Marblehead and Her Crew the Cynosure of All Eyes at Quebec-The Latter Take Part in the Champlain Monument Ceremonies.

Quebec September 21.-The Canadian people today paid a magnificent tribute of respect to the memory of the French explorer Champlain, who 290 years ago founded the city of Quebec In the presence of one of the greatest Quebec and near the spot where the great explorer's body is supposed to have been buried, a great monument to his memory was unveiled. The entire population took a holiday business places were closed, daily pa pers suspended publication and tonight the quaint old city is gleaming with fantastic illuminations. The principal dignitaries of he entire dominion were present. On the great platform surrounding the monument were many of the civil and military dignitaries of Canada and members of the international joint commission

To Americans the most interesting feature of the occasion was the hearty and enthusiastic reception given to Captain McCalla, of the United States cruiser Marblehead and his gallant crew of marines and sailors. Three British warships, the Renown, the Indefatigable and the Talbot, arrived here several days ago to participate in the ceremonies, but her majesty's great sea warriors with their crews in gold braid and bright uniforms did not get the spirited reception given the battered and bruised old Marblehead with her handful of yankee sailors fresh from the stormy scenes on the south coast of Cuba.

It was a little after sunrise this morning when the Marblehead steamed up the river and when she came in sight the British warships made the old walls of the citadel above them
