Before the War Investigation Commission as to Condition of Camps.

CAMP THOMAS AND CUBA LIBRE

Under Investigation by the Commission--Hospital at Former Overcrowded--Defects in Laying Out the Camp--Groundless Complaints of Soldiers at Camp Cuba Libre--The War Record of the World Broken by Our Small Casualties in the Navy During the Recent War--General Lee's Corps to be Reorganized.

Washington, October 8.—The war investigating commission examined two witnesses today. They were Doctor Giffin, who is in charge of the Sternberg hospital at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga park, Ga., and Captain Baldrige, a brigade commissary of subsistence at Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, Fla. Both contributed much information in regard to the two camps. The commissioners have practically decided to start on the night of the 16th on a round of the various camps. They will go to Camp Meade or to Jacksonville first, but are not yet decided which. All the camps will be visited in succession, but the understanding is that the trip to Camp Winkoff will not be made until some time in November. Next week will be given largely to the inspection of official reports and to other statements, which have been furnished in reply to letters from the commission.

Major R. Emmet Giffin was a brigade surgeon at Camp Thomas and told of his visit to the Second division hospital in July last, when he said it was overcrowded. In each tent and under its flies there were eight or nine men, when there should have been but from four to six. There was a scarcity of physicians and Major Giffin was sure they were competent men. The majority of patients were suffering from typhoid fever and venereal diseases, about 20 per cent. being of the latter class. He thought the overcrowding of the hospital was from lack of sufficient tentage, a fault due to the surgeon in charge. Dr. Giffin made his visit to the division himself to see a man of his brigade who had been shot in the leg. He found him in a tent with typhoid fever patients and consequently had him removed. The division hospital surgeons were competent in their profession, some of them being the most competent in the United States, but they were not men of executive ability. None of them was addicted to drink. He considered the water supply good. He thinks the wells were poorly located. They were too near the kitchens and were too shallow. Many of them were only a few feet from the company kitchens and were open when he arrived. He then had them moved farther back and gave directions for daily disinfection and covering. By this time, however, the regiments were all infected, as he thought, by the flies going from the sinks to the mess tables.

Dr. Giffin was satisfied that the typhoid fever had been brought in by the troops, the first case coming through a Mississippi regiment. The location was a healthful one, as he had made an investigation and found that previous to the arrival of the troops there had only been one case of typhoid fever in the vicinity for nine years. There had been about 5,000 cases of typhoid fever in the camp. Dr. Giffin had no complaints of neglect or inefficiency to make against any of the bureaus of the war department and he had heard of only one complaint. There were no matches for twenty-four hours. He thought that the contract surgeons should have been examined before they were appointed. The doctor also expressed the opinion that the complaints of starvation had arisen from the fact that it was necessary to put convalescents from typhoid fever on a sparse diet. He thought that the cases had been caused by overfeeding after convalescents had returned to their homes. Orders were given, to his knowledge, for prompt measures looking to the suppression of the fever when it broke out, but the orders had not been obeyed. He knew of more cases in which the sinks were at least within twenty feet of the kitchen and in the cases of the Fourteenth Minnesota and Ninth Pennsylvania regiments the sinks were crowded near the kitchens, when there was a quarter of a mile of open field back of them. He thought that it had been a mistake to locate so many men together as were at Camp Thomas. Requisitions had been honored promptly. He got everything he asked for.

AT CAMP CUBA LIBRE.

Captain James C. Baldrige, commissary of subsistence for the First brigade, Second division, Seventh army corps, now at Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, occupied the attention of the committee during the afternoon. He reached the camp on August 2nd and made an immediate inspection of the kitchen. He found some of them not well managed, as all of the army cooks were not experts. He believed that for an army in camp green coffee was preferable to the roasted, as it was stronger and fresher. The meat he considered good and it was received on time, except in one instance. A complaint by the Second New Jersey regiment he investigated the meat which had been rejected by it. Some of this meat was eaten by the brigade officers and found to be wholesome. The next day the same regiment rejected a consignment of corn beef, but this also he found to be eatable. The men were liberally supplied with food and the location of the camp was good. Still there has been an increase of disease, which he attributed to the climate and to the assembling of a large body of men. He also thought decaying fruit and the canteen beer had had an influence in producing disease. General Dodge read a letter to the witness from a member of the Second New Jersey regiment, saying some of the regiment were dying of starvation and others were completely broken down. Captain Baldrige said there had been a great deal of complaint from this regiment. They received their rations and he attributed their troubles partially to the fact that they had an inexperienced man as commissary of subsistence. The regiment had also made a contract with an outside baker, which gave each company only forty-one and one-half loaves of bread per day. The full ration would have given them twice as much. Captain Baldrige said he had no complaint to make of the officers of this regiment, except that they were without experience. He instanced the fact that when the regiment was ordered to Pablo, with the exception of two companies, the main body took all the rations, leaving nothing to eat for those left behind.

