Following were the games played yester-Paristra, July 9,-Not a run was scored virtually won the game. In Pittsburg's half of the ninth Dofan Alled the bases on poor pitching and Nichols replaced him. Two sinules sent in two runs, and a base on balls profit filled the bases, but a wonderful onehanded stop by Long prevented further scoring. Pittsburg could not hit Dolan, while Duffy made half of Boston's hits. The second game was close and exciting throughout. Pittsburg winning in the tenth inning. Hawley pitched a great game, but was given rank support. Scores by Smith and Clingritan allowed the Bostons to tie the score in the seventh inning and a brace of errors in the ninth again enabled the visitors to make the score a tie. Pittsburg won in the tenth by hitting Nichols for three singles. The attendance was 4,800. Score:

OF THE LAST LEGISLATURE NOT RATIFIED.

Innumerable Instances of Legislative Proceedings Being "Doctored." Ohio Farmers to Settle a Colony in Pasquotank County.

MESSENGER BUREAU. RALEIGH, July 9.

To day Governor Carr had a letter from Mr. Isaac G. Moyer, of Cleveland Ohio, stating that the latter had purchased a large tract of good land in Pasquotank county, on which he and his partner, an Elizabeth City man, proposed to locate a large colony of Ohio farmers. He also sent the Governor a circular he had prepared and asked the Governor to endorse the plan. This the Governor did with much heartiness.

Will people ever get done talking about the last Legislature and finding out its errors of omission and commission? Here is a strange error of omission. The Speakers signed the "Machinery act," but they did not sign the Revenue act. The fusionists treated the Revenue act and the Machinery act as if they were one and the same. Hence the Revenue act is not complete. Is it legal? It is a question for the courts to settle. This was what was said at the office of the Secretary of State to-day. Theodore F. Kluttz, of Salisbury, came here yesterday to see about this matter. The Revenue act is not complete. What will be done in regard to it? Chapter 116 in the public laws is the Revenue act, and then come two other acts. Chapter 119 is the Machinery act. This is proof conclusive, if any were needed, that the Revenue act and the Machinery act are

Train Filled With Pilgrims Tele scoped by Another Train-Twenty or More Persons Killed and Many Wounded.

CRAIGS ROAD, Quebec, July 9-In the early hours of this morning there occurred an accident on the Grand Trunk road at the station here, that has seldom been excelled in horror by any similar event in Canadian railway annals.

A special excursion passenger train, rushing along in the darkness of the early morning, crashed into another train of the same kind preceding it, and killed-how many is not known at present-but some twenty people are believed to be dead, and the wounded are numbered in the vicinity of two score. At this writing the exact figures are impossible to obtain, nor can the full list of the victims be had.

The trains that came in collision were special excursion trains filled with pilgrims en route from Sherbrooke, Richmond and Windsor mills to Levis where they were to cross over to Quebec and proceed to the Shrine at St. Ane de Baupre, and were following one another with an interval of some twenty minutes between them. The forward train was making good time, having left Richmond at 10 o'clock the night before. On the rear of this train was a Pullman in which were the priests and others in charge of the party and it was in this car that most of the loss of life occurred. The first train reached this station, which is fourteen miles west of Levis, about 3 o'clock and stopped at the tank to take water. Due precautions were taken and the semapore thrown to danger against the following train. Only the trainmen were out and about attending to their Suddenly there was a great crash-the second train coming at full speed had dashed into the rear Pullman of the first section. So great was the impetus of the colliding train that the engine embedded itself in the palace car and the latter plunged forward and partially telescoped the first-class car immediately in front. Every berth in the Pullman was wrecked, and some of the occupants who were killed never knew what happened to them. They died sleeping. The work of rescue was begun as soon as possible. When the blinding cloud of steam had subsided, the trainmen e first class car and removed to temporary quarters where the women of the party ministered as best they could to left standing, since there was no reason the wants of the maimed pilgrims. They tore off their underclothing and made bandages for gaping wounds and tried in the absense of enough medical aid to go round, to staunch the flow of blood and properly cleanse the wounds. A force of doctors was sent out from Quebec and the wounded were placed on Maneuvers. Washington, July 9 .- Justice White, of the United States Supreme court, has allowed a writ of error in the case of the State of Mississippi vs. Charley Smith, who is under sentence to be hanged tomorrow. This will act as a stay against the execution until the error alleged can be investigated by the higher courts.

Reports of the final trial of the Olympia which reached the Navy Department today show that the vessel maintained a speed of nearly twenty knots in Saucelite channel for four hours on natural draught, which is greater than expected. The vessel was not forced in any way, accomplishing twenty knots with the greatest ease. The vessel was heavily loaded, nearly 900 tons displacement greater than on her contractors' trial. The Olympia is now at San Francisco. recruiting men for a three years' cruise. As soon as her complement of marines is full she will go to Mare Island for two weeks and then proceed to China to replace the Baltimore as flagship.

