Of the Knife.

wites: "For six years I have been a ifferer from a scrofulous affection of the glands of my neck, and all efforts of physicians in Washington, D. C., Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis failed to reduce the enlargement. After six months' constant treatment her my physician urged me to submit to a removal of the gland. At this critical moment a friend recommended S.S.S., and laying aside a deep-rooted prejudice against all patent medicines, I began its use. Before I had used one bottle the enlargement began to disappear, and now it is entirely gone, though I am not through with my second bottle yet. Had I only used your S.S.S. long ago, I would have escaped years of misery and saved over $150. This experience is like that of all who suffer with deep-seated blood troubles. The doctors can do no good, and even their resorts to the knife prove either fruitless or fatal. S.S.S. is the only real blood remedy; it gets at the root of the disease and forces it out perma-

(Special to The Messenger.)

New York, February 13.-The week loses with cotton at the lowest price t has reached in many months. While he brokers here were enjoying their holiday yesterday the markets of the world were marking down their values, and we were confronted this morning with a staggering decline of 41/2@64d in the Liverpool market, since the close on Thursday. A rush to sell was the result here and our opening was 11 to 13 points lower. May selling with some slight uneasiness over the political situation in Europe, was largely responsible for today's drop in prices. The bears contend that cotton as only begun to go down. They pretend to believe that the crop has and still is largely overestimated and they lay great stress upon the apathy, with which the speculators of the world regard the apparent cheapness of the price of cotton. They clinch their arruments by pointing to the indications that planting will be conducted on an stence still of an immense long interest which will be forced when the mag itude of the step is finally realized, to iquidate at still lower prices. The ulls while sorely tried by the baffling all their hopes, are still stout in heir assertions that this decline has been unwarranted, that it has been aused by short sales and by the liquidation of a large number of tired holders. They assert that the movement will yet prove that the crop is not a very big one, that the better business at the New England manufacturing centres and the better outlook for general trade will not fail of its legiti-mate effect, in time, and while they admit that speculation is almost en-irely absent from the cotton market at the moment, they predict that there will be lack of it at the first sign of an advance. The fall months were an

It is believed that with the executive session of this afternoon, Senator erman will cease to press the consideration of the convention and permit other legislative business to have the right of way.

After an hour and a half spent in disussion, the committee this morning framed an amendment along the lines indicated in the dispatches of the Southern Associated Press. It is based upon the amendment of which Senator Morgan gave notice, and puts into language the interpretation placed upon he convention by Senator Turple. It provides that all subjects to be submitted to arbitration under this general reaty must be submitted, after the nanner and in the form provided for he submission and ratification of treaties originally. This removes the objections aimed at the treaty by Senator Morgan and others, to the effect that the submission of all subjects to arbitration under the treaty, as now worded, would be left entirely to the president. If it is amended as suggested by the committee's action of this morn-Bowye, New York, Geo. Harriss, Son ing, only such matters as have been agreed to by the full treaty making power of the United States-the president and the senate acting jointlycan be submitted to arbitration.

The power to negotiate and conclude reatles in Great Britain is lodged enirely in the crown and is exercised for the crown by the premier. There has been no suggestion that the British treaty-making power has been changed by the terms of this treaty, and Senator Turple's contention was that in like manner the full treaty-making power of the United States was to si in judgmen't upon all subjects that were sought to be taken before this high tribunal of arbitration. The sen ate did not agree with Senator Turple in his interpretation, but found the easiest way to a possible solution of the problem confronting it, in giving expression to that interpretation in the text of the convention. With such an mendment the treaty is safe-guarded absolutely, and the friends of the intrument say there should not be a disenting vote in ratifying it, for the reaon that every question would then ome up before the existing senate, as an original proposition. The action of the committee in adopting the amendment did not bring about harmony. On the contrary, the more he whole subject was discussed. the nore evident it became that the differnces were irreconcilable. Senators used to consider the treaty in a favor able light even after they had voted for the amendment. They opposed the supreme court and of Mr. Shiras, who The movement for the week was sur- convention on general grounds and could not respond, to the gentleman said it was impossible for them to be lieve that the country would be bene fitted by its ratification, at the presen time, at least. They refused to lister to the pleading of Senator Sherman and his associates and declined to even admit that the amendment had accom plished what had been sought.

