that Mr. Knox and a party of friends, including several ladies, were taking wer in the cafe about 11 o'clock, we in the three men, who are alleged o have assaulted him, drove up and taking seats at a table near that of the attorney general. Mr. Schoen, it is claimed, was the chief offender. His remarks are said to have been based on the attorney general's hostile attitude toward trusts. He did not admire Mr. Knox's steps in the direction of their dissolution, and said so. The special continues:

"Just who struck the first blow cannot be said positively. But certain it is that while Mr. Knox was making a protest to Mr. Schoen against his intemperate language he was being called names that startled every one withn hearing.

"Then came a blow. It was struck by Mr. Cramp, and landed fairly on the belt of the attorney general, who found simself opposed to three men, all much mrger and heavier than he. The blow staggered him back against the wall. "At the moment a half-dozen waiters rushed up. The head waiter seized Mr. Cramp from behind his arms. Another grappled with Mr. Stevenson and dragged him out of the struggle. Others took hold of Mr. Schoen. Mr. Knox was speedily surrounded by his friends and they quickly retired from the cafe and were driven away to their hotel. The blow he received from Mr. Cramp had stunned him for a moment, but he quickly recovered. "The noise and confusion had attracted more than a score of the hotel guests to the scene. They crowded ino the cafe, where Mr. Schoen, Mr. Cramp and Mr. Stevenson still renained. > Shenandoah, Pa., August 8 .- A platoon of the governor's troop of cavalry went to Turkey Run Hill today on an errand of mercy and rescued a small family from violence of the neighbors. There had been petty acts of violence reported from that territory nearly every day for a week. Today Brigadier General Gobin received a pathetic letter from the wife of a non-union workman who is employed in the Gibertor colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company in which she tells of the treatment accorded her by strikers in that vicinity. Among other things she said rocks had been thrown through the windows at night one of them nearly striking her child the house was damaged and while she was outdoors one night a shot was fired at her. She also said crowds gathered tround the house, hooted and jeered at her and the child and hung crepe on the door. Her husband, she concluded, was compelled to stay in the mines in order to earn money to keep them from starving and as he could not leave his works she asked the commanding offieer of the troops here to protect them. Turkey Run Hill has no police protection and General Gobin decided to help the women. He learned that she was not in the best of health and it was decided that she had better be taken from the place to the Pottsville hospital. To carry this out the general ordered a platoon of cavalry to make a demon stration in that section and while there to escort the woman and child to the railroad station. This was done The troops rode all over the territory and found that the population which is made up of many foreigners was not in the best frame of mind. The sol diers were hooted and jeered and called uncomplimentary names. Only stone was thrown at the horsemen and this was done by some one in a crowd on a high ridge out of reach of the soldiers. The cavalry men stopped horses and the crowd scattered in
