MERITED PROMOTION.

COL. A. B. ANDREWS FIRST VICE PRESI-DENT OF THE R. & D. SYSTEM.

Work at the Exposition Grounds-Unexpected Delay in the Work of the Railroad Commission-The Mad-Dog Scare-Commencement Exercises.

MESSENGER BUREAU, RALEIGH, N. C., June, 17. Work in the shape of extensive preparations continues at the Exposition grounds. Offices for the accommodation of the different officials have been fitted up, and, from now out matters will be pushed with vigor. In a few days telephone and telegraph wires be run to the grounds and the street railway managers promise as quick an extension of the road as possible, after which the reception of articles for exhibition will begin in earnest.

The exodus from the city has comnenced, and the extreme heat has already driven many to the seaside and mountains. Almost daily departures are noted for Morehead, taking advantage of the reduced rates for the Teachers' Assembly. There will be some unexpected delay on the part of the Railroad Commission in commencing the work of assessing the various roads for taxation. This arises from the necessity of a full investigation of reports so as to get at a just valuation of the property. The work will not be entered into before

MESSENGER of yesterday, containing the names of persons in Raleigh who paid the direct taxes. The energy of the paper is much commended. All arrangements have been perfected for the 4th of July celebration here. The pyrotechnic display will be the finest ever seen in the State, and the celeration; in all its parts is expected to surpass any heretofore had of a like The mad-dog scare still continues in great danger of being attacked by a this county. It is specially bad in the mob. The Teachers' Assembly vicinity of New Light Township, where eported several cows have been bitten and seriously injured. A sharp lookout is kept by the police in this city, and all dangerous animals are speedily shot. Jno. C. George the Baltimore bondholder of the electric street railway, has returned home. He says no further delay need be apprehended in the work of construction in all respects, and expresses the firm conviction that the enterprise will prove renumerative even from the start. All the plans for the route have been mapped out, creating a system much more farreaching than the old line. Attention will be first given to the extension to the Exposition grounds and no time will be lost in the work.

Commencement exercises took place at the Agricultural and Mechanical college this morning. Owing to the unusual heat the attendance was not as large as was anticipated, but the exercises were quite interesting. Rev. Baylus Cade could not deliver the address as was expected, being absent on account of the sickness of a daughter in Louisburg, Visitors were entertained b; an exhibition of articles in the Mechanical department, the work will be a marked increase in the attendance next session; for which preparat on will be made during the vacation in the way of additional mechani-

Cash corn went to a premium of 41 cents; shorts covered fully; outside buys ing orders were generous and the sell ing crowds seemed to be pretty well bailed out. July opened 56(d)56# cents sold at once to 561(a)561c., broke to 561(a) 564 cents and advanced to 574 cents. The market was also helped after it passed the call price by purchases made against the calls sold. But the demand gradually slackened, offerings ncreased and the market lost some of its strength and July fell to 561 cents. There was another rally to 571 and close was at 561.

Oats were disposed to follow corn, and trade was made active and prices higher, though all the advances were not maistained. Provisions were only moderately ac ive. Later, on good selling and the subsequent weakness in grain, prices eased off some and at the close Pork

MCKINLEY NOMINATED.

Great Enthusiasm in the Convention -Governor Foraker's Speech-Senator Sherman not Endorsed-Mr. Blaine's Popularity.

COLUMBUS, O., June 17 .- The second day of the Republican State convention of Ohio opened bright and clear. The sun was still warm and the heat very oppressive, but both heat and sun were powerless to abate the enthusiasm of the Republican hosts who had gathered in anticipation of the stirring scenes of the day. It was rumored early in the morning that McKinley would throw down the gauntlet to the low tariff men in his speech of acceptance, and that the coming contest, if won at all, must be won in sustaining the principles of McKinley tariff. The effect of this information was to infuse with greater enthusiasm the stalwart or pronounced McKinley element, and if it had a depressing influence on the dissenters of the party it was never felt in the convention. The proceedings of the day were opened by prayer, after which the report of committee on Credentials was presented and adopted. The committee on Permanent Organization reported amid aplause the name of Gen. Asa S. Bushnell for permanent chairman, and E. J. Kessinger, of Athens, for perma-

From Wrightsville to Morehead. There is a movement on foot having in view the establishment of a line o steamers from Wrightsville to Morehead City. The movement has been under consideration among some of our capitalists for some time, and begins now to assume definite shape and pro- FURNISHING GOODS, we will be portion. The idea, as far as has been ready developed, and as far as we have been able to learn, is to purchase or have built a line of light draft steamers to ply through the different Sounds from Writesville to Morehead City; to have craft that can make the trip in six or To place the same on the market at seven hours, without going out to sea at all, and to have accommodations for passengers as well as freight. These are the plans, so far as we have heard them explained, but, before many weeks, we hope to give a more complete account of the enter- Market prise. It must result beneficially to all concerned. months, I was surprised to find that the

sion and parachute drop announced to Friday and Saturday. This should be a sufficient excuse, as t embodies the facts in the case, still as something more may be deemed necessary to your citizens who are not familiar with aeronautics if you will permit me the use of your columns I will endeavor to explain the cause of last week's failure and answer numerous questions that have been asked. First, was the trench for generating the gas properly constructed? The prevailing winds at this season of the year generally come from the southwest, the exception being when they come from another direction; therefore the trench was built with its opening for draft toward the south

Were the poles properly guyed? They were guyed with a triangular guy, one for each that was fully ade quate for the purpose, as any builder who has had experience in guying with such a guy can testify, and the stakes to which they were fastened were driven into the ground about three feet, the stakes being 4x4 and four feet

Was the balloon in good condition If it was not in good condition, it would never have stood the pressure in it that it did, for it was subjected to a great strain for one hour and a half. before I reluctantly took it off of the furnace seeing it was impossible to fill from that quarter. Why were the poles not put in the ground? Because he poles are merely for the purpose of holding up the balloon over the furnace during inflation and are dropped after the balloon is able to hold its own weight, that they may not be in the way of the aeronaut when she leaves the ground, the balloon and parachute ascend with great speed and swing sometimes fully 100 feet; if these poles were left standing the aeronaut would very likely be dashed again t them with ious results.

The cause of the failure last week ested entire with the wind, which was plowing too strong from that quarter to inflate the balloon. It should have been inflated in thirty minutes, but I struggled one hour and thirty minutes trying to get it off so as not to dasappoint the public. It was the wind, also, that caused the accident, and nothing else. Had the people paid attention to At Connelly Springs, W. N. C. out of harms way there would not have been anyone hurt. Now to sum upthe balloon was handled properly, the rigging was the same as is always used, and proper precaution was observed to prevent the accident. Now for the attempt to be made on Friday and Saturday of this week, the trench for generating the gas has been placed in a position where it is protected to a great extent from the action | 1st, 1891. dered simply because they were of the wind and everything that experience and good judgment could devise has been done to insure safety and pleasant exhibition, and if the weather is favorable I guarantee your citizens one of the most enjoyable and instructive exhibitions they have ever Thanking you for the space you have
