New York, January 30.-Seldom has the cotton market seen so dull and inextreme fluctuations have been within a range of about a dozen points, and while there was no lack of bullish influences, they have so far seemed powerless to arouse speculation from its unusual torpor. Today the Liverpool market was reported 1½-64d lower, and the opening here was at a decline of 2 points in consequence; but there was no pressure to sell and the light receipts induced some little buying which resulted in a recovery of the oss and a net gain of 1 point for the day being established. March opened at 7 cents, advanced to 7.05 and closed The long expected shrinkage of receipts has come at last. The bulls seem confident that it is due to exhaustion and must continue in increasing ratio. while the bears affect to believe that the lighter movement is attributable mainly to the weather conditions, and that receipts will presently swell to proportions approximating those of De- this being the third day it has been on Upon which of these two views the the course of prices in the immediate future. We, ourselves, basing our expectations chiefly upon the good deview and look for a gradually improving market as spring approaches, but will probably be subject to frequent, if not sharp set-backs, and we think our friends would do well to grasp whatever profits the fluctuations of the market may from time to time place within their reach

RIORDAN & CO. (By Southern Press.) New York, January 30 .- The Sun's cotton review says: Spot cotton here was unchanged, with sales of 140 bales for spinning. Middling uplands was 7 5-16c, against 81/4c last year; New Orleans and gulf 7 9-16c, against 81/2c last tions. The decline in Liverpool, both opening here, but on decreased estimates of the receipts at the ports and came firmer and prices advanced slightly. Part of this trifling improvement was lost before the close, howreceipts at the ports for the week are estimated at 110,000 to 115,000 bales against 140,300 last week. New York, January 30 .- The feature of the security markets today was the increased activity in bonds. Dealings 000 and prices moved up anywhere from 1/2 to 21/2 per cent. The inability to lend money at anything like paying rates accounts for the steady absorptions and advance in mortgages. The rise in onds led to extensive purchases for both accounts and the rallway and miscellaneous list scored material gains. London bought moderate amounts of the international issues and commission houses reported a little better in quiry for the leading specialties. The largest buying, however, was for the of covering short accounts Long Island led the list in point of advance, rising 3% to 52 on the announceto the syndicate had been completed. Rumors of an important alliance with the Great Northern or Northwestern are again revived. The Grangers were favorably affected by the rumors and moved up to the best figures of the week. In the ndustrials General Electric, Sugar and Gas were prominent. In regards to the latter (Chicago Gas) it was reported that the directors at their meeting Monday intend to declare another dividend of 11/2 per cent. The sharp recovery in wheat added stimulating influence, but the bank statement with its contraction in loans and increase in surplus reserve was ignored. Speculation closed strong with an advancing muency. Net changes show gains of 14 to 2 per cent. Total sales were 113,shares, including 22,900 Northern Pacific preferred, 8,000 St. Paul and 7.300 Sugar. The market for bonds was active and strong today and the sales aggregated $2,261,000, an unusually heavy total for a half holiday. Chicago, January 30 .- Wheat had a very active market within a 1c range of prices today. "Snorts" covered freely and in so doing afforded considerable strength to the situation. Several sharp bulges took place, but there were a corresponding number of weak spots. THE ARBITRATION TREATY

Amended By the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Ordered Favorably Reported to the Senate-Unexpected Opposition to the Treaty.

Washington, January 30 .- Every member of the senate committee or foreign relations, with the exception of Senator Turple, was present this morning when the committee convened a few minutes before 11 o'clock. The entire session was devoted to consideration of the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. Members denied themselves to several representatives who came over from the house, and refused to be disturbed. At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a vote was taken on the treaty, and a favorable report was ordered made to the senate next Monday, while certain amendments were reserved for submission to the senate when the subject shall come up. The most important amendment was that which added at the end of Article 1 the following "But no question which affects the foreign or domestic policy of either of the high contracting parties or the reations of either of the high contracting parties with any other state or power by treaty or otherwise, shall be subject to arbitration under this treaty except by special agreement." The second amendment strikes out all reference to his majesty the king of Sweden and Norway as the umpire, in case the court fails to agree upon an umpire in accordance with the provisions of Article 3 and Article 5. It was decided that the treaty should be called up in the senate at the earliest day possible. The question of its possible discussion in open session was discussed informally. It is understood that while the members of the committee believe that such a motion may prevail, if made, no member of the committee will initiate it. This motion, however, will find some votes in the embership of the committee. The vote on the final motion to reort the treaty to the senate as amendd was so close that it startled some of the friends of the convention who believed there would be practically no op-position to the amended treaty. When the roll was called the votes were cast as follows: In favor of reporting the treaty to the senate-Senators Sherman, Davis, Frye, Lodge, Cullom (republicans), and Gray (democrat).

