and we can sell you the whole outfit as cheap as you can buy the bare suit from other dealers. Buy our Stanley Combination for your boys, and make them happy.
