TESTING NEAR-BEER TAX.

Why Not Prohibitory License for Questionable Concoctions?

In Charlotte the board of aldermen has fixed $1,000 a year as the license tax for selling near-beer and such drinks containing a percentage of alcohol less than is prohibited by the State-wide prohibition act of the General Assembly now in force in North Carolina. Charlotte's big tax was even prohibitory of the sale of the "near" class of drinks and no dealer up to now has applied for license. It is to be inferred, however, that a test is to be made to overthrow Charlotte's $1,000 license, probably on the ground that it is unreasonable, exorbitant and unconstitutional. We draw this inference from the following, which appeared in yesterday's Charlotte Observer:

"Mr. J. Dannenberg, the near-beer dealer, opened his stand yesterday on West Trade street, No. 215, without taking out the $1,000 license tax prescribed by the board of aldermen and he had a busy day. It is understood that an officer of the law abode by the place a good part of the day and took down the names of those who made purchases of the liquid stuff and summoned them to court. It is, therefore, presumable that Mr. Dannenberg will be arrested today and given the opportunity of contesting the validity of such a license tax."

Speaking of near-beer license taxes, Salisbury has fixed the license price at $300 a year and five dealers have taken out license. Asheville fixed the license tax at $500 a year and a number of dealers have taken out license. The Asheville Citizen thus playfully remarks upon the situation:

"Today marks a new era in the history of the near-beer depots. To quote the classic words of the new ordinance over which oratory, religious and otherwise, was heard for several hours the other night, it is rather a new era for 'Cubanade,' '23,' 'near-beer,' 'Not It, But Near It,' and all such concoctions which are possible under the prohibition regime in force here in the State."

"The 'near-beer,' the '23,' the 'not it,' etc., will now be sold so that the passer-by on the street without the necessary wherewithal to enjoy the contents of a cold bottle of the aforementioned concoctions can watch with longing eyes and terrible thirst the 'suds' with no screen between him and the world. The vision is to be unimpaired, and the longing, therefore, according to the forty-seventh rule of Euclid—or somebody else—will be increased in geometrical ratio—with unattainability of the schooner."

"There is another advantage, they say, in this removal of screens and one which was overlooked in the long list of those presented Friday night. The man inside can watch what is going on outside and count the number of men who would like to be inside looking outside rather than outside looking inside."

"Many of the dealers went on Saturday morning and paid the privilege tax and the receipts were soon tacked to the wall. No one of them seemed dissatisfied with the ordinance or expressed himself as intending to fight it in the courts."

At the Beach.

Wilmington, N. C., July 7.—The past week has been replete with gaieties of many varieties, and the large number of guests who have recently arrived, add much charm to the social life at the beach. There have been fishing parties, sailing parties, dances, boat races, and other athletic events. Dutch suppers, bowling parties, and a large number of informal card parties, etc.

Many South Carolinians and Georgians are now at the beach, as well as a number of visitors from Raleigh, who arrived during the past week. Among the guests from Raleigh may be mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Wade Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Buell, Mrs. M. K. White, Mrs. G. K. Roberts, and Mr. H. B. Cartwright.

Mr. H. Skinner, of Greenville, is registered at the Seashore Hotel, where he is receiving a warm welcome. Mr. J. A. Giles, of Durham, is a prominent visitor at Wrightsville Beach.

Identifies His Wife's Dead Body and Then Kills Himself.

Louisville, Ky., July 7.—Responding to a notice that the body of his wife, who, it is believed, committed suicide two or three days ago, had been taken from the Ohio river, Walter V. Hosaker, member of a prominent retail firm here, identified the body at an undertaking establishment today and then shot himself, dying instantly.

Woman's Suffrage Day at Exposition.

Seattle, Wash., July 7.—Woman's Suffrage day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition was celebrated by the delegates to the American Woman Suffrage convention today.

IN MEMORIAM.

After many long weeks of suffering, most patiently borne, "He who doeth all things well" took back to Him the sweet, gentle spirit of Minnie Hollowell Prince. While it was known by her loved ones that she could not recover from her disease, yet when it was known that her life was no more on earth there was deep sadness. During her sickness she begged her devoted husband to be of good cheer, for she felt that she would get well and be able to minister to her loved ones many long years. Her faith in her Heavenly Father was beautiful to behold, indeed, it was that simple child faith with which she looked to Him for help and comfort, and His sustaining grace was indeed her help and strength.

