WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1897 PORTER, TRENT, BURGESS, THE SOUTH.

We clipped a paragraph from The Charleston News and Courier relative to what The Messenger said of Rev. Dr. Porter, but it has disappeared some how. As we recall it, Dr. Porter is not gime can possibly have any good opinion of Trent's philippics. He ought to be asked to resign from the place he If he and the Texas professor, (Hudson, is it) would go to New-England and join Cable and Page they could set up a little school of political historical discovery, literary scalping and Biblical disgust quite after their own hearts. It would be too much a relief to the south while bringing pleasure and satisfaction to the in-were witches. Dr. Porter is entitled to a speedy correction of a suggestion of The Messenger as to his views of Trent. We saw Trent's rhetoric or to adopt any of his perversions of the truth of history. Since writing this we lay our hand on the editorial in The Charleston News and Courier containing Rev. Dr. Porter's letter. He writes:

greatly persecuted under the belief they

"Knowing me as well as I think you lo, you might have spoken with authority. It is a matter of regret and surprise to me that Professor Trent is retained at Sewanee; but having entire confidence in the patriotism and intelligence of the board of trustees. I am willing to wait until they give their constituents the reasons why. The contingent from South Carolina in the theological department is large. * * They probably may give some account of the situation and indicate whether the subject will be agitated at the next meeting. Doubtless the feeling, will tend to lessen the patronage from this state if Professor Trent is permitted to hold his position.'

Goldsboro, of East Carolina Council, a resolution was introduced by Colonel William L. DeRosset, of this city, looking to the removal or resignation of Professor Trent. We believe it passed unanimously. The Messenger from its first knowledge of Professor Trent, when he published his unfortunate life of William Gilmore Simms, of South Carolina, conceded his cleverness as a writer-that he was very bright and young Virginian is that he is born of out of place. He ought to have been born in New England and been contemporary with Wendell Phillips Charles Sumner, the abolition poets and essayists. It is a case of misfit, His environments provoke the young scholar, and as he studies American history under the tutelage and influence of the extreme abolitionist, Von Holst he finds his young soul all aflame with indignation and hatred of the people among whom unfortunately his destimies were cast. He ought to do as George Barrington's "patriots" did. Said one:

"True patriots all: for be it understood, We left our country for our country's good."

We stop parenthetically to note, that these well known lines are not the original words. In Farquhar's "Beau's Stratagem" you will find it. It reads-T'was for the good of my country that I should be abroad."

The News and Courier is hopeful as to this latter-day Trent matter. It

"No one has questioned Mr. Trent's cleverness as a lecturer or his ability as a teacher. He has supreme confidence in himself and supreme contempt for the south and its civilization and The debate has only begun. There is history. As Bob Toombs said of Henry | sufficient time remaining to bring out Grady: 'Facts embarrass 'him,' and all the damning facts of which the cein the light of what he has written and | ment paragraph is only one, both those spoken he is not a fit person to be | that are concealed and those that are

'It's an ill of it." bird that fouls its own nest,' but Mr. Trent's exercises of this nature will not materially affect his standing among some of the representatives of higher historical studies in certain northern schools.'

It will no doubt be a wise step on the part of the trustees of the university of the south in Tennessee if they would inform the aggressive and very knowing young professor that his resignation would be acceptable. For, as The News and Courier puts it strikingly-"The question that the trustees of the university of the south should consider, however, is not what is to become of Trent if he should leave Sewanee, but what is to become of the university of the south should Trent stay at Sewanee." Whenever a president or a professor in a literary or theological institution of learning finds himself out of touch with the people and patrons it is best | congressional elections and in the next for him to vacate his place. Since then the great work of Dr. Bledsoe has been published, and President Davis, Vice President Stephens, Rev. Dr. R. L. Dabney, Rev. Dr. Boggs and other able historical students have published their views. In addition the events following the war, the usurpaions of the federal government, the nvasion in peace times of states by armed troops-these and other abuses and abominations have served to concause of 1861, for which the patriots so grandly fought, was the cause of right, of honor, of liberty, of second independence. -a veritable second war of independence-has no doubt as to where the advantage lies; that the south had incomparably greater cause for its course than the colonies had; that the burdens and outrages were mountain high as compared with those visited upon the colonies of Great Britain. The thirteen colonies fought upon the sound principle that taxation without representation was tyranny. Great Briain sought to levy a tax of tuppence a pound on tea, The colonies revolted. While not one in fifty of the people had ever tasted any of the tea that was to be taxed in all their lives, their tea-drinking being strictly of the sassafras and yeopin kind, but they said we will not be taxed unless we have a hand in levying it. We may not buy a penny's worth in a life time, but Great Britain shall not dare to say we shall be taxed. TARIFF TINKERING 'AND PROM-

Here is a nice illustrative item in tariff tinkering by the republicans. The tax on Portland cement in the present high tariff is 32 cents a barrel. The leading American manufacturers all agree that there should be no advance in price, that it is high enough. Mark that. What do the republicans in the senate propose to do about it? They recommend an increase of 12 cents per barrel, making the new tax 44 cents nstead of 32 cents. And that in the face of the protest of manufacturers against an increase. What rascally eagerness to do wrong! It is not surprising that the senate debate waxeth warmer, more earnest. The democrats are showing fight. The New York Evening Post says: "It is gratifying to observe that as the lebate on this bill of monstrosities goes on the opposition of the democrats becomes more pronounced. Senators Jones, of Arkansas, Vest and Caffery, have really warmed up the subject charged with the training of southern avowed. For the purpose of assisting in the exposure the Reform Club "There need be no fear that Mr. Trent has opened a bureau at Washington,

