COMMENTS ON THE ADDRESS.

Opinions of Newspapers of Both Political Parties on President Cleveland's Inauguration Address.

[New York World.] "The inaugural address of Presiden Cleveland was worthy of the man and the occasion. Higher praise could not be given. Less praise would fall short of justice. The prevailing spirit of the address is that of patriotism. In this it is like the parental addresses of Washington or the earnest admonitions of Lincoln. The utterances are those of honest conviction. The tone is that of determined courage."

[New York Press, Rep.] "Mr. Cleveland's inaugural address is a characteristic performance. Pompous and stilted in phraseology, it is pervaded throughout by an egotism that is grotesque. The address abounds in professions of devotion to the interest of the nation and the preservation of good ances can best be interpreted by recalling the fact that the man who uttered them sion of half a million Republican votes in the South and to a disgraceful alliance with the forces of socialism in the West. ocratic President will tend powerfully to unsettle business, to weaken confidence in the future industrial prosperity of the country and to check investments of capital in manufacturing enterprises. They constitute an unwelcome reminder that the Democratic party is essentially a party of destruction and retrogression."

[Philadelphia Times.] "President Cleveland, in his inaugural address, leaves no room for doubt as to where he stands, and means to stand upon the immediate issues of the day. * * There are no specific recommendations in the inaugural. It is not the place for them. But as a proclama-tion of Democratic principles—of econ-omy, integrity and self-reliance in the citizen as the only safe foundation of a free Government administered solely for the general good-it is emphatic and unmistakable and carries the unmistakable application of these principles to the serious problems of the day."

[Philadelphia Record.] "In an inaugural address there would have been no propriety in dwelling upon the details of a tariff measure. A upon the details of a tariff measure. A consideration of these details belongs to the official message which the President Democratic county, as "the banner Democratic county," the handsome will deliver to Congress. In his inaugural he could do no more than state the Vance some years ago. principal which triumphed in the contest of last year, and this he has done in | behalf of Johnston and was loudly apinto axioms of political wisdom. Since the party which yesterday assumed control of the executive and legislative departments of the Government is united and harmonious upon the principle of tariff reform, the work of adjusting the details will be comparatively easy. [New York Times.]

"No one can read the clear and strong words of Mr. Cleveland's address of yes-ter without feeling that he has a very distinct idea of the duty of his party as well as his own, and a very firm purpose to hold his party to its duty as well as to perform his own. It is well worth remembering, however, that, powerful as is Mr. Cleveland's personality and effi-cient as his leadership has been, the remarkable career that he has already had, and that to which he is called under such unusual conditions, would have been closed to him had he not found adequate support among the voters. This is the more significant because the high position he now holds in the public life of the American Union has been conferred on him with the utmost deliberation, and after his character and his purposes and his definite policy were thoroughly known to the country. It may be said that in 1884 his election was due to a peculiar combination or circumstances, and especially to the fatuous choice by the Republicans of a candidate who was Raleigh; Wake; Richmond; Mitchell; Washington; Wilmington Light Infantry; Infantry; Wilmington Light I was no such fortuitous element in the election of last year. The issues presented to the people were very distinct and the choice was made impartially and intelligently. It showed so plainly, that no one could misunderstand it, exactly the purpose of the voters who determined the result. Mr. Cleveland was in November, 1892, what he has been known November, 1832, what he has been known to be for years, and he was made President because of that knowledge. The people got exactly what they wished, and knew exactly what they were getting. * * * Mr. Cleveland will do his work and pass again into private life. But the qualities of the American people that have enabled him to do that work so far, and will enable him to go on with it, will remain strengthened by his career and available for the support of other leaders who shall equally deserve it."

Mr. Spruill said the Railway Commis ion bill had been returned from the Senate with a statement that the Senate refused to adopt the report of the majority of the committee of conference. Thi bill was designed to make constitutional the Railway Commission act of 1891. The House had passed the bill by a unanimous vote. The Senate offered certain amendments (offered by Senator Means of Cabarrus) which had the effect of emasculating the bill. The bill as amended was sent back to the House for conurrence.- The House refused to concur, except in the first one of said amendments. A conference committee from each branch was appointed, six of whom signed a report to the effect that the Senate do recede from its amendments. Senator Means, of the conference committee iled a minority report and the report of he committee was not adopted in the Senate. The result was the death of the bill. In conclusion Mr. Spruill said: "I desire that the responsibility for the death of this bill, which simply made constitutional the act of 1891, shall rest where it belongs, and when upon the attempt to enforce this act the courts shall said themselves met with the question of unconstitutionality and the act shall fall to the ground, I want the people of North Carolina to know that the House of Rep. resentatives is not responsible therefor, but that the burden of responsibility was voluntarily assumed by the Senator from of the inner crades and F. His First Day in Office—Early at Work -Interrupted by Dintinguished Visitors. WASHINGTON, March 6 .- For the second ime in his career, President Cleveland began to realize this morning the trials and tribulations which beset a new President during the first days of his term. Very fortunately for his physical well being, however, the rest of an intervening Sunday and the exodus on that day of thousands of those who would undoubtedly have thronged the White House had they remained in town, relieved him to a great extent of the fatigue of excessive hand shaking which fell to his part eight years ago when there was no Sunday for rest and the springlike weather caused many people to extend their visit to Washington and make the customary pilgrimage to the Mecca of the Executive Mansion Dat as it was, he had no easy