Minnie Deems Hollowell was born March 1, 1873, at the old McKinnis home about five miles from Goldsboro. Her school days were spent at "Woodland"—not far from her home, and at school as in after years Minnie was that same quiet, faithful spirit always doing little deeds of kindness to others.

It was during her school days that her attraction was drawn to another and the friendship formed ripened into an abiding and deep love, who was her devoted companion after school days were over. On July 24, 1895, she was happily married to David M. Prince. There was a sweet home, and it was a joy and pleasure to spend hours around their fireside. After almost fourteen years of joy and happiness, sorrow and sadness entered that bright home, for in the early morning on June 23, 1909, the death angel entered and took the spirit of Minnie. She left to the care of her heart-broken husband three little girls and two boys, and father, brother and sisters.

The funeral services were held at her home in Scotland Neck, by Rev. Mr. Vincent on Tuesday morning, before bringing her to Goldsboro to rest by the side of her mother, who had preceded her years before. The pallbearers at Scotland Neck were, Capt. G. S. Whit, Messrs. A. L. Purrington, J. E. Bowers, Paul Ray, Sam Hoffman and J. A. Kitchin.

The pallbearers at Goldsboro were, Messrs. W. D. Creech, Robt. Edwards, Sam Bridgers, Ed. Davis, Graves Smith and A. U. Kornegay, the Scotland Neck pallbearers acting as honorary at Goldsboro.

The Masonic Lodge of Goldsboro was represented by Messrs. J. E. Peterson, J. F. Hill, P. R. King, C. G. Smith, A. R. Morgan and George Brinkley.

The funeral services at the grave were conducted by Revs. Hughes and Buskie. In beautiful Willow Dale Minnie's body rests till the coming of the resurrection morn.

"Sleep, sweet sleep, from which none ever wake to weep." A. U. K.

Revolution in Colombia Against President Reyes.

Colon, July 7.—A revolution has broken out in the republic of Colombia, apparently against the government of President Reyes, who is now in London.

This news was brought into Colon by the British steamer Median, just arrived from Savannah. Barranquilla and its seaport, Savannah, seventeen miles away, are in the hands of the revolutionists.

Date of Sunday School Convention Changed.

The date of the Sunday School convention of Brogden township has been postponed from July 15 to Thursday morning, July 29, at ten o'clock.

DERAILED IN THE FLOOD.

Passenger Train on Santa Fe Railroad Leaves the Tracks

Kansas City, Mo., July 7.—Swollen by unprecedented rains, Missouri valley rivers today left their banks and caused damaging floods in many parts of Missouri and Kansas. The most spectacular accident due to the flood was the derailling in a flooded plain of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train, bound from Kansas City to Denver. Although the overturned day coaches were empty, a telephone message tonight reports that Laura St. Clair, of Boston, suffered a wrenched back, and Annie St. Clair, a sister, sustained bruises and cuts.

Pomona is almost inundated, the Marias Des Cygnes river at that point being three miles wide.

In Kansas City the situation is threatening, if not yet serious. In the bottoms in the western section, where are situated the stock yards, wholesale warehouses and manufacturing plants, the waters from the confluence of the Missouri and Kansas rivers tonight are lapping the danger line.

At Chillicothe, Mo., on the Grand river, six men were swept from a bridge today. Whether they reached land safely was not learned. Hundreds of people at Chillicothe were forced to leave their homes.

At Pattonsburg, Mo., a thousand persons were imprisoned on roofs or in second stories for hours. Life boats and supplies were rushed there from nearby towns, but it was difficult to cross the two miles of swirling water between the marooned residents and dry land. A man was carried away by the current in the main street and drowned.

Do you ever wonder how much care was taken in compounding the prescription you are taking home? Were the right ingredients used, and the right quantity? They are not unusual questions to ask, but you can rely upon it—they are safely answered in every medicine sent from The Imperial.

Thank Billikin for your luck, if you trade at The Imperial, the money's worth drug store, and please tell your friends about it.

Focus your mind upon this fact. It may sometime be useful to you. The Imperial Pharmacy uses none but the best and purest drugs, and they are compounded by a man who feels a genuine interest in your welfare.

A bill is being prepared to make arrangements more difficult. Still it is doubtful whether such a bill would quite prohibit it.

SNOW HILL ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Board of Education Meets—Deaths of Mrs. Syllivant and Mr. Aquilla Sugg.