SENATE. Washington, February 13 .- The senate today, without question and without a moment's consideration, passed a joint resolution introduced by Senator Perkins, to have a naval vessel placed at the disposal of the San Francisco chamber of commerce to transport wheat and corn contributed by Califor- $6,324,200. an inquiry into the issue of land patents on what is known as the Perrine grant in Florida. This was an old claim which the late secretary of the interior, Mr. Smith, refused to recognize, but which the present secretary has recognized: and as the Perrine in question is related by marriage to the president of the United States, an interest in given to the inquiry which it might not otherwise have. An effort was made by Senator Morgan to have the business of the morning hour continued so that he might address the senate on the joint resolution introduced by him yesterday for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. Senator Sherman, however, insisted on a motion to proceed to executive bus iness, and a majority of the senate sided with him. And so, at 12:30 o'clock, the senate resumed, behind closed doors, the consideration of the arbitration treaty, and at 4:45 o'clock p. m., adjourned till Monday. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. General debate on the sundry civil appropriation bill gave opportunity for several speeches upon radically different topics, ranging from the policy f river and harbor improvements to Cuban independence. The house plunged at once into considration of the measure, it having been taken up for a short time Friday afternoon. The largest single item in the bill is the appropriation for works in continuation of the improvement of rivers and harbors amounting to about $16,000,000, and the river and harbor system naturally came in for a large share of discussion Mr. McMillin, responding to a statement by Mr. Hopkins that under republican administration of the McKinley law, it produced revenue sufficient to meet the expenditures of the government with a surplus beside, criticised the decision of the supreme court which made the income tax feature of the Wilson law ineffective. he said, "the whole court ought not to suffer from the action of one man. down the constitution, uprooted the decisions of 100 years and destroyed the power of the government to tax the wealth of the country was ways be remembered in connection with that reprehensible and ever-to-becriticised decision." To this Mr. Grosvenor replied. He said he should leave criticism of the to let the gentleman have the full benefit of the proposition that the McKinley law was inadequate as a revenue raiser and that the Wilson law was a splendid production. That would strike he country as something remarkable. raged by him.' He would go further, Mr. DeArmond said, and charge that the crime of the hour was that the power of the judiclary was not more strictly limited. There was a sentiment in the house and senate both, which tended to minimise the power of the legislature and to secure additional power to the executive and to the supreme court. There was every reason why the legislative power should be strengthened, that it might nore properly represent the people and why that of the executive and the courts should be restricted. and impassioned appeal for intervention in behalf of the Cuban revolution

Mr. DeArmond closed with a fervid ists. If asked upon what ground the intervention should be made he would say that it should be done upon the high ground that this nation of .--men, sons of freemen, sympathized with the efforts of those near our shores to become themselves freemen. The Cubans, he said, had been lured into the rebellion by the people of the United States. Every wind from this shore carried to them messages of sympathy and support. He had hoped that this administration would respond in some suitable way to the swelling sentiment of the country in favor of the Cubans and his hope now was that the incom ing administration would put itself in harmony with the overwhelming de-sires of the people. "Had the election last November resulted in the elevation of that matchless leader William Jennings Bryan (Loud democrat aplause) to the presidency, I have no doubt that American sentiment would have been fully and promtly carried into effect upon his accession to

Mr. DeArmond with usual vigor denounced the condition of affairs in Cuba as shameful and a disgrace upon vivilization, and to the self-imposed nquiry: "What' shall we do?" responded: "Do anything that will put a stop to the outrages; do anything that we ought to do, or have a right to do. Why should not the government, representing the people, say that it would never see the flag of Spain floating over the island, but that it would see the flag of free Cuba float there forever." (Applause.) What caunet be done by the slow process of law should be done by the sharp edge of the sword." plause). Mr Cannon gave notice that he would try to pass the bill Monday under suspension of the rules. At 5:25 o'clock the house adjourned.

ing house banks, coming after the premakes the total contraction for the past fourteen days $8,509,825. In the same time, the decrease in cash was time nearly $11,000,000, but the excess reserve of the banks is still $51,638,225, and the outlook for better rates in the situation at present is the rapid contraction of circulation. The decrease to the present time, counting October, has been about $4,000,000, and, as the normal average of the New York banks slightly under $14,000,000, a further re duction is to be looked for. The move the reason that the $3,000,000 monthly limit on circulation decreases by the treasury has been reached. The changes n the statement for the week are indicative of better business. Loans have increased $2,854,000. The loss in cash was $3,123,500, and deposits contracted $886,700. While some of these changes ordinarily would not be important they are worthy of attention at present as revealing a lighter movement of The falling off is probably not much on account of the low rate of interest on balances, as because of a renewed demand for loans in other quarters, and this, of itself, is rather important. The woman with the headache is a creature to be pitled. Generally she couldhelp it if she would, for a headache is simply nature's revenge for some crime against it. It comes usually from overeating, undereating or irregular eating, which causes indigestion Everybody knows that the man who and gases in the stomach cause pressure on the brain, and that causes the very worst of headaches. The most trying time for a sick person is between the hours of 1 and 4 in named Shiras, and his name should al- the morning. Vitality becomes diminished, and the strength should therefore be fortified as far as possible with some strong food, either soup or egg, or milk, about midnight. Nature takes the time when one is lying down to give the heart rest, and that organ consequently makes ten trokes less a minute than when one is in an upright posture. Multiply that by sixty minutes and it is 600 strokes Therefore in eight hours spent in lying down the heart is saved nearly 5.000 ounces of blood with each stroke it lifts 30,000 ounces less of blood in night of eight hours spent in bed than the blood flows so much more slowly through the veins when one is lying down, extra covering is needed to supply the body with the warmth usually furnished by circulation.
