WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 .- The State Departago. It came this morning by the regular mail from San Francisco, and with it came the reply of Minister Willis. Copies of the correspondence received from the Minister are being made at the State Department and will go to Congress as soon as they are finished, probably on Monday, and Mr. Willis' letter will be made public through that source. A package was also received through the San Francisco mail from Rear Admiral Irwin. It contained no interesting letters, being made up principally of copies of routine orders affecting enlistments, etc. Immigrant Inspector Deshler arrived here this morning from Key West, Fla. He made a detailed verbal report to Superinference, many Liberals and all the Radicals feel that the time is ripe to limit the power of the Lords to veto the decision of the Commons. No surrender of the Lords on existing issues is likely to modify the de-termination of these men to deal radically with the Upper House. As the Tories have perpetual control of the Peers, they hold and will hold the power to wreck all Liberal legislation. They have not hesitated to reject the Home Rule bill. They have made every effort to destroy the Employers' Liability and the Parish Coun-cils bills. They have already made their decrease of $2,787,436; fermented liquors, $18,565,568, a decrease of $313,343, and mis-cellaneous, $83,136, a desrease of $26,177. The aggregate receipts for January, 1894, were $859,709 less than for January, 1894. The full membership of the Democrats on the Senate Finance committee met early this morning in Senator Voorhees' room, and about 11 o'clock Secretary Carlisle joined them. Nothing has as yet become known as to Mr. Carlisle's errand. The Louisiana Senators still profess to be ignorant of the intentions of the committee regarding sugar, but reiterate their own in-tentions to fight the bill in case their wishes are ignored labama, moved that the House non-concur in the Senate amendments to the bill requiring railroads passing through Oklahoma to establish stations and stop their trains at town sites in Oklahoma, fixed by the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. Wheeler explained that there were two of these towns, one of which had a population of 5,000, at which the railroad refused to stop their trains, because, he said. for speculative reasons, the officials of the railsoad had purchased land near by and desired to build up towns thereon. The amendment made by the Senate provided for elections by the people of Oklahoma for the choice of county seats. Mr. Hopkins asked what objections there were to accepting the Senate amendments. Mr. Wheeler replied that one was that there was no machinery existing for such elections; and, again he contended that Congress had no right to pass a law regulat-ing elections for selections of county seats. Mr. Dunn asked Mr. Wheeler under what power Congress undertook to regulate the location of railroad stations in the Terri-Mr.

Mr. Gear and several other members asked Mr. Wheeler various questions, to which he responded that the matter was a conspiracy by officers, directors and stock-holders of a railroad corporation to crush out 5,000 people who had gone into the Ter-ritory and invested their money in the town sites fixed by the Department of the Interior at the invitation of the Government under an act of Congress.

The discussion drifted into a consideration of the corporation question, which Mr. Wheeler declared to Mr. Gear and other Republicans, amid applause and laughter, that the Republican party was a corporation party and always found supporting corpora-tions in their contests with the people. Mr. Wilson, of Washington, asked if it were not true that the Senate, which had made the objectional amendment to the bill against which Mr. Wheeler was protesting, was not a Democratic body, and its pre-siding officer, the Vice President, a Demo-

An offi-conception of the outcome of the committee's work, and only knew what he and his colleague would do in case sugar was left unprotected. The general impression at the Capitol was that nothing would be settled in the sugar schedule until Monday morning. Senator Voorhees, who yesterday declared that the bill would be ready to lay before the full committee on Tuesday, to-day de-clined to make any prediction or discuss the situation. How any definite result can be reached by the time designated does not seem clear. A prominent member of the Ways and Means committee of the House, who has the confidence of the Senate con mittee. and who has been with the mem bers frequently since the bill went to the Senate, said this afternoon that it would be absolutely impossible, at the rate the committee was going now, to report the bill for several days. to get it in shape again. It is altogether unlikely, even if the Democratic members of the Finance committee lay the bill before their Republican colleagues Tuesday, that they could get it into the Senate until the latter part of the week; for there will be strenuous objections to such haste and the Republicans might be able to postpone the report to the Senate for keeping a close watch on all the Anarchists here. The theory that Bourdin intended to blow up the Greenwich observatory is hardly tenable. An Anarchist outrage in London or elevencies in Eveland would seek from the committee, before the bill goes to the Senate, the reasons for the changes that have been made in the existing law. He will also want to make an argument against the proposed action of the committee and endeavor to persuade them to make some alterations. In this manner, courtesy alone preventing the committee from summarily dismissing the request of the Nestor of the Senate, some few days will be consumed. Collars and cuffs have been a fruitful source of discussion in the Senate, as they were in the House, and Senators Hill and Murphy have been besieged by delegations representing that industry at Troy. Sena-tor McPherson has also been importuned to take this industry under his care and assist in keeping up the present duty.