Against reporting the treaty in the

NORTH CAROLINA KAOLIN.

The Great Superiority of This Mineral Product of Our State in Quality and Nature of Deposits-In Great Demand By First Class Potters-Taken From the State To Be Manufactured.

(Special Correspondence.) Raleigh, N. C., January 30. one of the cases at the state museum are many specimens of a substance which has the delicate whiteaess of flour. Against one of these masses leans a tender-tinted bit of percefain, a fragment of an egg-shell saucer. The white substance is kaolin, and the porcelain is made from it. Was it made in North Carolina? Why, of course not. North Carolinians prefer id dig out in the rough such things as their wonderful territory furnishes and send them away to be made up elsewhere and then buy the finished product. And so the kaolin is sent to New Jersey and there converted into porce ain. A few years ago there was talk of bringing Japanese here and developing the porcelain industry. Charles J. Harris is the "Kaolin King" of North Carolina. He was here the other day and talked most entertainingly of that substance. Kaolin, or china clay, is a white, putty-like substance which is used by potters in the manufacture of china and white granite ware. The early potters of America confined themselves to the use of almost any sort of pipe clay, and only attempted the yellow, or Rockingham china clay, or kaolin, was demanded, which led to the development of kaolin deposits in the United States, of a greater or less degree of whiteness. this the region of New Jersey, east ern Pennsylvania and Delaware fur-In the days of mica mining in North Carolina, which flourished most some twenty years ago, the miners of the mountain districts would sometimes run across a white substance, which, for want of a better name, they desiga mineralogist who came along prondunced it kaolin, and of a very high grade. For about seven years past the kaolin has been worked and used by the various potteries in the United States and has taken the place of the English clay formerly imported. The can potteries enlarged their line of de-velopment to white ware, a white

one of the true fissure veins in gold and silver mining. In New Jersey, Delaware, South Carolina and Florida the deposits of kaolin are sedimentary. In fact, this applies to all deposits in the United States. The deposits are in horizontal layers necessarily be and is whiter and purer the vein of kaolin changes back to undecomposed feldspar. The deepest deosit vet found, Mr. Harris' own mines. in Jackson county, remains soft to a depth of 150 feet. In most cases, however, from 25 to 50 feet is the limit of kaolin may have been known at an one of the first manufacturers of Eng-lish china, in the eighteenth century, buying a very fine grade of kaolin from "Virginia" at £25 per ton. North Carolina was then often included in the term "Virginia." The North Carolina kaolin has so far extent, the potter finds his wares ruined by innumerable black spots which the "firing," or burning in the kiln, is sure to bring out. While it is true that kaolin is found on almost any farm or tract, all over North Carolina mountain country most of these deposits are small kidneys, or pockets, containing but very little pure kaolin. A large deposit, such as it would pay to work in commercial way, is exceedingly rare, Mr. Harris says. As it requires the erection of quite an expensive plant to wash and prepare the clay for market such an outlay could only be warranted by a deposit which would last for several years. As yet, but few such deposits have been found. The North Carolina china clay has taken a very high rank with the high grade potters of America. It has nounced as good as the best English, French or German, in fact, it seems to

