

Ho! for Independents. We hoist at our mast head this issue the name of Dr. Jno. D. Pearson, of Fremont, in this county, as the most available independent candidate for the Legislature. Mr. Pearson was the independent candidate in this county two years ago, and came very near being elected, and now, with the united effort of his independent friends and the Republicans, he can be elected in this county by a majority of 200 votes. Who is the next man?

It is hoped that the Republicans in Wayne county this election will put forth a solid phalanx to the enemy, and send two independents to the Legislature.

The county is about equally divided between the two political parties, and any independent that can carry one hundred independent Democratic votes with the solid Republican support, can carry the county. We would suggest to the Republicans to support the independent move to a man, for the Legislature, is the most important feature connected with the coming election. The Legislature that is elected this fall will re-district the State, elect a United States Senator, and will have power to change the County Government system that we are now cursed with. Let us hear from the leading Republicans on this subject, in order that we may have some concert of action for the good of all concerned.

Beware of independents. Let every Democrat come to the front to-day in solid ranks. It is the bounden duty of every Democrat to give the candidates nominated a hearty support, regardless of prejudices. The election to-day will exert a powerful influence in the county campaign this fall. The success of an independent to-day means trouble and hard work in November; while a Democratic victory to-day means success assured hereafter. Vote for the regular nominees. Goldsboro Messenger.

The political lash of the Messenger is enough to make David Evans blush to read what it says about independents and regular nominees. But notwithstanding the lash was popped loud and the whiskey tax in town reduced from $100 to $50 two days before the election, and one within a stone's throw of the Messenger Building, ha, ha, whew! how the independents swim.

The Commissioners that were elected met on Thursday night after the election and elected Mr. Jno. W. Bryan Mayor, Michael Wood, Esq., Tax Collector, and re-elected all of the old police force with the addition of Mr. William Sugg. Messrs. Levy Combs, Sylvester Pate & Co., are as yet permitted to hold the town mill, which is an indication that watermelon will suffer this summer.

Mr. J. W. Winslow is entitled to the Mahona badge in Wayne county, and is the most available man the independents can take up for the Legislature.

We suppose that the Commissioners prefer the streets to remain dark for a short time, inasmuch as they have not been lighted up since the independent panic. There seems to be something wrong about the street lamps, and the turning off of our old friend, D. P. L. White, and it is said because he would not vote with some of the Democratic candidates to take off the whiskey tax that were candidates. More about this.

In our last issue we forgot to make mention of meeting Mr. M. F. Thornton of Warren, at the sitting of the Republican Executive Committee. Mr. Thornton is one of the three colored Registers of Deeds in the State. He is a young man of fine accomplishments, and keeps his books in fine class order, and has been time and again complimented by the commissioners of his county, for the faithful and neat manner in which he performs his official duties.

We trust that the good people of Warren, will again elect Mr. Thornton Register of Deeds.

We clip the following from our neighbor, The Messenger:

A petition is being circulated and extensively signed by many of our leading citizens and tax payers, urging the city authorities to make immediate and better provisions for the protection of property against the fire fiend. The petitioners urge that the city be provided with an ample supply of water by means of a steam engine. By all means let our city fathers consider the matter in all the seriousness it deserves. There is no time to be wasted. Delay may be dangerous and involve the loss of other valuable property. No one can doubt that with the aid of a fire engine capable of throwing a heavy stream of water, the Bonita Hotel might have been saved. The chemical engine is very good in its place, but a steamer is the need of the hour. Let the city look to time in purchasing one. We hear that the several insurance companies, doing business here and holding heavy risks on property will, in all probability demand that the city be provided with more efficient protection against fire.

There are instances where reliable companies have withdrawn their business from communities that had refused to show disposition to protect property. We advised this a year ago, but our city fathers thought they had $23,000 of the people's money that they could experiment on. We are glad to know however that they are now fully convinced that a soda fountain is not a steam engine and never will be. But the money is gone where the woodbine twined not, but the fountain is here.

THE LODGE says The Editor of the Star has left out one very important name in the list of candidates for Congress, and that is himself, Col. Geo. T. Wassom, of Wayne. Thanks Rev. A. B. ... We have received the following complimentary letter from the Rev. W. J. Moore, dated May 2nd, 1882.

Col. Geo. T. Wassom, Goldsboro, Dr. Sir: This will officially notify you that you are respectfully requested to prepare and deliver the annual address at the tenth annual session of the State Grand Lodge, No. 10, of the I. O. of G. S. and D. of S. to be held in Charlotte, N. C. June 20th 1882. W. J. Moore, Grand Master.

Hon. Jesse Harper, chairman of the National Greenback party, accompanied by Col. Jno. R. Winston of our state, spoke here a few days ago in behalf of their party. Col. Harper is in our opinion, a sharp with a thousand strings for he harped on the doing of both the other political parties, proved them in his way to be political cut throats and scoundrels. And finally pronounced the motto on the river of honor. In our opinion, to be a national wide.

Ohio Falls Express. The colored voters in the 4th Ward succeeded in electing John Strader (Dem) over Dr. R. C. Knoefel, (Rep). A promise to sell furniture at reduced rates and on time, caused the colored voters to deviate from the principles of the Republican doctrine, and vote for a Democrat.

