coinage's" probable answer to my questlon is just what I expected. It is the only plausible one and is only plausible, as I can show it will not stand the test of reason. By his system of exchanges England does pay India in silver for her cotton, but that does not prove that silver regulates the price of cotton, any more than that cotton regulates that of silver. Neither one regulates the price ham county will come here May 20th, on be made to believe that England fixes bales of cotton made in the United States, by what she pays silver countries them; she fixes the price of what she compared with her requirements.

I have shown that silver has not reduced the prices of corn, coffee. etc. Neither has it reduced the prices of sugar, leather, illuminating oils and other commodities that have declined as much and more than wheat and cotton in the past twenty years. Now here are some things that have greatly declined in price and others that have not Silver, therefore, has had no effect on them. Their prices have been regulated by that law of supply and demand. Speculation, inflation or other artifical causes may for a time interfere with law, but in the long run it is bound to prevail. Cotton that has been over-produced like leather, sugar, etc., the silver people say not by supply and demand has the price fluctu-ated. Oh no, the decline in sile cause of it, and the only reason silver has not depreciated corn, coffee, etc., is because they are not produced in England's silver using colonies like cotton. Now if wheat and cotton were the only leading articles which have gone down, there might be some force in that proposition.

Mr. Keith said "Mr. McQueen would have us believe that we have had free coinage since 1878," I did not say that or anything like it, but I do say that there has been coined and used in this country as legal tender money since 1877 fifty times more silver than there was in than ever before; only once or twice has the per capita circulation been a few cents more than it is to day. The mistake the followers of the silver agitators take the followers of the silver agitators for the return of Col. John W. Hinsdale make is in allowing themselves to believe that there has been a conspiracy to de-grade silver on the part of some people been the most favorable of the season. The the fact is silver has been depreciating for hundreds of years-it is true, more rapidly in the past two decades, because of the immense surplus produced, and if you will, because countres and governuse as money. But how can the people of this country help it or why should our Government undertake in the face of these inevitable conditions in the world, to make it worth sixteen to one of gold, any more than ten to one? A Canvass of the Textile Industries of the New England and Middle States as to the Condition of the Mills. Boston, Mass, April 29-The May number of the Home Market Bulletin, issued today, contains the result of a canvass of the textile manufacturers of New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as to the conditions of their business, which proves to be highly interesting. The answers were received from 481 establishments, about evenly divided among the States named and fairly representing city and county and large and small establish ments. These answers compare April 1893, with April 1895, and are summarized as accurately as possible in a table.

As to reductions and restoration of wages 185 of the 481 establishments did not reduce at all. Sixteen reduced and have partially restored; and 252 reduced and have not restored. the first authoritative statement on the subject was not made until to-day. Liverpool was weaker on the spot, but without notable change, and the sales were 12,000 bales; futures declined 1 point there, but recovered this and advanced 1 point, lost this and closed 1 to 1 point lower for the day with the tone quiet. A private Liverpool dispatch said there was a lack of buying power there to-day. New Orleans declined 4 to 5 points. but recovered part of the loss. A nember of a large Texas firm now here, says the crop in Texas looks well, and that though there may be a reduction in the acreage in some sections of that State, there will be an increase in others. Spot cotton here was quiet and unchanged, with sales of 87 for pinning. In Manchester yarns were strong, cloths dull. The Bombay receipts for the half week were 45,000 bales. The New Orleans receipts to morrow are estimated at 6,000 to 7,000 bales, against 5,019 last Tuesday and 1,425 last year. The Southern spot markets were generally quiet and un-changed. Wilmington advanced ic and Augusta &c. The port receipts were 9,360 bales, thus far this week 18,807, against 24,082 thus far last week. The exports from the ports were 4,568 bales to Great Britain and 50 to the Continent. The port receipts this week are estimated at 60,000 bales, against 42,000 last year and 51,000 in 1892.

It is true that Liverpool was quite irregular and closed lower: that the crop outlook in some parts of the South was reported more favorable, and that Liverpool, local and Southern operators sold here at one time pretty freely, but, on the other hand, it was stated that the rainall in the Atlantic States of late has been too heavy to be beneficial and the Continent sent buying orders, while in the later transactions there was considerable buying for local and Southern account Fall River was stronger. Prominent bulls here were good buyers of the distant months, though they are understood to have sold some August. The weather in Texas has cleared up. There was some effort to make capital out of a decline of 3-16d in silver in London and &c. here, and talk to the effect that there is danger of complications growing out of the treaty of peace between Japan and China, but the market here closed steady and practically unchanged, never theless.

