Lively Debate in the House Over Placing Responsibility for Defeat of the Carlisle Currency Bill.

SENATE. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 .- The debate on

Senator Hill's amendment to the Urgent the constitutionality of the income tax, occupied most of to-day's session, and ended in the rejection of the amendment by an overwhelming majority.

Senator Vest's reminiscences of the events of the last session, while the Tariff act was hanging in suspense between the two Houses, were of considerable interest. He said he was largely responsible for the form in which the income tax provision now stood. He did not claim that it was perfect, or 'anything like perfect, but he asserted that its imperfec. tions were caused by the fact that, in the absence of rules in the Senate to close debate, the Finance committee was com. pelled to put the Tariff bill through under said, was clamoring for tariff legislation.

He was tired of hearing the ceaseless charges against the Tariff law and its defects-coming from those who knew the reason why those defects existed. Those who had charge of the measure had endeavored to make the income tax as unobjectionable as possible. There had been grave defects left in it, and it had been hoped that those defects would be reformed in the conference committee.

Senator Vest drifted into a discussion of the rules in reply to Senator Gorman's defense of them on Monday. He argued that on any political or financial measure it was impossible to force action, while, on other matters, any Senator might have almost any bill passed under "Senatorial courtesy." "When any Senator," said he, facetiously, "desires to pass a bill that does not excite sectional or partisan opposition, Senators sit in this contest was unanimous and that here like a lot of muscovy drakes, and Mr. Smith had refused to accept the certibow, in quack metre, to each other, and ficate, but is now chairman of the county then go, with solemn and stupid dignity to the routine business of the day. THE WIMBERLY TRIAL

The Condemned Murderer, Mills Testifies to Killing the Girl Under Instructions of Her Father-The Perty Trial.

[Special to the Messenger]

RALEIGH, Jan. 16 -The trial of Jack Wimberly for the murder of his young daughter Iana began to day.

George Mills, the dead girl's uncle, who was convicted of her murder and is under death sentence, was on the witness stand for a long time. He said he murdered his niece; that when it was discovered that the girl was about to become a mother her father said: "George you must kill her" and that her mother said: "George we have been very good to .vou and you must put her out of the way. Mills swore that Wimberly told him to take the girl to a deserted house and that if he returned and left her alive a worse fate would befall him; that he gave her laudanum, and when she became sleepy he crushed her skull with blows. He thought she was dead and went to Wimberly's house and told him so. Wimberly searched for blood marks on Mills and made another daughter wash them ,off. Wimberly and his family made plans to divert suspicion from Mills, and then sent about the neighborhood telling that Iana was lost, When she was brought back almost dead her father said: "She is not dead; Why did you not kill her as I told you?" Mills told a very straight story. He said he and Wimberly had both sworn | icals and Populists, until to-morrow at 10 o'clock. to lies and that when he was removed from juil to save him from lypchers he had told another lie in saying a negro woman had murdered the girl. In the Superior court here to-day the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree against Wyatt Perry, the slayer of Tom Baily. The verdict is popular. Perry was greatly relieved when it was announced. He Cities, Towns and Townships, Wilwill be given thirty years imprisonment.

The paragraph for salaries and expenses of ten additional revenue agents was amended at the suggestion of Senator Allison, so as to reduce the number to three, and by striking out the words "and to carry into effect the act imposing a tax on incomes."

Senator Hill offered an amendment providing that none of the appropriation should be used for the purpose of compelling a tax payer to make any return or to answer any question except as to the sources and amount of his gains, profit and income. Senator Cockrell said he would offer