The lighthouse board of the Treasury

Department to-day made the following fficial announcement: The published statement that the experience with the temporary boring rame plant constructed a year ago or the Outer Diamond shoal, off Cape Hatteras, N. C., has been in any way discouraging to the establishment of a pernanent light there was unauthorized by the light house board and is contrary to the facts. The result of this experimen has been in every way favorable. The frame was placed there principally to make borings and determined the nature of the foundation. As was anticipated. it was found that the shoal is composed of sand to an indefinite depth.

for removing them and it was thought that observation of the effect of heavy seas on a structure of that character would be valuable. The lighthouse board is kept fully informed of the conditions of the beacon by regular reports from the keeper at Cape Hatteras, who is provided with a strong telescope for the purpose of observing it, and by reports also received from passing steamships. It is a fact that the beacons have been damaged by the sea, but it is re garded as most encouraging to the plan of establishing a permanent light that a temporary structure of this character should have stood over a year and weathered some violent hurricanes and be still far from entirely destroyed. However, the fact that it has been damaged, is a fortunate circumstance, since the nature and extent of this damage will afford valuable data as to the force and direction of the heaviest seas, and the form which the perms ent structure must take to resist them Another valuable piece of information lerived from this beacon is that there appears to have been no scour around it or shifting of the bottom, since, with all the damage it has sustained, it has not settled perceptibly. The plans for the permanent structure are being prepared as rapidly as possible by the lighthouse

Admiral Bunce has come to Washington to confer with Secretary Herbert regarding the programme for summer maneuvers of the North Atlantic squadron. NORFOLK, Va., July 9-A large crowd was in attendance when court opened this morning in the Massey-Pilot case. Before anything had been done, the jury was sent out of court. Judge Prentis then ruled out most of the deposition of Mr. Lovell, a book man of New York, its reason for ruling out the greater part of the deposition is that it relates to matters between strangers in this case-Lovell and Womack-by which Mr. Massey cannot be bound. The court in ruling out this Lovell deposition said plainly to the defense that the evidence does not show that there has been any criminal connection between Massey and Wo-The jury was then brought back and the defense called to the stand Mr. Sam W. Small, one of the defendants in this case. He was examined by Judge Heath, narrating his newspaper experience and saying that at the time of the publication of the Massey-Book company article, he believed the statement in the article to be true and believed that there was evidence that would establish the truth of the statements in said article. In the course of his connection with the Pilot he received letters calling his attention to school matters, and, having knowledge of the transactions of the American Book company, he was led to believe that the school books matter was worth looking into. Mr. Byrd prepared an article and sent it to the witness; when it reached the Pilot office, he (Small) pruned it till he thought it would pass muster and then he published it.

Questioned by Mr. Neely, of counse for plaintiff, Mr. Small admitted that he had not retracted in his newspaper the things he had published and which he had afterwards learned were not true. Mr. T. H. McCreary, of Monroe county, Ala., brother of Mrs. Massey, took the stand for the plaintiff's side just before adjournment, the defense having rested its case at the conclusion of Mr. Small's evidence, with the exception of a deposition from South Carolina, which has not yet arrived.

Paris, July 9-The Journal's corre spondent at St. Petersburg announces the discovery near Moscow of an extensive conspiracy against the Czar. The secret police, after tracing the conspiracy for over a month, have succeeded in arresting eight of the conspirators who include six recently pardoned Nihilists. The Czar has rewarded the chief of po-

HENLEY, July 9-The principal event of the regata to-day was the 'eight-oared race for the grand challenge cup, which is rowed in heats, the final one being decided on the last day of the regatta. The first heat was won by Trinity hall who beat the London rowing club by six lengths. The second heat was won by the Eton eight, who beat the Thames rowing club crew a length and a quarter. Then came the one of greatest interest both to Englishmen and Americans. The Cornell crew had drawn to contest with the eight of the Leander Boat club, which won the cup last year and were considered the strongest crew entered in the race. The wind was blowing strong off Berks shore which favored the Cornells, who had drawn a position on that side. Mr. G. S. Francis, the manager of the Cornell crew was unable to be taken on board the umpire's launch, which follows the boats over the course, as Mr. Willand, the umpire thought she was already filled. When Mr. Willand asked: "Are you ready?" the Leanders shouted: "No," but apparently Willand did not hear them, as he said: "Go," and the Cornells went off in good style.

The umpire's launch did not follow for some time, but as the Cornells showed whose deposition was read just before ad-journment yesterday. The court said ually followed them down the course, starting point. The Cornells, after rowing at a pretty fast pace for awhile reduced their speed until their stroke was little less than paddling. They occupied eight minutes and eleven seconds in going over the course.

The Cornell boys, of whom there was a large number present, ran along the towpath, cheering the men and filling the air with the Cornell cry, which was taken up by the Americans occupying houseboats along the course. The scen was very exciting.

In the meantime the Leander crew re mained at the post, declaring that they when the umpire asked if they were ready some one in the Leander's boat said "Yes," whereupon the umpire gave the word "Go," Almost at the same time the stroke of the Leanders shouted "No," "No." The Leanders, or part of them, at least, made a faint attempt to get away as the Cornells started, but it was evident that the crew had no intention of going over the course, though for what reason nobody can imagine.

and sustained the umpire in awarding the heat in the grand challenge race to Cornell. The drawing of lots for to morrow's heats in the grand challenge cup race resulted in the pitting of Cor nell on the Berks side of the course against Trinity hall (Cambridge) on the Bucks side, for the fourth heat, and Eton against New College, Oxford on respectively the Berks and Bucks side for he fifth.
