

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC
Two Bottles Cured Her. V.
I was suffering 10 years from rheumatism in my head, so much so that at times I didn't expect to recover. I took medicines from my doctors, but didn't get any relief until I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic; the second dose relieved me and 2 bottles cured me. S. W. PECK.

Vanished.
Rev. H. DONOUGH of Lowell, Mass., vouches for the following. There is a case of which I have knowledge, and I am very glad to avail myself of the opportunity to make known the good effect of the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic. The subject is a young lady who had been suffering from early childhood. On my recommendation she procured your remedy and for three months the fits of epilepsy to which she has been a long subject have ceased entirely.

ALLIANCE DEPARTMENT.

Several Substitutes For the Sub-Treasury Bill.

"A Reformer" Dissects These Substitutes, Offered in Response to the Request "Give us Something Better."

[National Economist.]

The Alliance has always said: "If you don't like the sub-treasury plan give us something better. We are not wedded to anything. What we want is relief, financial relief, and we do not care from what source it comes or what its principles, provided it is honest, constitutional, no class legislation, and promises to be permanent in its beneficial effects."

SENATOR BUTLER'S SUBSTITUTE.
The press reports that Senator Butler offers as a substitute State banks of issue. If he means such banks as those that existed before the war, having the same or similar powers and privileges, his plan is open to those objections:

1. The plan is not honest. No individual or corporation has the right to live and grow rich on the interest of the money he or it owes. I mean just what I say—on the interest of the money he or it owes? It is right that you collect interest on what is due you, but it is robbery to make your neighbor pay you interest on what you owe him? This is what the "State bank" of Senator Butler does. The bank issues for every dollar of coin it holds three (more or less) "promises to pay" dollars. If the issue is three dollars in paper promises for one dollar in gold, of course two of these bills rest only upon "thin and insubstantial air." But when the people borrow these two notes from the bank—these two notes which are the mere "promises to pay" of the bank—the people pay interest to the bank, to the extent of two-thirds of its issue, and the bank is enabled to grow rich upon the interest on that money which it owes to and has promised to pay the people. I leave out of view the interest the bank collects upon the money it owes to depositors. The old "free banking system" is no better.

2. There is grave doubt as to its constitutionality. The trend of decisions, and of enlightened public sentiment is certainly against it. The national government alone has the right to make money. The States have delegated the power to coin money to the general government. Can the State delegate to the citizens a power that is inhibited to it by the constitution?

3. It is class legislation of the worst character. It is legislation in favor of money capitalists. It compels the people in the first instance to lend the capitalist twice or three times the amount of his capital without interest, and then as a bonus pay him interest on two-thirds of it—a currency that ought to reach the hands of the people "without price."
4. No permanent relief will result to the people from such a course as Senator Butler suggests. It is a proposition to go back again into the mire from which we are just beginning to emerge. Apart from the curse of sin, the delegated power of one class to create money and exact interest for its use from all other classes has caused more misery and suffering to the human race than all other causes combined. It has created the rich to live in luxury and ease, but at the expense of the poor who must live in squalor and suffering.

One would think that no one with a knowledge of the past, however bitter the present waters or burning the present sands, would propose a return to the bondage of Egypt. Look back one hundred years over our own history and that of the mother country and see the lurid panic fires that burned up the substance of the people. At every decade they gleam in the sombre light of history—1837, 1847, 1857, 1867, 1877, 1887. The national banks, an improvement upon the old "free banking" system of Senator Butler, came in with the war in 1862 and postponed the crash until 1873. No one can deny that the banking system of our own and the mother country was the main cause of all these disastrous crises. No; the substitute will not do. The people have gotten too far along in their study of political economy to return to an old relic of financial barbarism. "We the people" will make and issue our own money to ourselves without interest.

THE N. Y. TRIBE'S SUBSTITUTE.
It is no experiment. It is simple in its workings. It is free to all. No class legislation is necessary to carry it into effect and beyond doubt it is constitutional.

The Tribune's plan is to "raise more corn," and it is conveyed to the people in these pleasant words:
"With better weather the mortgages vanish, and also the idea that there must be a new party in order to raise more corn."

