YESTERDAY IN CAMP.

Today has passed much like all other days here. The accustomed routine of roll calls, drills and parades have been performed but nothing of unusual interest has happened. At the dress-parade this afternoon, the new formation, "column of companies" was used. As each company marched in review past the colonel and his staff, they were given very hearty cheers by the spectators, for about every com-pany had a perfect front. Today's dress-parade was the best of any yet held by either of the regiments. Tomorrow will be the last day in camp. Early Wednesday morning, the companies will pack up and leave for usual form as he vielded twelve hits and gave three bases on balls, though at times he was very effective and struck out eight men; but a pitcher naturally cannot do his best when the support given him is ragged.

Now it is not The Messenger's purose to adversely critize the team. It has seemed, we know, to all, that lately the team has not been playing the bal they are capable of playing, but w must remember that all teams have days off and runs of several days o bad luck. Tarboro had her season nisfortune, and Charlotte and W minggion seem to be now in the mids of theirs. We have no doubt but what luck will change in a day or two and then our boys will go on a victorious trip and please their supporters. The people are becoming a little dissatisfied and discouraged, but they should not do so. The team will line up and do their best. They are far more anxious to win, than we are to see them win, Now don't go and critisize the the men and "cuss" them out, It will do no good, but will only serve to add discourage
