I do not think any household can afford to be without it and I shall most certainly advise all druggists of my acquaintance to stock up with it.

ED. FARRISS DEAD.

Sudden and Shocking News About Well Known Man.

The following story from High Point shocked many people in the State last Monday morning. Mr. Farriss was well known in Greensboro where he had many friends. The news story of his death following his father-in-law's demise is strange. The story reads:

Perhaps never before has the city been so severely shocked as it was this morning at announcement of the death at Washington of Edward H. Farriss, city editor of the Enterprise, High Point's daily paper. On last Friday evening Mr. Farriss received a telegram from Mrs. Farriss at Washington, N. C., stating that Mr. Willis, her father, was very ill. Mr. Farriss, seemingly in the best of health, departed on the first outgoing train for that city. On reaching there he was notified that Mr. Willis was no better. Some few hours later word came from the hospital that Mr. Willis had died. It seems that Mr. Farriss was resting from his trip and was suddenly aroused with the news and he immediately descended the stairs to comfort the family when he was stricken with a severe pain in the heart. Medical attention was hurriedly summoned, but before help arrived Mr. Farriss had passed into the great beyond.

Mr. Farriss was a young man of unusual ability in both the law and the publishing business. He graduated from the University Law School at Chapel Hill about six years ago and located here for the practice of his chosen profession. In this he was successful until he was called to assist his brother in the affairs of their paper. Mr. Farriss was married to Miss Mabel Willis, of Washington, some two years ago and since that time they had resided here, making their home at the Elwood Hotel. The city can ill afford to lose Mr. Farriss because, first he was one of the leading citizens and, second, because he has been always a "High Point booster," and largely due to his efforts in this line are the many recent progressive moves of High Point. His remains will likely be interred in Raleigh, his boyhood home. J. J. Farriss and family left for Washington on an early morning train.

HE SAYS GET BUSY.

Colonel E. P. Wharton, The Fly Exterminator, Says, Swat.

Colonel E. P. Wharton who made Greensboro ninety per cent flyless last year says the time to swat is right now—right when the first flies of the season commence to show themselves. Swat every one you see. Encourage the children to swat them, and if they appear to increase put out fly paper and clean them up. No doubt Mr. Wharton did a great work in Greensboro and his labors were an inspiration to other towns and cities in the state.

Swat for the fly is coming—swat, for the fly is here!

Not Much Hope.

It is said that the Government Printing office is curtailing expenses and many old time employes are being laid off. The Wilson administration is doing all it can to curtail. The income tax and certain other new laws have made it necessary to employ a great many new men in new fields. That is why those not actually needed are being cut down in the older departments.

A Bold, Bad Man.

Joe Reece had the nerve to say that if the Rev. Murphy Williams undertook to lay the corner stone of his church last Sunday there would be a blizzard or a cyclone. And he undertook it and did it, and there was a blizzard. This is some more of the ground hog business. Men who are in league with the devil we read about in history. But to be in league with the ground hog—well, Colonel Joe is the only one we know.

Mr. Swift Explains.

Mr. Swift a lawyer, presumably employed to fight child labor, gives it out that he has been disappointed. Mr. Swift as a lawyer, talking about legislation against the little children of North Carolina, perhaps understands what he is doing. The child labor laws have been worked to a finish. The mill men are doing more for unfortunate children than the state ever did before. Those employing to agitate and show up the weaklings will perhaps hold their jobs. It is hoped so. But the people of North Carolina are becoming wise to this professional business.

After 'Em.

Puck comes out strong against patent medicines and says the doctors' trust can't scare it—that it is against the patent pill for poor people. There are two kinds of patent medicines, the legitimate and the fake.

Under the Pure Food law where we find the eye whiskey taken out of lots of the erstwhile patent medicines; where we find opium barrels the chances for doing harm with patent medicine have been materially reduced. However there are some patent medicines that are all right. And many of them are prescribed by doctors.

Walker Captured.

Jesse P. Walker, the noted outlaw who broke jail at Southport in 1909 and for whose arrest or capture dead or alive a reward of $850 had been offered, was captured at Wilmington Sunday. He was in a boat, was enticed ashore and six men went to him. He had two pistols in each hip pocket—a 45 Colt and a 32 automatic Colt—but the six men rushed in on him before he could get in a shot. Walker killed Sheriff Jackson Standard of Brunswick, six years ago.

Wilmington Shoplifters.

Three negro women were arrested in Wilmington Saturday for shoplifting, and a search of their homes revealed about $100 worth of goods the darkies had stolen. This is the day the shop-lifter is in it. In a recent number of the Ladies' Home Journal a page is devoted to shop lifting, and it seems to be a great industry. The writer in the Journal says that women become shop lifters because their husbands do not give them spending money. But that ought not to be an excuse.