In other words, bad weather creates the mortgages, and your relief lies not in the organization of any political party, but raising "more corn."
Yes, men of Kansas and Nebraska! You who burnt your corn because it was cheaper than fuel, are told by the Tribune that bad weather made your mortgages, that better weather will cause them to vanish; that you need not seek through the ballot, through a new party to rig our wrongs; that you do not need a government warehouse in which to store your corn until you can reap the profit, which goes to the speculator and the gambler, but that the way out of your trouble lies in raising "more corn"—yes, "more corn" for fuel.

THE N. Y. WORLD'S SUBSTITUTE.

This is also constitutional. It does not necessitate "a swarm of officers" to carry it into effect. It is free from the charge of "paternalism." The World, like Job's war horse with the battle, only "smells the battle afar off." True, it is open to the charge of "class legislation," because it will flourish best upon a certain iso-thermal line. Here it is. The World says:

"From Florida to Texas, let the Farmers' Alliance recognize the pawn-broking idea of sub-treasury and find fortunes in the culture of that fragrant bulb—the onion."
Yes, farmers, you who helped with money to build the high dome of the Pulitzer building are told by the "World," that has its home there, to give your efforts to secure the sub-treasury plan and "find fortunes" in raising onions.

It would seem it is time for the farmer and the laborer to take back those words "or something better," and demand the sub-treasury plan without amendment, pure and simple. A REFORMER.

Lenoir County Alliance, North Carolina, requests the publication of the following resolutions unanimously adopted: Whereas the political press have made numerous assaults and misrepresentations against our honored national president, L. L. Polk:

Resolved, That we, the County Alliance of Lenoir county, in convention assembled, do still hold our president in high esteem, and that our faith in him as a Christian gentleman and noble officer is unshaken.

Resolved, That the slanders made public against him, in every instance, have to our satisfaction been disproved, and that we will stand by him with undiminished zeal.

The Department of Agriculture, of Victoria, Australia, sent circulars to the head teachers of all the graded schools outside of the metropolitan area a short time ago asking for their views as to the desirability of giving instruction in agriculture to the children attending those schools. Of 1,248 teachers, 84 per cent. are favorable to the introduction of agricultural lessons in the rural schools, and 94 per cent. of them already have some acquaintance with the theories of agriculture. In fifty-two cases school children already care for gardens or trees in the school reserves, and the majority of the scholars attending 369 other schools have garden plots or assist their parents at home in gardening. In 161 schools the pupils have regularly made collections of wild flowers, weeds, grasses, insects and butterflies, and these collections have been used in object lessons.

The State meeting of the Michigan Alliance was held last week under the most favorable circumstances. It passed resolutions squarely endorsing the Ocala demands in full. The following officers were selected:

- President—A. E. Cole.
- Vice-President—D. B. Deming.
- Secretary—Anna E. Potter.
- Treasurer—A. D. Carlton.
- Lecturer—L. E. Lockwood.
- Chaplain—Mrs. E. M. Moore.
- Steward—R. B. Trebs.
- Doorkeeper—A. McCalvey.
- Ass't Doorkeeper—J. W. Placeway.
- Sergeant-at-Arms—E. P. Fleming.
- Member of the executive committee, for five years—J. W. Ewing.

Delegates to the national convention to be held in Indianapolis—E. H. Belden, L. E. Lockwood, W. C. Porter.

The circulation and its effects upon the times is shown by the following table:

1811—$ 28,000,000—Hard times.
1816— 110,000,000—Good times.
1818— 40,000,000—Panic.
1832— 60,000,000—Fair times.
1837— 150,000,000—Booming times.
1843— 58,000,000—Panic.
1847— 105,000,000—Good times.
1857— 215,000,000—Booming times.
1858— 150,000,000—Panic.
1865—1,651,282,375, 530 failures—Booming times.
1873—$738,219,000, 5,183 failures—Panic.
1877—$696,443,000, 8,872 failures—Prostration.

The quarterly meeting of the Aiken county, S. C., Farmers' Alliance took place at the court house in Aiken.

It was decided to reduce the acreage planted in cotton next year and to plant more grain, corn, peas and grasses and also to raise more meat. They will await the action of the Cotton Growers' Convention which meets in Atlanta soon to determine the acreage of cotton to the plough. The farmers were advised to hold back all the cotton they could to bring better prices.

The Alliance in North and South Dakota are doing well. They learned the doctrines of the Alliance early, and have to a greater or lesser extent put them into practical use.

The report of the proceedings of the N. C. State Alliance shows a business transaction through the State business agency of $494,000.