The colored people do enough like things in North Carolina, but this badge, but any political trade we have ever read of before. We call the special attention of the colored citizens to the above paragraph, and hope they will profit by the errors of their brethren in the Ohio valley.

We received a visit the other day from Mr. A. B. Vinson and Mr. Napoleon Hagan, of the Nabunna section of this county. Mr. Hagan is one of the largest land owners of color in the State. Mr. Vinson teaches the young idea how to shoot. Both are leading colored men, and are with that class of colored men who think and know they have rights that other people are bound to respect.

MEMORIAL The day was celebrated in a proper manner by the citizens of our city. The Goldsboro cornet band headed the procession of the military company from the armory to the court house. Where the students of the graded School, and citizens of the city joined.

While the procession stopped at the court house Judge Gilmer delivered a very nice and appropriate speech, after which the procession proceeded to the cemetery.

Dr. M. E. and J. E. Robinson were the marshals of the occasion, and Mr. C. B. Aycock our talented young townsman was the orator of the day.

The Band discoursed sweet music, after which the graves received a shower of floral tributes from the hands of Goldsboro's "fair" ones, and the military company. Mr. Aycock delivered a very elegant address after which the usual shots were fired by the military company, over the graves of the Confederate dead.

TROUBLE IN THE GUITEAU FAMILY.

NEW YORK, May 8. -The little family trouble which prevented Mrs. Scoville from lecturing at the Criterion theatre on Monday night was a writ of habeas corpus served upon John W. Guiteau by Mr. Scoville ordering him to produce Mrs. Scoville in court, and charging that Guiteau was illegally restraining her in New York. Mr. Scoville alleges that the wish to save the assassin has taken complete possession of his wife, and she is deranged on the subject. He claims that her brother John is trying to keep her away from him (Scoville.) John Guiteau says he is tired and sick of the whole business. He did not ask Mrs. Scoville to come to New York, but she was determined to do so at any cost. He declares that Scoville himself is insane, and he is sorry for his sister if she has to go back to live with him.

Judge Donohue heard argument to-day in the Supreme Court on the return of the writ of habeas corpus obtained yesterday by Mr. Scoville, commanding John W. Guiteau to produce Frances M. Scoville in court this morning. The court room was crowded when Judge Donohue took his seat. Mr. Scoville was present with his counsel, John D. Townsend, and near by were John W. Guiteau and his lawyer, James Armstrong. Mr. Armstrong then read the return of John W. Guiteau to the writ. The return denies that Mrs. Scoville is in custody of or restrained by John W. Guiteau of her liberty, and says that he does not know of her whereabouts, and therefore cannot produce her in court.

Mr. Townsend then made an application to have the return traversed, and read the affidavit of Mr. Scoville, in which the latter declared himself of the belief that his wife is in John W. Guiteau's custody. After this affidavit was read, Judge Donohue asked counsel what they desired to do, and the reply was that they would examine George Scoville and John W. Guiteau. The Honor remarked that a referee could do that, or that they could do it themselves. But the counsel preferred the latter course. They then moved to another room in the court house, when Geo. Scoville was called, and testified to the wearing effect of the trial on his wife; to her strange sayings; her talk of her brother's case; and to her saying to witness that she thought he had ceased to care for her. Her leaving home and coming to this city, and certain other facts given in the traverse to the return, were also elicited in the testimony. At 11 o'clock on the night of the lecture witness said he saw John W. Guiteau in the Astor House, and the latter said he heard that witness a lunatic asylum, and that he (Guiteau) would resist all further attempts to prove insanity in the Guiteau family. Mr. Scoville deposited to the demands he had made upon his brother-in-law for the production of his wife. He had also heard that she was at the Astor House, but was told by the proprietor and the clerk of that place that she was not and he could not find her. His counsel then offered in evidence a number of letters and telegrams sent by J. W. Guiteau to Scoville, and by the latter to the former. A report of the testimony taken will be made to the court to-morrow. was going to put Mrs. Scoville in

OAK OIL FOR WORMS, prepared by Dr. P. H. Hicks, Tolson, N. C.

THE USUAL RESULT. It is not to be denied that a good sewing machine is one of the most important appliances of the modern household.

We thought we had a good machine in our household until one day the agent of the New Home presented himself at our door and proceeded to deliver an oration upon its characteristic merits. "But," we answered, "our machine serves us nicely and suits us well, and we do not care for another." The agent, however, was persistent, and finally begged the privilege of leaving one of his machines with us, "for the ladies to try."

The request was not unreasonable, and we granted it, but more to oblige the agent than anything else; for we really did not want the machine, and had not the remotest idea of buying it. The machine once in the house, it was natural that the ladies should look it over. They did so, and as a consequence fell in love with it. They say that without the slightest wish to deny or disparage any other machine, this, all things considered, is, in their opinion, the most desirable one to be had.

The upshot of the whole matter was that the old machine was disposed of, and the "Light Running New Home" installed into our household—a very fair and satisfactory arrangement being made with the agent.

It is pronounced a genuine beauty and a real comfort, and our folks wanted us to tell other folks about it. This unrivalled machine is manufactured by JOHNSON, CLARK & CO., 80 Union Square, New York, who wish us to say that all who will send for their new illustrated catalogue and enclose their advertisement (printed on another page), will receive a set of fancy advertising novelties, of value to those collecting cards, etc.