Captain Baldrige said that when he first went to Jacksonville, he thought the men were small and were not good, but afterward the quality improved. The commissioners here adjourned.

OUR NAVAL CASUALTIES DURING THE WAR.

Seventeen sailors killed and eighty-four casualties, all told, was the total loss suffered by the United States navy during the war. The figures have just been compiled at the navy department. In Dewey's great fight in Manila bay not a man was killed and every one of the nine men wounded was able and did return to duty. In the battle of July 3rd off Santiago, one man was killed and there were eleven casualties altogether. In that fight also every one of the wounded returned to duty. The loss suffered in the attack upon the forts at the entrance to Santiago by the American fleet June 22nd was one sailor killed and eleven men wounded, of whom only seven were able to return to duty. The heaviest loss of the navy was at Guantanamo. There were twenty-two casualties in that 100 hour fight and of the list six marines were killed. Of the sixteen men with the Spanish land batteries and artillery forces at Cardenas. Of the eight casualties, five were deaths, though three wounded men afterward returned to duty. In the bombardment of San Juan, the casualties numbered eight, with one man killed. One of the wounded men was invalided home, while six returned to duty. There were four other casualties occurring in as many separate engagements, and that completes the list of the war. Of the sixty-seven men wounded in the war, fifty-four were returned to duty, one died of wounds, six were invalided from the service and six continue under treatment. Considering the results obtained, this list is said to be the most remarkable in the naval history of the world.

LEE'S CORPS REORGANIZED.

General Lee has been ordered to reorganize the Seventh army corps now under his command at Jacksonville, so as to make it consist of two divisions of two brigades each.

The Relief Brings Troops from the West Indies

Newport News, Va., October 8.—The United States hospital ship Relief, with sick and convalescent soldiers aboard to the number of 248, tied up at the dock at Old Point this afternoon and discharged her passengers. Of the number landed only about fifty had to be brought ashore, the remainder walking. Only a few of the fifty are dangerously ill and the percentage of serious cases is quite small. The new arrivals are from the Third Wisconsin, Ninth Massachusetts, Sixteenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry and regulars from the Third and Fifth artillery, hospital and signal corps. Preparations had been made to receive the contingent at the new Joshua Simpson general hospital, where they were promptly installed.

Had Typhoid Fever.

"My system was very much run down by typhoid fever. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and the effect was most invigorating. It gave me a new lease of life, and I have enjoyed good health ever since taking it, and have been able to follow my usual business." J. A. Conner, Jr., Rockbridge Baths, Virginia.

THE SEXTON MURDER

Mrs. George Still Retreated—Humors of a Deceit Letter—The Coroner's Investigation Begins

Canton, Ohio, October 8.—M. C. Barber, the brother-in-law of President McKinley, received a telegram from Washington tonight stating that 2 o'clock would best suit the president and Mrs. McKinley as the hour for holding the funeral services over the remains of George D. Saxton, Mrs. McKinley's brother, who was assassinated last night as he was approaching the house of a friend. Accordingly, that hour Monday afternoon has been selected. The services are to be private for the family and immediate friends, and will occur at the Barber home where the body was taken. This is the old Saxton homestead and was the Canton home of the McKinleys during the president's career in congress. The Washington message also announced that the president and his party will reach Canton over the Pennsylvania lines at 10:25 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. Annie E. George, the woman suspected of firing the fatal shots, is in jail, the formal charge of first degree murder made today not admitting that either her appetite nor her rest is disturbed by the conditions in which she is placed. She is cool and collected and still maintains silence on every feature connected with the tragedy or with herself while it was being enacted. The fact that her attorney objected to assignment when she was taken into the justice's court today indicates that they propose to attack the affidavit on technical grounds. They secured an adjournment of the arraignment until 10 o'clock Monday.

Officers have been making special efforts to find the weapon with which the crime was committed, by searching all around the scene of the shooting, the field through which she is said to have walked last night and other places in which she is thought to have been, but to no avail. There is some gossip that Saxton may have been enticed to the Althouse residence by a decoy letter. This is based on the statement of Mrs. Althouse that Saxton knew she was not at home that evening and that she did not expect to be and, therefore, he had no reason to call. The coroner began taking testimony this afternoon and examined half a dozen or more neighbors who had heard the shooting or saw the dead man. The only development of the inquest so far is a statement by Henry Bederman that he saw a woman in black in front of the Althouse home fire several shots at a man. After the first shots she had walked away and then there came from the man a faint call for help. She turned abruptly, walked back and fired several more shots and then ran away. He could not tell who the people were, but on approaching recognized Saxton's body. The most important witnesses will not be examined until next week.

