"The simple resolution I' have introduced has nothing necessarily to do with any treaty, so far as I am informr do I intend to speak of any prod treaty. The resolution I present does not involve a question of law, but is a question as to the future policy of this republic.' My resolution recites the declaration of independence. I do not apologize for the resolution-I regret its necessity. I agree that you can, as Lincoln said, in the long run trust the people. I am willing to trust the people, and I want the people to hear both sides of the case before the verdict is rendered. "Distinguishd editors and statesmer say the republican party favors governing certain nations without the consent of its people. Who dares to speak in advance for the party that speaks only in its conventions? That party sprang like a young giant from the womb of conscience and made its first fight for human liberty. It has never bowed to the storm of expediency, and if I may be allowed to prophesy, I predict that if the delegates will go in again, the rafters will ring again and again when they demand the same independence for the citizens of the Philippines as they did two years ago for Cuba.

"Do you say I am speaking for the Philippines? Yes, one would for them and two for ourselves.

"I may appear to speak one word for Philippines, but two for my own people when I plead for the broad manhood of the man who wrote: 'All just powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed.'

"We ought to begin to learn the inexora ble law of compensation. You cannot govern the Philippines without taxing them; you have not yet their consent and the proposition of taxation about representation is made again. Look out for tes parties-Those little semi-social functions are likely to break out ever there, for 'Hai Columbia' and 'Yankee Doodle' have been heard in the archipelago.

"We may talk of it as we please, but there is nothing that satisfies the human mind in an enlightened age, unless man is governed by his own counips the sweet song of liberty? Forbid try and the institution of his own government. No matter how easy be the yoke of a foreign power-no matter how lightly it sits upon his shouldersif it is not imposed by the voice of his own nation and of his own country, he will not, he cannot, and he means not to be happy under its burden. We are now assied to say to the citizens of the Philippine islands: 'You poor, ignorant creatures, you can't govern.

yourselves; we will extend your commerce and we will do it for you. You don't know how to tax yourselves, and in order that we may continue to exercise our Christian duty to you, we will prevent your exercising sovereigntywe will exercise that upon yourselves." "Mr. President, they will never learn to govern themselves while we govern them. There is no such thing as teaching the art of self-government. When Kossuth wrote the declaration for Hungarian independence he said he had in mind our own Declaration of ple? Independence, For over 100 years, every lover of liberty has pointed to this sentence within this resolution: "That all just powers of government ase derived from the consent of the governed' as a reason for their liberty. This sentence has been a pillar of fire by night and has stirred the hearts of the oppressed all over the world. In the light of this sentence crowns have fallen into dust and the foundation of republics have been laid. You ask for expansion. See how we have expanded in the time since this sentence was

"But distinguished gentlemen who claim a monopoly of patriotism, who don't seem to observe the difference between expansion and expulsion, say that we who believe in getting the consent of the governed before we lamy govern them, want to give back the Philippines to Spain. Every one who makes this statement knows that we want nothing of the sort. Mexico was invaded by the French and we said to them: 'Go; it is covered by the Monroe doctrine.' France withdrew her troops and the brave struggling republic is climbing up the scale of civilization-slowly and surely. That is the expansion I believe in. That is the imperfalism that Monroe taught us Referring to the statements that the Americans intended to give the Philip oines liberty, Senator Mason said "How is liberty to be established? In t to be done hypodermically, with 13-inch gun? Are not our men and ships lying off Iloilo? Did not the na-

This afternoon there was a meeting of the special committee appointed by the democratic caucus last night 'to prepare a bill to reorganize the penitentiary. Speaker, Connor presided. The other members are: Overman, Justice, Allen, Rountree, Osborne and Glenn. Chairman Connor was instructed to formulate a bill carrying out the committee's view that it should look into the law and do what it could under the decisions of the supreme court. Connor will draft the bill at once. . The statement was made that Captain Day had given notice that he was ready to 'resign' as superintendent whenever the legislature was ready to re-organize the penitentiary if his resignation was desired. Interesting information is obtained from leading members of the house regarding the election law. They say there is no question of passage of one. The only point is whether the Louisiana law can be passed. The overwhelming sentiment is for an election next August on this question. It is learned that there will certainly be an increase of . two superior court districts, and possibly four. The prevalent idea is to abolish both the Eastern and the Western criminal courts. It is safe to say both these will be abolished. Western members are leaving eastern ones all matters relating to preparation of election law bills, yet it is singular that only one (Winston's) has thus far been introduced.
