

The Tobacco Plant.

Savannah Again.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 9.—The Savannah Cotton Mill was burned this evening. The fire started a little after 3 o'clock. It is supposed that the fire originated from a heater spindle, and in an hour nothing but the walls of the building were left. The employees barely had time to escape through the windows. The engineer was in the engine room next to where the fire started and attempted to unroll the hose, but was driven out by the intense heat and flames which leaped from room to room and covered the entire building. Between 90 and 100 employees were in the building, but all of them escaped. The factory consisted of a narrow lane, through which the employees got into the streets. Firemen played on the building from all sides, but the flames spread with such rapidity that they were unable to get control or even to check them. The mill was built in 1870, at a cost, with the machinery, of $150,000. It had a capacity of 10,000 spindles, and was the only mill of the kind in Savannah. It was owned by John Flannery and was operated under a lease of L. M. Warfield. The total loss on the building, machinery and stock is $100,000; insurance, $49,000. During the progress of the fire in the mill a row of tenement houses on the opposite side of the street caught, and eight houses were burned. The loss on the tenements and to the occupants will approximate $3,000, upon which there is but a small insurance.

The Trial of Boulanger.

PARIS, April 9.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day discussed the bill prescribing the mode of procedure to be followed by the Senate when sitting as a court for the trial of Boulanger. Delafasse denounced the measure as a mockery of justice and an insult to the public conscience. He declared that the Senate, being a political body, could not act impartially in the case. The assertion caused a great uproar, members exchanged abusive epithets and the scene was one of wild disorder. The president of the Chamber repeatedly called the house to order and urged the members to observe moderation in discussion. When Delafasse was allowed to continue he said that law and decency required Boulanger to be tried at the assizes, otherwise the trial would be an outrage on justice and a disgrace to the Senate. These remarks caused a renewal of uproar. The members of the left made an attempt to reply to Delafasse but immediately moved to apply the closure rules. The motion was carried by a vote of 253 to 242. A motion was then made to begin discussion on the bill by clauses. This motion was also carried—321 to 222.

Cider an Intoxicating Liquor.

CHICAGO, April 9.—A dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, says: "An interesting case has just been decided at Mt. Pleasant. The defendants were tried on the ordinary liquor-selling indictments. The witnesses had, as shown by the evidence, bought cider in the defendants' restaurant. The question was whether or not cider is to be classed with intoxicating liquors. Judge Travers said that while cider is at first a non-intoxicant it becomes intoxicating in the course of time. Since the law prohibits the sale of all intoxicating liquors it prevents the sale of cider. Judge Travers also overthrew another ingenious evasion of the law. In a shanty near Mt. Pleasant a board partition had made a large room on one side and a small one on the other. A barrel was set in the partition and a customer could deposit his money and get his drink without seeing a man in the other room. This made it possible for the customer to swear that he did not see the liquor-seller and did not know who he was. The proprietor is now in jail serving a sentence of four months.

Big Fire in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9.—The Louisville Bridge & Iron Co's machine shops were completely destroyed by fire at midnight last night, causing a loss of $190,000. The shops were in a one-story corrugated iron building about 400 feet in length. The fire was discovered by the night watchman, but before the fire department could arrive the flames had gained such headway that the building was destroyed. A great deal of valuable machinery was ruined. The loss is fully covered by insurance, but a detailed statement cannot be given by the managers this morning. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.