THE PEACE COMMISSIONERS

The Contentions of Each Understood by the Other—The Two Widely Apart

Paris, October 8.—The United States peace commissioners began their usual three hours session at 10 o'clock this morning. They are understood to have taken into consideration direct suggestions and counter propositions from the Spaniards, of which the Americans now have enough to engage their attention at the daily session. It may be regarded as quite likely that the Spaniards have already outlined their apparent expectations and that they are beyond the line of possible acquiescence by the Americans. The latter are now acting along well considered lines, consistently, and with a definite end in view. They have to some degree disclosed the American expectation and determination. The Spaniards, however, seem unable or unwilling at the outset, to understand or believe the Americans may, or have at the outset set forth their requirements and that they are destined to remain virtually unchanged by finesse or counter diplomacy. While the Philippines have not been reached in the deliberations, this question is doubtless relatively not far distant and at that point is likely to come the full stress of the diplomatic controversy.

Referring to the Philippine phase of the negotiations The Gaulois today says: "The question was somewhat touched upon, though not discussed yesterday, but there was enough to indicate serious difficulties when it does come up. The first session lasted two hours." President Faure, through the United States ambassador, General Horace Porter, today invited the American commission to visit the Lang Champs race course on Sunday, in order to witness the race for the prix municipal. The Americans through the ambassador, thanked the president but declined his invitation. The commission reconvened for a two hours session at 2:30 p. m. today.

A Railroad Decision

Charleston, S. C., October 8.—In the United States circuit court, Judge Simonton handed down a decision in the case of the Georgia Railroad Company against the Port Royal and Augusta railroad, in which claims were made by the former company against the latter for money alleged to be due for services rendered during the recent receivership of J. H. Averill. The decision orders the payment to the Georgia Company of $50,000.

SHOT DOWN BY A WOMAN.

Mrs. McKinley's Brother the Victim.

A TANGLE OF SCANDALS

George Sexton, of Canton, Ohio, Shot Down by a Woman as he Approaches the Residence of a Lady Friend—The Assassin a Divorced Woman—Several Scandals Which Preceded and Led up to this Tragedy—The Woman Arrested.

Canton, Ohio, October 7.—George Saxton, a brother of Mrs. William McKinley, was shot dead at 6:10 o'clock this evening before the residence of Mrs. Eva B. Althouse, widow of the late George Althouse, 319 Lincoln avenue, where he is presumed to have gone to make a call. Five shots were fired, three of which entered his body. Mrs. Anna C. George has been placed under arrest on suspicion of the murder. Saxton was unconscious when neighbors arrived to investigate the cause of the shooting and was dead when the physicians and officers arrived, the former having expressed the opinion that death was instantaneous, three bullets having entered vital spots. His position indicated that he had been on the step of the Althouse residence when the shots were fired. The body was taken to an undertaking room and placed in charge of the coroner. Immediately after the autopsy it will be taken to the home of M. C. Barber, a brother-in-law, where Saxton, who was unmarried, made his home. Mr. Saxton left the Barber home about 6 o'clock, riding his bicycle, and this was the last seen of him by his friends. The Althouse home was dark and locked and the neighbors said Mrs. Althouse had not been at home for the past three days. One of the neighbors said a woman, supposed to have done the shooting, had passed back of the house. Mrs. George took her supper as usual at a down town restaurant at 4:45 o'clock, and some time later was on a westbound car, and, according to the "gossip" story, got off at Hazlett avenue near the Althouse home. About 9 o'clock she was arrested and locked up. Trouble in locating her was due principally to the fact that she moved from her old home yesterday.

Mrs. George is the divorced wife of Sample E. George, who formerly was a partner in a business block, conducting a dress-making business. Her divorce was obtained in Dakota and a proceeding, later, filed in local courts by the husband against Saxton charging that Saxton had sent her there to secure the divorce, the proceeding here being a suit for damages for the alleged alienation of the wife's affections. This case has been through all the intermediate courts and was passed upon by the state supreme court on an inter-pleading and finally remanded for hearing to the district court. Before this occurred, and on Wednesday, a settlement was effected, Saxton paying George $1,825 on the claim set up of $20,000 for damages.