land for Reappointment. Washington, March 6 .- Thirty-six ominations were sent to the Senate by President Harrison during the last session that failed of confirmation. Of this number one was rejected, that of John V. L. Findlay, of Maryland, to be arbitrator for the United States on the Chilian claims commission. His failure of confirmation was due to the opperation of the Maryland Senators. The name of G. M. Lambertson was substituted by the resident, but no action was taken by the Senate.

The most important nomination not sanctioned by the Senate was that of last session and was called to order by Benton Hanchett, of Michigan, to be United States Circuit judge for the Sixth Judicial district, to succeed Judge Jackson, who was confirmed as Associate Juspassed. Among these was one supple- tice of the United States Supreme court. For purely political reasons the Democratic Senators used their influence to prevent Hanchett's confirmation and succeeded. The nearest he came to reaching the goal was in having his nomina tion favorably reported by the Judiciary committee, which held an impromptu meeting on the floor of the Senata during nomination was referred. ...

Three army nominations failed for ick of action. One that provoked much discussion was that of Lieut. John A Dapray, to be paymaster, with the rank of major. Lieut. Dapray acted as military aid to the Secretary of War and when the promotion from that grade to major was announced, it aroused an antagonistic feeling among the senior offisistant Clerk Nicholson created whatever cers in the army, who objected to the promotion of so young an officer over their heads. The promotion of Col. Elwell S. Otis, to be brigadier general in place of Gen. Carr, who was forced to etire, also fell through, by reason of the antagonism of Gen. Carr's friends, who objected to his retirement. The reappointment of D. S. Kirky, to be captain n the regular army was opposed on account of his having been dismissed from the service by the sentence of a court-martial, which sentence, however, was subsequently pronouncedd excessive by Evans, of Minnesota, was appointed as assistant paymaster. but official objection was made to the promotion of Pay Inspector Stevenson, and pending determination of his case Mr. Evans appointment was held up. and the much sought for appointment will therefore be at the disposal of President Gleveland. Other naval nominations that failed of onfirmation were A. W. Dodd and H. J. Dunn, to be lieutenants, and E. F. the junior grades, and E. M. Shipp and A. B. Pusey, to be assistant surgeons,

The nomination of Henry W. Ray-mond, private secretary of Secretary Tracey, to be solicitor for the State Department, failed of confirmation, also that of Lycurgus R. Woodward, to be ommissioner for the District of Alaska; Rees R. Lewelly, to be judge of probate in the county of Sanfete, Utah; Stiles E. Forsha, to be receiver of public moneys at Rapid City, S. The amendment proposed is to fix the time for the beginning and termination of the term of office of President and Vice President and Congress at noon on April 30th. The change is to go into effect in 1897 and to continue thereafter. Senator Sherman's joint resolution was laid on the table at his request, he signifying his intention to have it referred hereafter to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. PIANOS AND YOU WILL NOT MISS IT FAR LWAYS GO TO A PERMANENTLY LOCATED AND RELIABLE HOUSE, WHICH IS RE-A LWAYS GO TO A PERMANENTLY LOCATED AND RELIABLE HOUSE, WHICH IS REsponsible for the instrument after it is sold.

As there are now hundreds of manufacturers of Pianos, the majority making cheap planos, be careful to ascertain the grade and standing of the Piano, then you will not pay $400 for a $200 Piano.

Always go to a house where a large variety of instruments is displayed. You can never judge the quality of a Piano except by comparison, for a big man will appear small when a bigger one appears.

Never send for a Piano on the lifteen days trial business. Fifteen days is no t it, and then when any hing goes wrong afterwards (which there surely will) your guarrantee is worth nothing.

Always avoid traveling agents, or those who stay long enough to do up one town and then go to another. You can rest assured no first- lars Plano is sold that way. It is very inferior, worthless goods sold at large prices to cover the expenses which are enormous. The guarantee of such men is not worth "the powder and shot" to blow it up with.

Go to every wareroom where planes are kept, keep your cars and eyes open and be guided by your own common sense. your own common sense.

In purchasing a piano you are (unless thoroughly posted) entirely at the hands of the dealer. If he be HONEST and COMPETENT you are safe. Never buy from men who have no knowledge of instruments, it is the "blind leading the blind."

We cordially invite all to see the most magnificent stock of Pianos and Organs kept for sale between Richmond and Savannah. Our prices are very low and our terms accommodating. We refer to over 900 Piano customers in Wilmington store.