At the meeting of the National mill weavers to-day, the decision centered on the question of a general lookout from all the mills. Chairman Small, in an address claimed that Charles Fletcher would hesitate a long time before he closed down all his mills, three of which manufacture yarn for mills all over New England. The weavers voted not to apply to the district council for sanction of the strike, but to refer the

THE TRIPARTITE PROTEST.

England's Attitude Toward Hawali -A Mail Steamer Sunk by a Russian Cruiser-Marriage of the Dowager Duchess of Marlboro-Comments of the London I'ress on the Situation in Nic-unfounded. Japan has not as yet officially replied to the joint note of protest lodged by the three powers. The Ministers of the powers mentioned are still inclined to take a pacific view of the situation.

Grey, replying to a question as to the terms of British recognition of the republic of Hawaii, said that official recognition of the Hawaiian republic was given by Great Britain upon the stability of the form of Government being ascertained. He knew of no precedent, he said, for the withdrawal of such recognition after it had been granted upon adequate knowledge of anteceden motion in connection with his question. VIENNA, April 29-A dispatch from Sebas topol says the Russian warship Penderakly of the Black sea fleet, collided at 3 o'clock this morning with the Russian mail steamer Kotzebu near Takinhut light house. The Kotzebu filled rapidly. Most of the passengers and crew were taken aboard the Penderakly, others were picked up after she went down. Five men sank with the ship and were lost. The warship was damaged below the water line. She is an iron vessel near twenty years old. London, April 29 - At 9 o'clock this even ing neither the Foreign Office nor the Ad-

The Palt Mall Gazette belittles the affair from all points of yiew, dismissing it with the remark that the object of Great Britain s merely to teach the little Spanish-American republic manners, not to harm her The memorial of President Zeelaya, lamenting the insignificance and weakness of Nicaragua as compared with England, the Gazette says, simply laughable.

The Globe calls attention to the opera bouffe aspect of the affair, the interjection of the Monroe doctrine into which accentu ates its ludicrous features. That doctrine says the Globe, never had any convincing or iding effect upon anybody except Monroe nimself and is not now, if it ever has been, an axiom of international law. The paper condems the bombastic utterances of cer tain irresponsible American journals and expresses gratification that in spite of them parties to such a convention would naturall act together only in certain matters. Seein that American and British interests i South America are identical and that England has no intention of making conques anywhere on the American Continent, there is no ground for American jealousy. It merely the desire of both powers to conduc their trade peacefully and both happen to be hampered by the anarchy prevalent in Spanish-America. England is disposed to to correct this if the latter is inclined to act in concert. Alliance in this direction would be stopped. It is understood that the work in this direction begun will be continued with Venezuela.

San Francisco, April 29-Durrant was arraigned this morning on the charge of mur-during Blanche Lamont. He listened to the reading of the complaint in the sam solid manner which has characterized him since his arrest. here is no desire on the part of the United States to quarrel with England over that presumed prohibitory doctrine.

The St. James Gazette, while regarding an alliance, offensive and defensive with the United States as preferable to a similar understanding with any other country, believes that a standing pact of such a character is a bad thing, inasmuch as both parties to such a convention would naturally be welcome. Further than this the St. James Gazette de lares in another article that Great Britain has taken the proper and only possible ac tion in the premises against an insignificant, insolent, impudent, arrogant and anarchical little South American republic. The bases of the trouble seems t be in this case, as in others, that these barbarian Governments rely upon United States protection; otherwise they Monroe doctrine has been the peg upon which they have hung their absurdities of speech and action. The idea that they seek to convey is that the American Government is ready to afford protection to every South American halfbreed who feels like robbing a European. "These fellows," the Gazette says in conclusion, "erroneously fancy that the electioneering bombastes furiosos of American journalism utter the sentiment of the Federal Government, but the insolence and aggressions of the Venezuleans and Nicaraguans and others of their kind, mus
