A CLEVER SWINDLER.

How Dr. Nash was Taken in by a Man Who Came to Deliver a Bequest to Fifth Street M. E. Church-The Same Fraud Practiced

Risewhere. The MESSENGER on yesterday received the following from a gentleman in this city:

From a private letter received in this city it is learned that recently a man went to Hallifax, N. C., called on a lady who is an active member of the Roman Catholic church, and stated that a lady had died in Washington City and left the Roman Catholic church at Halifax $500, and that he had been entrusted by the executor to bring on the check. In the absence of the priest, the lady received the check and was so elated at the gift to her church that she rewarded the person who brought it with a small sum of money. But it turned out that the check was bogus or entirely worthless. Make publication of this fact that others in the small towns along the rivers and railroads may not be duped similarly. Let the press pass him around. If the above notice could have been published on Sunday or previously, the Rev. Dr. L. L. Nash, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. church and editor of the Atlantic Methodist, of this city, would not be "out" to the tune of $6.15. Dr. Nash in his paper of yesterday publishes this bit of news under the head of "A Bequest to Fifth Street Church": "Mrs. Eliza Wardlow, of Washington, D. C., left $500 in her will to the pastor of Fifth Street M. E. church, Wilmington, to be applied to the relief of the church. Dr. William E. Ellison, of Washington, one of the executors of the will, called to see us on last executors of the will, called to see us on last Monday and paid the money over. It was, indeed, a New Year's gift that gladdened our hearts. Dr. Ellison came to us with a letter of introduction from our friend, Dr. W. H. Milburn, the "blind man eloquent." We enjoyed the visit of Dr. Ellison for his own sake, as well as for the substantial help he brought us. He is an unusually interesting gentleman. The Lord is coming to our help, and our heart is full of gratitude to Him. May He move others to help until this church is relieved of debt."

Doctors are supposed to leave a fellow"feeling better,"but it turns out this and was glad to see him so hearty and "doctor" has left Dr. Nash feeling bad. We are sorry he pulled the wool over him again. Come again. the eyes of the able pastor of Fifth Street church, but we are glad the fraud didn't size him up for a larger Uupon hearing that a similar fraud has been practiced in other places in the State, Dr. Nash came to the conclusion that he also was the victim of a fraud. He tells us that "Dr." Ellison, claiming to be a doctor of medicine from in the city and have assumed control Washington, D. C., attended services at Fifth Street church on Sunday night and called on him on Monday. Ellison represented himself as one of the executors of Mrs. Wardlow's will, and turned over to Dr. Nash a draft on Drexel Co., Philadelphia, for $500 drawn by somebody else in his (Ellimeet in adjourned session this evening | son's) favor. Ellison endersed it to Dr. at 6 o'clock to consider the matter of Nash and Dr. Nash placed it in the the back taxes claimed from the Wil- Atlantic National bank of this city for mington and Weldon railroad by the collection. This however, that he had been swindled he was in the city yesterday and went to meney is very scarce, and sells at a telegraphed to the Drexeis at Phila delphia to waive protest on the

WILMINGTON, N. C, Jan. 4, 1893.

Editor Messenger: You said a few days ago in your comments on the action of the Board of Aldermen in regard to the contract for collecting the Wilmington and Weldon railroad tax, "We don't like it." There were a good many fellow citizens who thought and said the same this g and there has been a feeling of unres', a disposition to find fault with the action of the Board, or two Boards-both pieces. But now the affair is all right. At the meeting last night Alderman Fishblate made a statement and "reduced it to writing in order to keep from being mis-quoted." He says, "it will be made satisfactory to all classes of our cul-gens and the railroad." Now let us be satisfied, draw a long breath, and breathe freely If he had only men-tioned it in the first place, how much friction would have been avoided! some things may seem to be hard to under-stand—but don't lose confidence in the two Boards.
