Additional Calamity Comes to Earthquake Sufferers

UNPROTECTED FROM RAIN

Already the Unsanitary Condition Greatly Aggravated

The Storm Brought Inescribable Suf fering to Tens of Thousands and Will Doubtless Add Great Numbers of Pneumonia Cases-Heroic Efforts Made to Relieve the Distress of Suffering Women and Children-Downpour Aggravated the Already Unsanitary Condition of the Camps.

San Francisco, April 23 .- A drenching rain fell upon San Francisco last night. From midnight until 3 o'clock it poured and drizzled at intervals, while a high wind added a melancholy accompaniment, whistling and sighing about the ruins of the buildings in the burned district. Five days ago, when the fire catastrophe was in its been regarded as mercy and a God send. This morning it could be regarded in no other light than as an additional calamity. It meant indethousands of people camped upon the effect. naked hills and in the parks and open of sheeting tacked upon improvised tent poles. Through this the water poured as through a sieve, wetting the bedding and soaking the ground upon which they lay. When it is understood that thousands upon thousands of delicately nurtured women and infants in arms, and old and feeble people were in this plight, nothing need be added to describe the misery of their condition. The downpour has aggravated the already unsanitary condition of the camps and will doubtless add great numbers of pneumonia cases to those already crowding the regular and temporary hospitals of the city. What could be done by the guards in charge of the camps to relieve the distress. Whenever covering could be had for the women and children, it was taken advantage of. They were housed in chill and cheerless churches, in garages and in barns, and those who had saved their homes were called upon to take care of the unfortunates exposed to the storm. With few exceptions those who had homes responded readily to the new call made upon them and where they did not, the butt ends of rifles quickly forced a way through inhospitable doors. culties of the general committee, especially of those having in charge the owns any. care of the sick, the sanitation of the forts to bring order out of the chaos prevailing. Regular shelter tents will be provided, as well as cots standing off the ground. It is realized that these provisions are imperative as much so as the providing of food.

After several hours of clear weather there was another precipitation at 6 a. m., and again at 9 o'clock the fall was resumed and continued at intervals throughout the day.

Of individual instances of suffering the number is legion, but one will tell the story of them all.

About 4 o'clock, when the rain had been falling heavily for an hour, a middle aged man, white faced in his distress and fatigue, appeared at the headquarters of the general committee. He had walked two miles from his camping place in the park to make an appeal for his suffering wife and little ones. As he told of their distress, tears coursed down his cheeks. His wife and children were, he said, without covering other than a sheeting overhead, and were lying on the naked ground and there protected only managed to save.

FIRST WITNESS ON THE STAND

Hearing Before Inter-State Commerce Commission of Report Called for in the Tillman-Gillespie Resolution. Coal Rates to Norfolk, Richmond and Other Points Testified to.

Washington, April 23.-The interstate commerce commission today resumed here the hearings recently inaugurated under the Tillman-Gilespie resolution requiring the commission to inquire into a report if railroads have any interest in coal and oil transported over their lines as common carriers. Today the first witness called was T. D. Hobart, coal and coke freight agent for the Norfolk and Western railroad.

Mr. Hobart was questioned at some length as to the coal rate into Norfolk, Richmond and other points over their road, also as to rates on the Chesapeake and Ohio. According to the figures given by the witness, the Norfolk and Western's rate into Norfolk was twenty-five cents higher than the Chesapeake and Ohio rate, and the rate of the Chesapeake and Ohio into Richmond 25 cents per ton higher than the Norfolk and Western rate to that point, up to April 1st, last, since which time they have been the same. Asked why the Norfolk and Western rate was higher into Norfolk than the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Chesapeake and Ohio higher into Richmond than the Norfolk and Western, the witness said that the Norfolk and Western had no direct line into Richmond, while Norfolk was one of its local points, and on the other hand that Richmond was a local point on the Chesapeake and Ohio. He thought the Norfolk and Western was entitled to the business into Norfolk and the Chesapeake and Ohio into Richmond. Asked if there had been any understanding between infancy, this downpour would have the two roads that one would charge a higher rate into Norfolk and the other into Richmond, the witness said there had been some conversation between officials, and did not deny that scribable suffering to the tens of an arrangement had been made to that Norfolk, one of its own points, and save the revenue that would be lost by assurance of insurance companies, the going into Richmond, since they were obliged to pay an arbitrary rate on the lines connecting the Norfolk and Western with Richmond.

Previous to 1901 the rate into Richmond, Mr. Hobart said, was $1.50 per ton, then was raised to $1.75, and in 1903 was raised to $1.83, and on April 1st last was lowered to $1.60-the present rate. The rate to Lamberts Point, he said for reshipment outside the Virginia capes is $1.35 for 2,240 pound tons and $1.60 for Norfolk and local harbor

Replying to Commissioner Clement the witness said it was about April 1, 1903, that officials of the Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio discussed the Norfolk and Richmond rates of the two roads. He said the presidents and some of the traffic officials of the two roads were present. He said the Norfolk and Western rate was raised at that time, and that it was his recollection that the Chesapeake and Ohio rate to Norfolk was increased. This relation, it was added, was maintained until March 16 last.

Mr. Hobart said he owned no stock While the storm has added to the diffi- in any of the coal companies and knew of no officers of the company that

Mr. Hobart testified that General Manager Maher was expressly told that as a condition precedent to his becoming an officer of the Norfolk and Western, he must dispose of all his stock in the Maher coal concern, which he did. He added that it was the fixed policy of the Norfolk and Western that no officer in the company can own stock in the collieries.

While the rain caused considerable suffering for the time being, conditions were quickly ameliorated committee as well as by the voluntary acts of householders.

Homeless people were fed today in a systematic manner. From the water front, where the boat loads of provisions docked, there was an endless procession of carts and drays carrying food to the scores of sub-stations established throughout the city and the parks.