The Scotland Neck, N. C., Farmers' Alliance are taking steps to reduce the acreage of the cotton crop next year.

The Order in Mississippi is prospering and increasing in numbers.

Farming Does Pay Sometimes.

"Well, I suppose you have heard a great many big stories of our wonderful 'crop,' remarked Hon. Thomas Simpson, of Winons, the other day, 'but I have just heard one which I know is true and which well indicates the greatness of this year's crop in the grains besides wheat.' Mr. Simpson then related to the reporter the history of two Winona boys in South Dakota last summer, withholding the names of the young men. This spring they rented 3200 acres in South Dakota at fifty cents an acre and put in a crop of flax. From this farm they obtained 50,000 bushels of flax, an average of a little over fifteen bushels to the acre. Selling this at ninety-five cents per bushel the young farmers realized $47,500. Their estimated expense was $6 per acre, or $16,000, and this, deducted from the gross receipts, leaves a profit of $31,500 for one summer's work for two young men. The grain is now in the elevators.—St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer-Press.

There are rabbits in Tasmania which have developed toe-nails by climbing trees. The climbing also keeps the nails worn down, so they do not have to be cut. Here is a solution for the troublesome toe-nail problem which some human beings may desire to imitate.—Buffalo Express.

Short-Lived Athletes.

Did it ever occur to you, said a Boston trainer, that athletes are rarely long-lived? By athletes I mean the folks who are training themselves continually for special feats of muscular power, and I leave out the dilettante amateur who exercises slightly, comparatively speaking, and then with only the object of physical development. It is my opinion that, as a rule, the professional athlete is not a very good risk for the life insurance people. And this aside from any risks of physical injury of a sudden nature to which the athlete in the course of his performances may be subject. I think it would seriously stump you if I asked you to name a dozen cases of extreme longevity among men who have been famous for their muscular power and skill. But anybody can name a dozen people who have led sedentary lives from boyhood and attained extreme old age. Very strange as it may appear, consumption is a disease to which the swimmer, the oarsman, the runner and the fighter have all on numerous occasions fallen victims. Rheumatism is another common disorder. All of which sometimes makes me think that nature never intended the development of the human physical energies to the point at which they are often observed. The athlete who lives the longest is the man who used to be an athlete and gave up his athletic fancies and plans before he had reached middle life. Otherwise you find that the average years on earth of athletes is surprisingly low.

The Longest River Tunnel.

The St. Clair tunnel is the longest river tunnel in the world. It is 6050 feet long. From the American cutting to the river edge is 1800 feet, and from the Canadian cutting to the river edge is 1950 feet, and the distance across the river is 2300 feet. The tunnel walls are of cast-iron segments, thirteen of which and a key form a circle. The segment dimensions are: Length, four feet ten inches; width, eighteen inches; thickness, two inches, with flanges inside six inches deep and 1 1/2 inches in thickness. Their total weight is 28,000 tons. The segments are bored and secured in place with bolts seven-eighths of an inch in diameter and weighing in all 2,000,000 pounds. The outside diameter of the tunnel is twenty-one feet and twenty feet inside. The soil excavated amounts to 2,195,499 cubic feet. Employment has been steadily furnished to 700 men since first the work of construction began and costs complete about $3,000,000. It is a year ago since the engineers, who had been working toward each other from opposite sides of the river fitted their hydraulic shields together and shook hands fatigued below the surface. The approaches and railway tracks have been completed since that day. The Grand Trunk people believe that when the tunnel is in actual use it will offer facilities for through communication between Chicago and all points east which will be greatly appreciated by passengers and by freight shippers. It shortens the distance to the seaboard about six miles and saves two hours in time.—Chicago Herald.

An Annual Presentation of Fruit.

The presentation of fruit to the Lord Mayor of London by the Fruiterers' Company in olden times simply took the form of twelve baskets of apples. The fruit was carried to the Mansion House by porters from Farringdon Market, headed by the company's headle with his gown and staff. The lady Mayoress used to place a bottle of wine in each of the empty baskets for the use of the carriers, who were then, says the Book of Ceremonies, "regaled with a dinner, and, having satisfied themselves, retired, taking with them the fragments for their evening supper." Of late years the apples have given place to pincapples, nectarines, peaches and all the choice fruits in season. The present headle of the Fruiterers' Company has attended on no fewer than fifty-four of these annual ceremonies.—New York Post.
