THE WILMINGTON MESSENGER, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1901.

history against them. Public sentiment is the name given to the feeling which gives effect to virtues of patrictism and public devotion. It is because it exists that we have remained inus far a free people. It must and will develop as our prifiems develop. The man who says that it cannot be done is in hing political suicide." In some important particulars an en-re lightened public sentiment is highly curative, is a great corrective of evil He instances the hazing at West Point But there are other evils of a crying and insufferable nature that some how public opinion does not touch, and the evils continue to flourish in great luxuriance and exceeding tenacity. People bear and suffer and do not unite heartily and determinately and bring about corrections and cures. Look at the gl gantic tax under the robber tariff. Look at their mighty offsprings the oppressing, absorbing, killing trusts. Dr. Hadley holds that "the power of public opinion, in its true sense, is an instrument fitted to meet all the needs of society and capable of indefinite expansion without threatening the foundations of self-government." There i now a very real, -a very pressing demand that all lovers of real liberty, all genuine Americans, all sincere patriots, all believers in a government of the people-a real republic-should unite heart and soul.

THE REAL SITUATION IN SOUTH AFRICA.

All along the news from South Africa has been mainly unreliable and insufficient because doctored by the censor tried many remedies and doctors but of the press. The news in yesterday's steadily grew worse until urged to try Messenger was that the Boers were again fighting the British and that the latter had lost 29 killed and wounded, and of these two officers were killed and three wounded. There was heavy fighting at two other points. So there is no surrender, no peace, but war and attended with killing. All along the fact and fiction have been blended and widely distributed. London Truth is disposed to "turn on the light," and it is both amusing and informing. It gives the following as a real picture of the situation in South Africa latterly:

"The telegrams in regard to De Wet are an instance of the inventive zeal of South African correspondents. They told us that he was cornered; that, deserted by his followers, and with a few horses unable to move owing to fatigue, his capture was a mere question of hours. One correspondent varied this by an account of his having escaped in a boat across the Orange river; another announced that he passed his nights weeping. All this was dispelled by the official announcement that he and his forces, re-enforced by those of Hertzog. had crossed the Orange River, after an engagement in which he had captured sixty of our soldiers and wounded or killed thirty. Reuter's correspondent now telegraphs to us the consolatory information that Mr. Steyn, who is with De Wet, looks 'thoroughly miserable.'

We are surprised to learn, and gratified too, that the Boers have 20,000