Pitiable.

It is indeed a sorrowful story—the political demise of Colonel Roosevelt. All agree that he is a dead duck in the pit. He seems to have tried to come again, but the last time he hit the rafters he went through the ceiling and disappeared. He is no longer in the public eye, and certainly his name is not one with which to conjure.

In Bed.

Phillip P. White, a wealthy club man and manager of a concern from which he drew a salary of $8,000 a year, has been arrested in New York for being at the head of a gang of auto bandits—men who rob stores and hold up people on the streets. Too bad that a fool drawing $8,000 a year and respectability with it could not have been satisfied.

INTERESTING LECTURES.

Dr. W. C. Smith Putting Out Some Thoughts Worth While.

Dr. W. C. Smith, Professor of English at the Normal College conducts a Man's Bible Class at the Presbyterian church, Greensboro, every Sunday morning from ten to eleven o'clock. A friend asked us some several weeks ago to come down and see what was doing. We went. We were charmed. We have induced several of our friends to go—men of the world who do not often pause to go to church—not because they are wicked but because they think there is nothing of interest. All who have gone are still going, and the Man's Bible Class at the Presbyterian Church is the most interesting thing in Greensboro.

Dr. Smith is just now on a theme that is splendid—that gives him opportunity to present Christ in situations few men ever thought about. Christ in politics—Christ among fallen women—Christ among thieves—Christ among lawyers—themes which might seem ultra; which might to the unthinking seem almost blasphemy—but Dr. Smith is showing by the Book that the greatest character ever walking the earth mixed with men felt for them and told them what to do. And that spirit of Christ which pervades this world; that spirit which is the essence of charity and justice and truth is shown so forcefully and so plainly by Dr. Smith, that the man who misses opportunity to share what is really and without elaboration an "intellectual treat"—a literary gem, each Sunday, is going hungry without knowing it. All are welcome to this Sunday service and we would like for more of our friends to get there promptly at ten o'clock.

Two Years Of It.

On March the fourth we had had two years of President Wilson's administration, and some say it has been wonderful and some say nay.

The tariff problem is a mixed one, but we all should agree that in keeping this nation out of war; in being sane and remaining sane both in the morning and in the evening—Wilson has been that. Not once has he lost his head or his bearings—he has certainly piloted the Ship of State into safety harbors. Other men, as great as Wilson in other regards, would have had us in a war.

The County Treasurer.

Many counties are doing away with the office of county treasurer, letting a bank or banks collect the taxes—or rather, handle the money. It is said that this would save the tax payer's money—but in some cases we see where this claim is denied. One county treasurer shows that he receives enough interest on his money from the banks to more than pay his salary.

Well, we live in a new world—a new time, and pretty soon the whole Nation will be run on a business basis.

Raleigh In It.

Raleigh will have a little side campaign. It is said that T. F. Sale will run for Mayor. But here is betting on Mayor Johnson. He has made good. He has stood up and fought the bosses—he has come through clean. We are betting two to one on Johnson. Sale may think he is going to land something—but Johnson is not going to be turned down by the people of Raleigh. Take it from us brother Rastus—it is a true bill.

When It Comes.

We are one of these days going down and vote bonds for Byrd Coler's railway. And we should do this. We should invite him to come to our town and we should treat him well. All the railroads we can get help just that much, and the Coler interests are worth while. We also want Captain Fry's road and Buck Duke's road. And we'll get 'em if we just sit steady in the boat and vote bonds when they come along. No better investment could be made.

Where He Is Wrong.

The State Board of Health gets a big appropriation from the tax payers and some of the money is used to knock all kinds of patent medicines.

In other words the State Board of Health assumes that the doctors are the only ones. Of course this is true, and the State Board of Health should not be permitted to knock legitimate patent medicines. There are many in this state deserving and all right. There are bad ones, but there are good ones. The only trouble we ever found with the doctors is that they imagine they are the only ones who can give people relief. Christ was the greatest physician the world ever knew and he never wrote a prescription for medicine.

The Hoffman House.

The old Hoffman house of New York is to be torn out and something new will take its place. The Hoffman, like the National and Metropolitan of Washington was a long time headquarters for the Southern people. In fact the Hoffman House always had Southern guests, and to let it get away seems like losing an old friend. But it has lived its life.

Whoooping It Up.

Young men and young women are after the suffrage question and they are holding debates, and the Cause is being strengthened every day. North Carolina was not supposed to become enthusiastic all at once, but a vote of the people today and a majority would say let woman vote if she wants to vote. Within five years the men folk are going to insist that she assume the responsibility she has so long escaped. Woman is man's superior in all things—unless in brute force, and in these days of electricity we can get machines to carry the brick.
