Johnson's Chill and Fever Tonic Cures Fever In One Day.

Under the old regime the school fund is entirely inadequate and our schools, especially in the rural districts are but little more than a farce. As a rule, they run for only about two or three months in a year and the salary is so small that well equipped teachers cannot well afford to work for such a paltry sum and consequently there is not much advance in education. A large per cent, of the chil-dhen never attend school longer than the free term and this is so short that the children scarcely get started in the prévious term. These are fact which are well known to all those who patronize and teach in the public schools. The truth of the matter is just simply this our school terms ought to last at least four or six months in the year and this cannot be done unless the money is raised by taxation.-Fair Bluff Times.

of the dealings as well as by the continued strong upward movement of prices. The marked exceptions to the greatest strength were the active stocks which have been recent leaders of the advance and in which there was heavy realizing today. This realizing was to a large ex-tent by the professional element and represented simply a transfer of holdings from stocks which have moved freely upward to others that have lagged in the dvance, their calculations evidently being that the advance of the laggards are largely deferred. Such a transfer was made on very large sales from Burlington to St. Paul. The latter stock has not moved as freely as the other grangers, and Burlington's relative price has come up from below that of St. Paul to several points ahead of it. This had led profession al traders to take their profits in Burlington and to transfer their holdings to St. Paul The jump in the price of St. Paul at the opening invited some sales of the stock by the arbitrage brokers for London ac-count, which served as a partial restraint on its advance. Similar manueveres to this transfer were executed at other points in the list. Considering the propor-tions of this liquidation the prices of the stocks affected were singularly firm and steady and even strong in some cases, A reactionary tendency was induced a one time in the market generally and the ever watchful bears again believed their opportunity had come and sold stocks some prices receding below Saturday's losing level. This was notably the case n Burlington and Northwestern. tal sales of all stocks were nearly 435,000 shares, which has not been exceeded nor equaled since the three days following the election last fall. Besides the extra-ordinary volume of the transactions, their wide distribution was a noticable feature The dealings were disseminated all through the inactive list, and even the soft coal roads, whose values are at the lowest ebb as a group of any on the list ame in for a share of attention, Hocking Valley enjoying a rise from 216 to 3%.

Sugar showed very aggressive strength ill through the day and gained 3% net. Chicago Gas was also very strong and advanced 2%. The purchases of the high grade securities were char-acterized by material fluctuations, St. Paul gold 7's and C. C. & Indiana registering an extreme rise of 4 per cent. each. The gains elsewhere in the market were less noteworthy. Round amounts of the high priced liens were taken for investment and speculative account with considerable confidence, with the foreign interests absorbing offerings of the inter-national properties. The Triumphant Rabbit (Westminster Gazette.) The rabbit continues its ravages in Australia, and defies all efforts to exterminate it. In seven years New South Wales has expended £831,457 in fighting the pest, while since 1890 856 miles or barrier rabbit proof fence has been erected at a cost of £50,000. But to little purpose. And what is most alarming is that the rabbit is reported to be developing new and alarming capacities. It can climb trees and fences, crawl through meshes of wire fences supposed to be rabbit proof, and generally triumph over all the arts employed against it. Queensland is trying, with great patience, to enlist battalions of microbes in the warfare against the all-invading rabbit. The bacillus of Basteur's chicken cholera is cultivated, and concealed in pellets of pollar, and these are to be scattered over the country. But will the rabbits would seem quite justified in his attempt. There is nothing in the constitution which says that countries must be annexed by treaty.-New York Evening Post.

Mr. Morgan has introduced in senate a bill to annex Hawaii, which is designed to bring the Sandwich islands under the dominion of the United States, treaty or no treaty, by March 4, 1898, or earlier if congress so decides. Mr. Morgan says that his bill is intended to carry the annexation treaty into execution in case it shall be ratifled by the senate, or to provide for its ratification by the joint action of the two houses in case the senate shall refuse to act. "The treaty," he says, "can be ratified in this form, by a majority vote in each of the two houses, thus avoiding the necessity for securing two-thirds of the senate, as would be required if the matter should be passed upon by that body alone." So far as procedure goes, Mr. Morgan

It is undoubtedly true that the geographical position of Hawaii is such that it concerns the interest of the United States to prevent her forming any connection with any other foreign power. And our government announced to the world at a very early period that while itself scrupulously regarding the independence of the Hawaiian islands, it could never consent to see those islands taken possession of by either of the great commercial powers of Europe, nor could it consent that demands manifestly unjust, derogatory and inconsistent with a bona fide inthe Hawaiian government. This was REMEMBER the position advanved by Mr. Webster when secretary of state in 1842, and again assumed by him when he was secretary of state in 1851. Nevertheless, the administration of General Pierce, while stoutly proclaiming that it would be the duty of the United States to prevent Hawaii from becoming the appendage of any other foreign power, looked with a certain favor upon the islands becoming a part of our own sterritorial sovereignty. But the question of annexation found no favor with any subsequent administration until the administration of General Harrison.-Philadelphia Record. The threatened manipulation again of the prices of meat by the beef trust is another of those conscienceless and heartless actions by the big combines that arouse and intesify the popular indignation against these monopolies. It matters not to the trusts that the articles upon which the prices are raised by shrewd manipulations are the food products of the country. As great and far reaching as is the meat business of the United States four men, the "big four," practically control it. They virtually control the sources of supply and it is possible for them at almost any time to put the price of cattle and hogs down and the prices of dressed meat up. In the present instance, it is or have already been bought, in large Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at an article as meat to the poorer classes of the country. While thousands of people are in distress these heartless beef trust speculators would render it even more difficult to obtain the necessary food!-Houston Post.
