PAY FOR SO DOING: First-We may turn them by the charm of a right example. A child, coming from a filthy home, was taught at school to wash its face. It went home so much improved in appearance that its mother washed her face. And when the father of the household came home, and saw the improvement in domestic appearance, he washed his face. The neighbors happening in, saw the change, and tried the same experiment until all that street was purified, and the next street copied its example, and the whole city felt the result of one schoolboy washing his face. That is a fable, by which we set forth that the best way to get the world washed of its sins and pollution is to have our own heart and life cleansed and purified. A man with grace in his heart, and Christian cheerfulness in his face, and holy consistency in his behavior, is a perpetual sermon; and the sermon differs from others in that it has but one head, and the longer it runs the better. There are honest men who walk down Wall street, making the teeth of iniquity chatter. There are happy men who go into a sick room, and, by a look, help the broken bone to knit, and the excited nerves drop to calm beating. There are pure men whose presence silences the tongue of uncleanness. The mightnest agent of good on earth is a consistent Christian. I like the Bible folded between lids of cloth, of calf-kin, or morocco, but I like it better when, in the shape of a man, it goes out into the world—a Bible illustrated. Courage is beautiful to read about; but rather would I see a man with all the world against him confident as though all the world is beautiful to read about; but rather would I find a man in the midnight walking straight on as though he saw everything. Oh, how many souls have been turned to God by the Favetteville Journal: A most dasandly deed was committed in lower Favetteville two or three nights ago, Some one, whether from pure maliciousness or a thirst for revenge, it is not known, entered the premises of Betsy Griffin, a worthy old colored woman, and with a knife, cut severely in many places two of her cows. Not satisfied with this, he went then into the yard of Riley Parker, and then to that of Mr. Juo, York, and cut up a cow for each of them. There is a negro man under arrest for having committed the deed and if he is proven guilty, the full measure of the law should be visited upon him. Two of the consided from the effects of

I shall not dwell on and crops generally have been favor | crowd at the Atlantic has been immense, and the boom which Morehead has received as a summer resort seems to be yet growing. The road has worked up a splendid passenger traffic and every energy of the management is bent on bringing people to Morehead. The splendid passenger steamer, "Passport," with accommodations for three hundred passengers, is expected to arrive at Morehead to-day. This is a seaworthy steamer, and excursions from along the line of the road in cooperation with the "l'assport" will be run, giving the excursionists a trip out to sea. This will be a novelty to many. In addition to the fleet of fine sharpies at Morehead there is a beautiful little yacht with an engine run by naptha gas which is rapidly taking the place of steam for small vessels. This little steamer, if it can be so called, makes regular trips from the hotel to the surf, and

> > MR. RICHARD BATTLE, of the News 4 Observer, says this is a popular way of sailing, at Morehead: "Get your girl in a sharpie, which is made fast to the wharf, and then push the boat off as far as the line will permit, and sit close up to the little timid creature to precent her from getting frightened. This kind of sailing has many advantages-you are not so much crowded, the water not too rough and the breakers not so dangerous. The boys say the motion of the boat as it rocks to and fro with tide, and the closeness of the girl, is too delightful to be described."
