

S. P. SMITH, of Towarda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

The Methodists in Warrenton are building a new and handsome church. Davidson Dispatch: Wheat is only worth from 60 to 65 cents a bushel. Mr. A. W. Sharp, of Sapona, says that a few days ago lightning struck in an open cotton field, the fluid killing the cotton fourteen steps square.

Columbus Star: Some of the merchants in Whiteville and Vineland complain of the dullness of trade. - There are now fourteen prisoners in the county jail, besides a number out on bail .-A negro boy by the name of Frink and a mule were killed by lightning last week in Shallotte township, Brunswick

Concord Times: It has been some time since Concord has been visited by a gang of burglars, but it received such a gang of burglars, but it received such a visit last Thursday night. They visited a number of places, but secured very little booty.—Capt. Mangum having tendered his resignation as captain of the Cabarrus Black Boys, at a meeting last Friday night, Dr. W. C. Honston was elected to succeed him.

Fayetteville Gazette: The hot wave of the past week gave cotton a little start, and the color of the weed is better and more promising, though the average is below that of last year's crop of a corresponding date.——Charley Evans, colored, aged about 13 years, was accidentally drowned in the Cape Fear river about seven miles below here, while in bathing last Sunday.

We learn from the N. C. Presbyterian that Asheville Presbyterian Church reports 27 additions since 1st January last; Raleigh Church 26 accessions since 1st April last; Jonesboro Church 21 additions and 47 confessions, and First Church, Wilmington, 17 additions in last three months. Thirteen of these above reported worship with Immanuel chapel. Seven others were received at the cha el on profession on last Sabbath

Rocky Mount Argonaut: The cotton rops are looking much better. The lice have almost entirely disappeared, couldn't stand the dry, hot weather. The corn crop is excellent and all other crops showing up well.—All of our principal tobacco farmers report their crops all right. From the Hilliardston was trampling on her when timely help arrived and she was rescued from almost certain and a horrible death. This is the second time Mrs. McGee has been attacked by the same cow been attacked by the same cow. While her injuries are painful they are not considered serious.

Wilkesboro Chronicle: On Saturday, Tom Tidline, colored; assaulted Annie McDaniel with a gun, and hurt her very badly, breaking the gun off at the breech. He thought he had killed her and was supposed to be trying to hide her, when but not fatally hurt. No arrest to date.

Reidsville Review: Alex Jones, near Haw river, while standing near a Haw river, while standing near a treshing machine the other day was caught in the machinery and had both bones of one of his legs fractured.—— Evangelist Schoolfield, of Danville, is conducting a highly successful revival at Leaksville this week. Great crowds attend the services.—The Review has wanted to keep the Democracy of this

Silver Coinage in India. LONDON, July 18.-In the House of Commons to-day Gladstone, in replying to questions asked upon the subject denied that there was artificial restriction of coinage of silver in India. The Austrian system, he said, was analagous to the new Indian system of coinage. The quantity of silver coined in India would not be regulated by the convenience of the Government, but by the wants of the country.