Three years ago the Ward law became effective, requiring the employment of not less than two policemen in every town where the sale of whiskey was allowed. The charter of Snow Hill allowed the board of town commissioners to impose a tax of $25 per annum for its sale. So the presence of the four barrooms in Snow Hill at that time required the expenditure of $300 more per annum by the board, of which they under the law would pay $100 only. As matters stood the tax-payers of Snow Hill would have been required to pay $200 for the employment of an additional policeman, in order to give these men the right to sell whiskey. There was a feeling on all sides that this was unfair and an arrangement was entered into by which the saloon keepers paid this additional policeman. Suits have just been instituted against the town by Messrs. McD. Pate, J. B. Ham and A. F. Moye, to recover the amount paid by each, which was $75 per annum.

The newly appointed board of education, Messrs. L. V. Morrill, W. A. Darden and John Harvey, met Monday and were sworn in by Clerk of the Superior Court John R. Dall. They organized by electing Mr. L. V. Morrill chairman and J. E. Debnam superintendent of schools. The annual report of the superintendent of schools and treasurer were read and ordered placed on file.

A new house was ordered for district No. 4, white, Speight's Bridge township.

It was ordered that an additional teacher be allowed, white, Speight's Bridge township, the citizens of Walsenburg agreeing to furnish a house. The committeemen throughout the county were appointed to the next ensuing two years.

Mr. Aquilla Sugg, of Hookerton township, died Sunday afternoon in the seventy-fourth year of his age, after an illness of some time.

He is survived by one son, Mr. Jake Sugg, and four daughters, Mrs. Abner Rouse, Mrs. Otis Gray, and Misses Hettie and Sack Sugg, and a large number of grandchildren and other relatives.

He was buried Monday afternoon at the Gray homestead near Institute, in Lenoir county, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Mr. Sugg served in the Civil War as a Confederate soldier. He was a quiet and industrious citizen. For years he was a member of the Free-Will Baptist Church at Arba.

Mrs. Ida Syllivant, relict of the late John Syllivant, after an illness of several days, died at her home in Hookerton Monday, and was buried in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends Tuesday afternoon. She was a sister of our townsman, Mr. J. A. Edwards, Jr., and a daughter of Mr. J. A. Edwards, Sr., of Hookerton.

The New York jeweler who bought a gold brick is without a peer for gullibility. One could now imagine John D. Rockefeller buying Confederate greenbacks at par.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Carefully Gleaned and Bolled Down For Busy Readers.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 7.—The Winston aldermen, in special session tonight, passed an ordinance which may stop J. Dannenberg from selling "near-beer" without license. His purpose is to test the special tax of $500 imposed by the aldermen upon these who sell the new "prohibition drink."

Washington, D. C., July 7.—With a general understanding that the final vote in the Senate on the tariff bill should be taken by four o'clock tomorrow afternoon the Senate adjourned at seven o'clock this evening in pleasant anticipation of the early conclusion of the labors of the special session of Congress.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Word has been sent to absent members of the House to return to Washington at once and be prepared to vote on committing the tariff bill when it arrives from the Senate end of the Capitol. Members have taken advantage of the consideration of the bill in the Senate to go back home and look after their fences.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Contrary to expectations the amendment increasing revenue duty on tobacco from six to eight cents a pound was not reached in the consideration of the tariff bill in the Senate today. It will come up tomorrow. Senator Simmons thinks he has obtained the support of several Republicans in opposition to this proposition, but the fact that Senator Aldrich and the Republican members of the finance committee are giving the measure their support makes it very doubtful whether enough votes can be mustered to kill it.

Charlotte, N. C., July 7.—Warrants have been issued for Mr. J. Dannenberg, reported to be the representative of brewing concerns, who are attempting to sell near-beer in this city without paying the one thousand dollar license imposed by the board of aldermen. Mr. Dannenberg complained to an officer who was placed near his near-beer saloon yesterday that the officer's presence hurt his business. He is said to have left town to return in a few days. The affair promises to supply a good deal of agitation, it being claimed that Dannenberg is representing brewers and not himself.

Asheville, N. C., July 7.—The Capital City Horse Company, of Raleigh, clipped four-fifths of a second off the record of 28 seconds held by the Rescue Horse Company, of Raleigh, this afternoon, and won first prize in a contest with other strong teams from towns and cities in the State.

Franklin township of Franklin county is taking hold of the proposition of good road building with a vim. That township proposes to have as good roads as there are in North Carolina. There was sold on Tuesday $10,000 of five per cent. road bonds to a Chicago party at 1.01 1-2 and the money will be used to build roads in the township. In addition to this bond issue, Franklin township has voted an annual tax of $5,000 for good road construction.

