The high hat nuisance is again the cause of much complaint by the theatre goers. At the late performances at the opera house several gentlemen got behind some ceiling scraps and their result was they lost all the religion they ever had. In this day of civilization, why hats at the theatres? Many suffering males would like to see some reform along this line inaugurated in Wilmington.

THE FRUIT GROWERS AND TRUCKERS.

The directors of the East Carolina Fruit Growers and Truckers' Association met at Wallace on Tuesday to discuss the question of the appointment of a shipping master and the establishment of a central office in Wilmington.

The meeting was called to order by President W. L. Hill, of Wallace, and Mr. J. Henry Moore, of Burgaw, was elected secretary.

The roll of directors was called and the object of the meeting was fully explained by the chairman and Mr. S. Westbrook, of Faison. It was explained that it would be advantageous to employ a shipping master with a central office at Wilmington and that his duties be to superintend shipments from the various stations, to look after the condition of shipments, to see that the goods are properly packed and posted on the markets and advise as to the distribution of shipments to the various markets.

The question was then thoroughly discussed, and on motion, it was decided to employ a shipping master and establish his office at Wilmington.

Mr. G. W. Westbrook, of the New Hanover association, called attention to the necessity of reasonable rates for the shipment of fruit from the northern market. On motion the president was empowered to look into the matter of rates at once. Also to see about rates to local markets.

Mr. McMillan, of Magnolia, spoke of the advantages of a train on Saturday evenings for the benefit of the truckers along the Wilmington and Weldon railroad. On motion Messrs. W. L. Hill and G. W. Westbrook were appointed a committee to wait on the railroad authorities with a view to getting the Saturday evening train put on during the shipping season for strawberries.

As to the matter of sheds at the railroad for the benefit of shippers, Mr. J. S. Westbrook, of Mt. Olive, reported that they had got from Mr. J. R. Kennedy, of H. & R. S. Tucker & Co., of Raleigh. The display of rugs and carpets are superb, and they are offering special advantages to those who give orders to their salesman at the fair.

A balloon ascension was the best yet, in that it took up two parachutes and two persons or what might be styled a double parachute leap. The races were good and some very good time was made.

Tomorrow (Thursday) is likely to be the great day of the fair of 1897.

The entering wedge of a fatal complaint is often a slight cold, which a dose of two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. Therefore, it is advisable to have this prompt and sure remedy always at hand to meet an emergency.

He Blames Society for Being a Thief. Atlanta, February 24.-O. H. Smith, cashier of the Georgia Savings and Banking Company, who is in jail for embezzling $10,000, says his effort to keep up the gait of a swell in society here caused him to go wrong.