GYPSIES IN MOURNING. " The Prospective Queen of the America Tribes Cold In Death. The members of the gypsy bands throughout the United States are now disconsolate, and according to the story of one of their number they have good grounds for feel-ing that the hand of Providence has fallen heavily upon them. Only a year ago the pretty and popular queen of the tribes in America, Mrs. Young, died about two miles north of East St. Louis while paying a state visit to the camps of the Mississippl valley. The funeral took place in New Jersey, and at that time it was virtually decided that the next queen should be formally balloted for at Dayton, O., in Septemso that when the great meeting should finally take place, the work of electing the fittest and most popular would be accomplished in short order. There were many favorites from different states who were put forward by the leaders of the caravans, and all set to work with a will to gain votes from those who had the right to assist in the election. Some 22 women were put forward, and in the first roundup it seems that Mrs. Harrison, who was then stationed at Belleville, Ills., had the call. In fact, she was far ahead of any of her competitors, and it was but a question of confirmation that the vote should be polled making her the queen of the American gypsics. The tribe to which Mrs. Harrison belonged received congratulatory letters from different places and a few were sent from foreign lands, all expressing love and admiration for the lady who would soon have the privilege of riding in the golden chariot in which none but the queen dare set foot. But some time last fall Mrs. Harrison's firstborn took sick, and in a couple of days the baby was placed beneath the flowers in Green Mount cemetery, Belleville. From the day of the funeral Mrs. Harrison commenced to decline in health, and on Mon-day last she, too, breathed her last. Her deathbed was surrounded by many of the leading people of the tribes in Illi-nois, and it is said that the usual ceremonies attending such an event were carried out with the utmost precision and solemnity. The tent fires were smothered. The stakes were pulled up, and every vestige of camp life was removed from the place. The particular point at which the prospective queen died, however, was marked by a arge mound, which willing hands constructed a few moments after her death. The body of Mrs. Harrison will be placed in a vault in Bellefontaine cemetery for awhile and then transferred to the final resting place at Belleville. It is stated that the death of the lady will not effect a change in the date for holding the great convention next fall, but new names will be presented as candidates for the honor.-St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Concerning Our Pedigree. "Was he arboreal, and did he live upon fruit?" It has been suggested that he was riven from these mild ways by the cold of that unpleasant time when glaciers covered the earth. The trees died, and the fruits perished, and the ancestor, climbing down. began with rats and mice and finished with cannibalism to avoid perishing likewise. Also, he invented fire. Also, the cold made him use language. But this is rather an unsubstantial speculation, since Profess-Prestwitch, for instance, be there were men before the glaciers. At any rate he tells us that at Sevenoaks, in the very old preglacial "plateau drift" above the owns, he has found instruments of flint. It is not impossible that those beetle browed persons, the paleolithic men, the remote men who chipped out weapons of unpolished stone and knew the uses of neither cattle, clay nor corn, were less human looking than their skeletons would ead us to fancy. There is a hint in one rude scratching on a bone that they were thickly hairy. There is a remote chance yet-at least it is a pleasant fancy to entertainthat we with our own eyes may yet see this hairy ancestor of ours in the flesh. Every one has heard of the entire mammoth, skin and flesh complete, frozen up inside of a Siberian river and enduring to our days The flesh was so fresh that the dogs fell upon it and ate it without ill results. Now, these preglacial men of Professor Prest wich must have been contemporaries with those mammoths, and they may have ventured, too, since they hunted the mamnoth, into high latitudes. The discovery of a refrigerated ancestor is by no means mpossible.-Gentleman's Magazine.

Origin of a Famous Song. How "The Lost Chord," perhaps the most successful song of modern times came to be written is related by Mr. Wile by in a touching little story. Only a few months after Sir Arthur Sullivan had ac cepted the post of principal of the Nationa Training School For Music he received a severe blow in the death of his brother Frederick, whose talent as an actor is well Leave Wilmington. remembered. For nearly three weeks he watched by the sick man's bedside night and day. One evening when the end was rapidly approaching the sufferer had for a time sunk into a peaceful sleep, and as his faithful attendant was sitting as usual by the bedside it chanced that he took up some verses of the late Miss Adelaide Proc tor, with which he had some years previously been much impressed.

Now in the stillness of the night he read No. 52 runs through from Charleston via Central R. R. Leaving Lanes 8:44 a. m., Manning 9:90 a. m. them over again, and almost as he did so he conceived their "musical equivalent."

A sheet of music paper was at hand, and he began to write. Slowly the music grew and took shape, until becoming absorbed in it he determined to finish the song thinking that even if in the cold light of day it should appear worthless it would at east have helped to pass the weary hours, and so he went on till the last bar was added. Thus was composed a song of which the sale up to now has exceeded a quarter of a million of copies.-London News.

Official Etiquette. The requirements of official etiquette are well understood by the gentlemen who have had charge of the work of entertain-York. At one of the dinners given in honor of the distinguished guest a gentleman who is noted for his sportive humor stood at the threshold of the banquet room, and as the princess approached he bowed profoundly, and with a fine Delsartean wave of his hand toward the royal table said note of the merry jest for her book on America.—New York Herald.

Felt It In Their Bones. She-After you left me last night, George, papa put his foot down and said your st ntions to me must cease. I knew thi cruel blow was coming, for I've felt it in my bones all along. He-Yes, dear, I know it, for just as I was leaving he put his foot up and told me the same thing. I feel it in my bones still.
