One week ago today, Mrs. Gaumer was ome in this city, near the court house. Irs. Gaumer was prostrated. She felt the disgrace and requested her son to an-nounce that she was assaulted for robbery. It was given out that Mitchell attempted to force her to sign a check for $500. But as Mrs. Gaumer's condition became more serious the facts became anown, and also that the negro was afflicted with a loathsome disease. Mitchell was first held for robbery, but on last Wednesday he was arraigned for criminal assault. Mrs. Gaumer was unable to appear in court, and the hearing was held at her home. As Mitchell entered her room she raised up in oed and exclaimed: "The brute, hang him. How "The brute, hang him. How dare you face me again, you brute? day there was talk of lynching. Crowds returned an indictment for criminal assault. Mitchell, disguised in a soldier's was brought last night from jail into court. He waived the reading of the indictment, pleading guilty, and was promptly sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary, the limit for criminal assault. The trial was over before 9 o'clock last night, when an attempt was made to take Mitchell to Columbus on the train at 10 o'clock p. m., but the crowd were about the court house and jail, and when the carriage drove up, the crowd made a rush for the jail. The military drove them back, but the crowd soon increased n fury as well as numbers, so that Sheriff McLean and the troops had all they could do to hold the jail, and the trip to Columbus was given up before the de-parture of the last train. It was 1:30 made on the jail. The soldiers opened fire on the mob, and twenty volleys were poured into the advancing crowd. Four were killed and ten wounded. The attack-

dead and injured infuriated them and the crowd soon ranied. The final attack on the jail was made at 7 o'clock this morning. The local com-pany, which did the shooting, had been on sent to Governor Bushnell for reinforce-ments. He ordered a company from Springfield to the scene and they arrived before 7 o'clock. Mayor Ganson met the soldiers and sent them back to the depot, saying that they were not wanted. The local company was also withdrawn from the fail about this time. "I will give you three minutes to disperse. If you do not do so I must fire."

The crowd in general believed that Sheriff McLain had already ordered the troops to fire and they dispersed. But when the attack was renewed, on the rear dood of the jail with sledge hammers, the firing took place and the crowd dispersed, leaving their dead and wounded. It was after 3 o'clock when Sheriff McLain telegraphed Governor Bushnell exhibition in the city of Panama, of goods manufactured in the United States, which could be examined by those of all the western coast of Central and South people are greatly excited over the affair. Senator Butler declared that if this question of income tax could not be presented to the people, then it was ime they should know it in order that they might adopt the remedy of a constitutional convention to right existing wrongs. Senator Butler had no sooner started than he was involved on a lively colloquy with Senator Cullom, of Illinois. The North Carolina senator referred at the outset to recent supreme court decisions on the income tax and on the anti-trust law. He added an expression of surprise at the indecent haste with which the pooling bill was being urged before congress, immediately after the decision of the supreme court on 'the anti-trust law. This aroused Senator Cullom, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, now considering the pooling bill, to a spirited reply. The senator from North Carolina was making statements about which he knew nothing, said Senator Cullom. The pooling bill had been supreme court decision and it sought to strengthen the inter-state law. He resented the statement of "indecent haste" and said such a characterization was a misrepresentation of facts. Senator Chilton, of Texas, another nember of the inter-state commerce ommittee, here took a hand in the controversy, joining issue with Senator Cullom. He said he had been on the committee for two years and he had never known of the pooling bill being pressed until after the recent supreme court decision against railway pooling He differed in toto, he said, with the chairman of the committee, that the pooling bill sought to strengthen the aw. He would, he said, insist on the consideration of a measure authorizing an inome tax, before any pooling bill was brought before the senate. He declared that the pooling bill was in the nterest of the most gigantic trust in existence, compared with which all other trusts are pigmies. The senator then spoke on the merits of an income tax. He pointed out the inequalities of our present system of taxation and declared that the tariff bill, when enacted, would impose its burdens on 98 per cent. of poor people who were least able to bear it, while it benefitted the 2 per cent. of those who did not need

Several avalanches fell from one of the high glaciers, and occasionally rock avalanches thundered down from the summit of Hocksteller's Dome to the glacier below, a distance of fully 5,000 feet. The Whymper glacier, hitherto unexplored, proved very interesting. New glaciers and waterfalls were discovered, and also hot springs, which emitted a strong smell. The scenery surpassed expectations in its great beauty and grandeur, and there was more variety than on the eastern slopes of the Alps.
