New York Stock Market.

New York, April 24 .- The dullness of the trading continued today and the market sagged from inanition. The lower prices of American securities on the London exchange gave the tone to the opening here, where prices of the international shares promptly adjusted themselves to the London parity, except in the cases of Reading and Southern preferred. These two stocks were an exception on the London exchange in showing fractional gains over the New York closing; but New York declined to adopt the London view of them and they sold here at a decline about proportional with the other internationals. Advices from the European exchanges indicate a more serious view of the war than has been taken since the first trading on Tuesday after the Easter holidays and the outbreak of hostilities. The decline in the internationals was in consonance with the rise in wheat, consistently with, Wall street's new principle of counting hurtful to stocks what is beneficial to grain prices. For the rest the features of interest in the day's market were exceedingly scarce and were confined to peculiar conditions affecting particular stocks.

The bears attacked Missouri Pacific with renewed stories of financial difficulties and probability of a receivership. Consolidated Gas was affected by the continued agitation for legal restriction of the price of gas to $1, and fell 2 points, without rallying. The course of the stock market during the week might be summarized as an extreme decline on Monday on the first trading after the news of the actual outbreak of war on the Macedonian frontier. A rally carried prices above the level of the previous Saturday and succeeding stagnation, which showed little variation and transactions reduced to the smallest proportions. So far as any general influence on the market was concerned, interest has centred entirely on the war news.

Aside from the war news, the factors in the market were not important and were confined to individual shares, except for a squeeze of shorts in the Coalers, which was a purely manipulative movement. The more prominent railway shares show a fractional net gain on the week, although the slump of Monday and subsequent recovery and final reaction has covered a range running from a fraction to 61/8.

The railway and miscellaneous bond markets ruled fairly active during the week, with a quife general business transacted in the usually neglected issues in which noteworthy variations were mainly registered. Prices were curred in the bid quotations for the gilt edge liens.

Egerton, the brilliant young divine, left last Thursday for Cleveland, Tenn., where he will have charge of the First Baptist church.

Raleigh News and Observer: The loss to the state of North Carolina by the cold snap this week has been very great, espepecially along the seaboard, where truck is grown, and in the Piedmont section, where fruit is grown. The frosts have been among the heaviest ever known, and ice to considerable thickness has formed in many places. As a result of this, early vegetables-beans, peas and potatoes-have been set back some fifteen days, and the damage to fruit-peaches, pears and grapes-is considerable. Those who are in a position to make an estimate say that the damage will foot up $1,000,000 or more. It will, however, be several days before the full extent of the damage can be ascertained. Reports come from all sections of the state of great damage to fruit and early vegetables by the recent frosts and cold nights.

It will be a long time before all the people will understand why it is necessary for the governor of North Carolina to employ a number of lawyers and pay them large fees cut of the public treasury to assist him in running the state government. There are those who are condemning the tax for education has some unpleasant features. For our part, we are in favor of taxation for education, from the tax to support the humblest school in the backwoods to a tax to support a university. We hope to see the entire public school system made better and a tax sufficient to support a splendid public school sys-tem levied and that tax judiciously ex-

He watched the course of legislation more narrowly perhaps than any man in the house, was especially suspicious of bills carrying appropriations, and his frequent "I object" earned for him the title of "The Great Objector." He had more of the characteristics of Nathaniel Macon than any man who has been in public life in recent years. He was a good old man, a faithful democrat and faithful public servant; and, dying, has a long list of good deeds as credits on his general account .-- Charlotte Observer.