> The war should be waged at every step and the villainous robber scheme should be branded and exposed at every turn. Item by item let the light be turned on. The present attempt of the old vicious party has never been equalled before in our annals for its venality, absurdity, wilful wrong-doing and surrender to trusts and robbers. The republicans are risking their all this time on passing a tariff that will give satisfaction to the capitalists and manufacturers. They are playing a desperate game of robbery. The New York Rochester Herald, a republican paper, like some others, sees that its party is staking everything on its fight > for a robber tax. It says: "If the predictions of its leaders are not verified, it is doomed to disaster. If the improvement is not both substantial and lasting, the republican party will be terribly punished at the next national contest; and the defeat of the republican party will signalize at least the temporary abandonment of the gold standard."

> But we all know how about the "pre-dictions." During the last four years

"Mr. McKinley's election was followed by the starting up of some mills, revival came, no increased demand for ufactured goods materialized, and the mills that started up or increased output, finding no market for their products, have been obliged to curtail production, if not to shut down, to let the demand catch up with the supply. So, lasting prosperity did not come with the election of Mr. McKinley and the fourth of November, fulfilled, and our people suffered disappointment. This promise of early But the fourth of March has come and gone, and still the promised prosperity is in the distance. And now we are told to wait in patience until the passage of the tariff bill. When that bill is passed and prosperity does not come we know not what we will be told to wait for. We do know that the disappointment and impatience of our people will grow as one time after another

He admits that the people are growing very impatient, but he throws out a rainbow of promise across the darkened, lowering sky and tells the country-Behold, the good times are near at hand, make glad your hearts, colors in the rainbow of his promise may soon fade and disappear in the gathering gloom like other prismatic colors that have glared for a little while and were swallowed in darkness. The light of restored prosperity, has not "yet broken from under ground" and thrown its dawning gleams upon Another instance of the incapacity of the radical party is found in the straightened condition of the penitentiary filled with Its friends. There is great need of funds, piped the new superintendent. There is no appropriation of contingent funds quoth the state treasurer. And then Loge Harris stepped to the footlights and exclaimed-A law was passed to that effect. Oh that seething, simmering kettle of fish!

Have you seen The Messenger's Sunday edition of twelve pages, close type, packed columns, and with excellent matter? It has no equal in North Carolina, and has never had. An examination of the last three issues cannot fail to awaken surprise and bring graltification. And then there is the excellent Semi-Weekly-very choiceeight pages, sent twice each week and for the 104 numbers only one dollar. Think of that ye observing and then say what other office in North Carolina ever gave so much that is good for The Messenger does not concern itself much with the doings and sayings of the two senators from North Carolina, Senator Pritchard, the Tennessecan, is opposed to the tobacco tax, and instead proposes to "impose a license of $4 on each retail dealer so we can raise about $4,000,000. Such a tax would be very slight, but it would be most equitably distributed, and could be easily collected." It is a wrong to put a tax on a smoker or chewer, but right to tax the dealer who furnishes the luxuries. It is pure sentimentalism to worm or twist as to taxing smokes, drinks, chews, etc.

THE RADICALS DEMORALIZED

That is very cheering news about North Carolina that comes by way of Washington, D. C. A special to The Richmond Dispatch of the 5th instant is bracing. It is to the effect that the old rotten, corrupt, vicious, devilish radical thing in this state is literally going to pieces-that it is thoroughly demoralized. Oh, that it may be so. How long! how long! It was mean and low in 1868-70. It is, if possible, more devilish and venal now. It is a positive stench in any decent white man's nostrils. The fellows in control have gone to work as if bereft of reaon as well as feeling. They ha hardly struck a blow that was not aimed at the good of the state-its peace, can Philadelphia American of the 5th rotten hulk look at this city and then instant says of the repeated promises hold your nose. The dispatch from Washington says:

"According to visiting North Carolina republicans, the republican party wners or managers trusting in in that state has reached the stage promises of trade revival. But no of disintegration. The disposition of the Raleigh and Charlotte postoffices seems to have brought about the culman, of unsavory reputation, claims a mortgage on the Raleigh office, on and voted for Pritchard, with the disitinct assurance, he says, of the ap pointment of postmaster at Raleigh He is now an adherent of the Russel faction of the party, and therein lies the explanation of his failure to fore close his mortgage. After talking with Senator Pritchard and Chairman Holton, he left for Raleigh, with the un derstanding that he is 'not in it.' He threatens to get even with the 'Washington ring.

The dispatch refers to the Charlotte postoffice, to the eastern marshalship and so on. These are symptoms of disease. The whole body is sick and decaying, far gone in decomposition. New Bern, Wilmington, Goldsboro, the of black criminals in the penitentiary who are radicals also,-these, as well as the many bad laws framed and blunders detected, are crying out in mighty voice against the rascals and the people are uniting more and more and reach forth to gather. But the to clean up the vicious, detestable thing at any cost.

If the saloons are closed in Ashevill themselves to blame for what will be that all of them have conducted their business in a way to outrage even moderate public sentiment and to antagonize even those strongly in favor of the high license system; but a few, at least, of them have, and the business of all of them must suffer the cdium thus incurred -Asheville Citizen.