State Library AND MULES GO MAD.

Davidson County Is in the Throes of a Mad Dog Scare.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 7.—A mad dog scare has broken out in Davidson county. This morning a mule belonging to Columbus Beckel, of Entertize, went mad. The animal was bitten and killed. A dog owned by Allen Tesh showed symptoms of hydrophobia yesterday, and it was tied. During the night it gnawed the rope in two and is now at large. Dogs in the neighborhood are being slaughtered without regard to pedigree.

Mt. Airy is promised free mail delivery within the next few months. Postmaster Robert Joyce went to Washington Monday and clinched the service for the Granite City. He was here this morning returning from a visit to the Postmaster-General. He was in a happy mood over his good luck. The date for putting the service in operation has not been fixed, but Postmaster Joyce thinks it will come in September or not later than October.

AS TO COTTON.

The first bale of cotton has been received and sold in New York. It was grown in Hidalgo county, Texas. The last days of June are almost invariably marked by the appearance of the first bale of the new crop, and the new bale of this year is but a few days later in the season than its predecessors.

The arrival of the first bale of new cotton comes simultaneously with numerous reports from the growing crop. The New York Journal of Commerce says there has been a decline in condition in every state of the cotton belt, ranging from 2 points in Georgia to 12 points in Alabama. The average decline in a month has been a trifle over 5 points. These reports cover a period extending to June 23. The loss is attributed to excessive precipitation, but this cause ceased to be operative about June 23, and an expectation of better prospects seems to be justified. Georgia and Texas are exceptionally promising cotton states this year.

Miss Giles reports a slightly higher condition than does the Journal of Commerce. She puts the condition of the crop at 78.4, as against an estimate of 76.8 by the Journal of Commerce. Miss Giles, however, expresses the opinion that "hot, forcing weather would do much to bring up arrears."

These opinions are subject to change in this and the coming month. Between grass and the boll weevil the crop has troubles, but those troubles are not sufficiently pronounced to authorize any one to predict a failure in the final outcome. The weather of July and August will to a great extent determine the size of the crop. The government report puts the average condition of the crop at 74.6, which is exceedingly bullish. The crop in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana is reported very poor. But good weather may bring out a crop that is not far below the average.

A BILL OF COSTS.

Courtships that go on to happy marriages are never brought into court, but a California court has recently tried and determined the expenses of a courtship that resulted in a breach of promise on the part of the young man in the case. It appears that he was impecunious, and all expenses of courtship had been borne by the girl in the case and she kept a memorandum of all her expenditures. The impecunious fellow jilted the girl, and after the aggrieved woman had married a man better provided with funds she tabulated the expenses of the first courtship. They amounted to a little less than $100. She brought suit to recover the amount in question, and judgment was very properly rendered in her favor, and if the young man ever gets the sum of the judgment he will have to pay for the theatre tickets and the like which he had during his days of courtship.

This, however, opens up the converse of the rule. Suppose a girl be fickle—that she breaks off a match after considerable money had been expended in courting her—is she, too, to be sued? It would be a mean man that would sue under such circumstances, but what is good—in California—for the goose must be good for the gander. The California decision opens up a vein of academic possibilities at any rate.

To Pay Fine and Die.

El Paso, Tex., July 7.—News was received here yesterday that the Supreme Court of San Luis Potosi, Mex., has confirmed the death sentence of Dario Gonzales, millionaire, who was convicted of the murder of his brother-in-law, Manuel Iturre, the wealthy son of an American. In addition to confirming the death penalty, the court has issued a decree requiring Gonzales to pay to the widow of the man he murdered the sum of $200,000.

KILLED CHARGING LION.

Ex-President Has Also Slain a Lioness and Four Rhinoceroses.

Naivasha, British East Africa, July 7.—The Roosevelt expedition is enjoying good hunting, and all the members of the party are well. This information was brought into Naivasha today by courier from the Sotik district.

Mr. Roosevelt has killed a splendidly maned lion, one lioness, and four rhinoceroses. He brought down the lion while the beast was in full charge, the bullet penetrating the middle of the chest. Kermit Roosevelt has secured one big bull eland, one lioness and two rhinoceroses. In addition both hunters have been successful in bringing down a large variety of other game.

The party is coming in to the farm of Capt. Richard Atterborough, on the south shore of Naivasha Lake, where Mr. Roosevelt and his son will make use of a launch in hippopotamus hunting.
