

ESTABLISHED 1867. TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

Four hundred railroad employes of South Carolina met Thursday night and decided to organize an industrial union to fight the Tillman administration. All the laboring men of the State are invited to join. The development is a very sensational one. There has been a shortage for some time when the treasurer was trying to cover up. There are other sensational facts brought to light. More arrests are to be made in Paris over the Panama frauds. Rentes on the Paris Bourse are declining rapidly and there was quite a panic feeling there yesterday. The dock laborers at Havre strike. In the contest of Davitt's seat in Parliament the courts decide against him. There were two new cases of cholera and two deaths yesterday. There will be no grand effort in the House about the holidays to bring about some kind of financial legislation, which will probably be an attempt to repeal the Sherman Silver bill. The cruiser Kearsarge has been ordered to go to Colon a distance to Key West. Mr. William C. Harris has been appointed clerk to the Commissioner of Labor. The French Government has come to the conclusion that the best plan is to make a full disclosure of all the facts in the Panama scandal as fast as they come to light. Charles Richardson Miles, of South Carolina, died yesterday. James H. Edwards, of Henrico county, Va., is convicted of criminally assaulting his own daughter and sent to the penitentiary for one year. Great precautions are being taken to prevent other copyists being poisoned at Helena, Ark. It has been decided in the Catholic University that Mgr. Satollil has made any decision in the case of Dr. McGlynn. The Secretary of War announces that the agreement with Mexico has been extended whereby troops of either country may pursue hostile Indians into the territory of the other. Mr. Blaine was much better yesterday. Secretary of State Foster will resign on going to Paris as arbitrator in the Behring sea case. The two chambers of Congress were dispersed yesterday, most of the Senators and members having gone home for the Christmas holidays. All the Cardinals now in Rome joined the Pope yesterday, and he made an address in which he said that signs of a gathering storm were visible of the moral and religious conditions of Europe and that the situation was pregnant with ruin and disaster.

OUR RAILROAD LETTER.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS. Many Changes in the Law suggested by the Commission. The Commission on the Railroads has issued its report, recommending many changes in the law governing the industry. The report is a comprehensive one, covering all phases of the business. It is a landmark document, and its recommendations are of great importance. The Commission has found many instances of unfair practices and has proposed laws to correct them. It has also recommended improvements in the management of the railroads and in the treatment of the employees. The report is a model of clear and concise writing, and it is a valuable contribution to the public interest. The Commission's work has been a long and arduous one, and its report is the result of many months of study and deliberation. It is a document that should be read by every citizen who is interested in the railroads and in the welfare of the country. The Commission's recommendations are not only in the public interest, but they are also in the interest of the railroads themselves. By adopting the Commission's proposals, the railroads can improve their efficiency and their profitability, and they can also improve the lives of their employees. The Commission's report is a document that should be read by every citizen who is interested in the railroads and in the welfare of the country.

THE MEXICAN BANDITS.

They Gain Two Victories—The Revolution Extending—Spies Sent Into Texas—Railroads Seized by the Government—Troops Hastening to the Front. NIEVA LAREDO, Mex., Dec. 23.—Reports, although conflicting, come from every part of the northern side of the Republic indicating the growth of the revolutionary movement. Dispatches are coming from Mexico City to the United States floors on the frontier and in the near future there will be a general revolution in Mexico. It is reported that the Government would agree to a full and unrestricted debate on the question of the revolution. The alleged use of money advanced by the Canal Company in the service of the Government. The Commission has issued its report, recommending many changes in the law governing the industry. WASHINGTON CITY.

EFFORTS TO BE MADE TO BRING ABOUT FINANCIAL LEGISLATION. Speculation as to the Legislation to be Accomplished by the Senate. WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—For the moment Mr. Blaine's condition has changed for the better and his spirits have risen proportionately. His physicians, however, give no reason for supposing that the rally is more than temporary. There is to be an organized effort in the House after the holidays to bring about a measure of financial legislation. It will probably take the shape of an attempt to repeal the Sherman Silver bill, under which the Government is purchasing gold bonds at a rate of one year. The opponents of the bill are confident that this is a daily increasing burden on the Government and inevitably leading to gigantic losses. Mr. Hartley, of Ohio, one of the most powerful champions of the repeal of the bill, will make his speech in the House during the recess to endeavor to draw the public and Congressional attention to the favorable action that may be taken as soon after the recess as possible. For this reason he will not return to Ohio to enjoy the holiday season, but will be in the city at various places throughout the East where he may be most useful in advocating the repeal of the law. On the other hand, the bill is supported by the active and expect to see a free coinage bill during the recess to be introduced. Mr. Hartley's bill of Senator Sherman, which provides for the repeal of the Sherman law, makes that measure practically a free coinage bill, and Senator Sherman thinks that when it comes to a vote it will pass. Orders have been sent to the United States steamship company, now at La Plata, to proceed to Colon, Panama, and later to San Francisco, and then to continue north as far as Key West. This indicates that the various recent reports of difficulties in either direction are exaggerated. Secretary of State Foster will resign his office before leaving for Paris, but he goes to see the Behring sea arbitrators, who are to meet February 1st. The date of his departure is between the date of the President's departure and the end of the present administration. The vacancy will be filled by Assistant Secretary Wharton until the end of the term. On the House side of the Capitol this morning there was a scene of desolation. The girls of the House began to come in and to-day but a dozen Representatives were in the chamber engaged in answering their correspondence. The hall was deserted, except when the ubiquitous newspaper man entered in search of an item, which he was detected in doing so. A few lawless fellows chased one another up and down the aisle. In the room of the Committee of Appropriations Mr. Sawyer, Secretary of the House, was engaged, with the assistance of a clerk, in reading the Sundry Civil appropriation bill for a report to the full appropriation. Besides the clerks and the room but Mr. Sawyer, the only other person in the study of the committee was the internal revenue taxation. He stated that his investigation as to the condition of the Treasury would be completed by the Ways and Means committee and that the Appropriation committee would report on the subject. He expressed his belief that it was a proper committee to conduct the inquiry. He predicted that the legislation would be enacted this session outside of the regular appropriation bills all of which were in an unusual condition of forwardness. Personally he was confident that the extension would not be called for, but he thought the wisest course unless it could be arranged that a session of the Senate would be merely for the organization of the House. On the Senate side there was an aspect of complete evacuation and desolation. The Senate chamber was as quiet as a cemetery. Not a page of legislation was being introduced. The doorkeeper was absent from his post and the eye-committee room was locked and a business as usual in the clerk's office. The Senate chamber was as quiet as a cemetery.