The Weekly Bank Statement. New York, January 30 .- The weekly statement of the associated banks shows the following changes: Reserve, increase $2,080,450; loans, decrease, $1,-573,000; specie, increase $550,500; legal tenders, increase $1,493,000; deposits, decrease $147,800; circulation, $368,300. The banks now hold $59,075,250 inexcess of legal requirements. The New York binancier says this week: The excess reserve of the New York city banks is now $59,148,250, or a sum approximately equal to the comhined capital of the members of the clearing house association. The amount is steadily increasing. The expansion for the week has been $2,080,450. The actual gain in cash by the banks ras $2,043,500, deposits having fallen off $147,800. There was on the other hand a decrease of $1,573,000 in loans, which shows the effects of the present congested money market at this centre. The policy of the banks until this week has been to refuse to lend money for less than 2 per cent., as many of them were paying that amount on balances, but if the present move to reduce in interest on bank accounts to less than this amount is successful the loans, which now go to the trust companies may be reflected in the bank statement. But aside from that feature, the liquidation in sterling exchange which was mentioned in this analysis last week, has operated to reduce loans since the closing of these accounts has necessarily canceled loans on sterling security. Just what proportion this liquidation has assumed is not known, but if the course of one foreign money market is such as to involve a larger closing of these accounts, the tile closing of these accounts, the rsoney thus thrown back on New York will only go to swell the amount of use-ess money at this centre. present situation is interesting, if unsatisfactory. There is no probability of relief in gold exports and the relief which government bond sales gave to the money market in the past will not be repeated. The accumulation of money will, therefore, have to seek an outlet in domestic expansion, and the rapid rise in the of government and gilt edged bonds shows that it is already seeking invest-There will be an end to this sooner or later and money eventually will go into legitimate enterprises

emarkable for Its Great Extent, Durgtion and Severity-Some of the Minimum Temperatures.

Washington, January 30 .- The folowing special bulletin was issued by the weather bureau this afternoon on the cold wave of January 23rd to 30th; The condition of extreme cold that has prevailed over the country during the past week has been remarkable for its extent, duration and severity. The temperature over nearly the entire United States, east of the Rock mountains has been greatly below the normal during the whole week, the deficiencies in some sections ranging from thirty to forty degrees for several days. Throughout the Ohio valley and the Lake region on the 25th and the Carolinas, central and northern Florida Georgia, Alabama and eastern Tennes see on the 28th and 29th, the minimum temperatures reported were lower than any previously recorded by the bureau during the last ten days of January. The conditions were especially severe throughout the southern states the line freezing temperature extending nearly to Jupiter, Fla., and the temperature as far south as the gulf coast falling to fourteen degrees below freezng and continuing ten degrees or more elow for several days. Following are some of the minimum emperatures occurring in the regions where the cold wave was most pronounced: On the 25th, degrees below ero: Chicago 20, Milwaukee and Sault Ste Marie 18, Indianapolis and Detroit 14, Cincinnati 10, Pittsburg 8. On the 8th, above zero: Tampa 30, Jacksonville 22, Mobile and Atlanta 6, Knoxville 2. On the 29th, above zero: Jupiter 34, Tampa 28, Jacksonville 22, Key West 50; below zero, Knoxville 4. The period of the cold weather was attended by a persistent condition of abnormally high barometer pressure, readings of 31.5 inches and above, the highest readings on record being reported from the extreme northwest. A storm that developed over Florida on the 25th and moved northeast along the Atlantic coast was an efficient factor in producing the low temperatures in Florida on the 28th and 29th. This storm developed great energy in its passage along the Middle Atlantic and England coasts, causing high wind and heavy snows in the Middle other states in the fact that they are states and New England. Boston reported about fourteen inches of snow. Northfield 9, Porland 9, Albany and New York city 10, Philadelphia 7, and Washington 5.

> Pay Confederate Officers for Property Taken From Them Washington, January 30 .- Mr. Cox (Tennessee) offered in the house today a bill which recites the circumstances of General Lee's surrender at Appomattox and the written guarantee that the artillery and cavalry officers of the confederacy should be permitted to retain their horses, side arms and baggage. After the surrender the federal oldiers despoiled the confederates of these effects and they were never returned to their owners. His bill appropriates $200,000 as a compensation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation of the proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the quartermaster representation for the proof th general.
