

NO MORE

In life, no more the leaves fell fast
And all the heaven was overcast;
We looked into each other's eyes—
We kissed one kiss between our sighs—
It was the first kiss and the last.

In vain we wait with sighs and tears—
No more across the silence vast
Come protests faint, come faint replies—
In life, no more!

No more in dalliance or in haste,
In April airs, or autumn blast,
We meet—and every heartache flies:
We kiss and all division dies;
No more!—the moment came, and passed—
In life, no more!

The vale is green, the skies are bright
The lillies-of-the-valley white
'Neath primrose—blossoms hover;
And every day the meadows gay,
More gayly paint their cover.

Then come and greet the way with mirth,
Rejoicing in the beauteous earth,
And God's protection tender;
Who in his might spreads this delight,
And clothes the flowers in splendor.
