CLUVERIUS' ROOM TO BE

RICHMOND, Virginia, January 25. -The room at the city jail recently occupied by Cluverius will be opened this afternoon and a list of the effects of the dead man will be made. This information comes from City-Sergeant Smith. This gentleman further says that Willie Cluverius wishes knowledge of the contents of the room to be kept from the public, and has requested that no reporter be allowed to be present when the things are examined.

Sergeant Smith has not stated that he will or will not comply with this request, but on account of the general interest in the matter it is probaable he will not. He certainly should not. If a confession exists it ought to be brought to light. Nobody wants to peer into the deceased's private letters, but about anything affecting his guilt all of the people have a right to know. The jail officials do not think any confession will be

Two New Comets.

Boston, Jan. 24.—A cable message received this afternoon from Dr. Kreuger, of the European Union of Astronomers, announces the discovery of a comet on Jan. 13, by Dr. Thorne, Director of the observatory at Cordova, South America. The comet, which is probably that observed three days later at Melbourne. was in the constellation Grus (the Crane). Dr. Thorne announces that it will become very brilliant, and that it resembles in character the great comet of 1880, which was first announced by Dr. Gould, then director of the same observatory.

PHILIPS, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Professor Brooks verified his discovery on Jan. 22, of the new comet in the constellation Draco by a second observation to-night. Its motivn is slowly in a northwesterly direction, and it remains above the horizon all night. This is the first telescopic comet of 1887, and the tenth comet discovered by Prof. Brooks within a few years.

Masked Men Capture a Train in Texas.

A Fort Worth (Texas) telegram says: Two miles east of Gordon, on the Texas and Pacific railroad, between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning, one of the most daring and successful train-robberies that was perpetrated by eight armed and masked men. Reports as to the particulars of the affair are wild and conflicting.

Devoured by Wolves.

MANISTIQUE, Mich., Jan. 26,-Joseph Armstrong and Frank Holmes, of Pentwater, were hunting near Manistique Saturday. Holmes cut a gash in his leg, and Armstrong, fearing he would bleed to death, went after medical assistance. Within two hours he returned to find a few bloody bones and scraps of clothing, and round about the carcasses of five wolves which Holmes had killed in his struggle for life. The bones were gathered up and shipped to Pentwater. Wolves are reported numerous and remarkably venturesome in the Upper Peninsula this season.

The Appollo of Congress.

Hiscock is the handsomest man in Congress, and will make an ornamental figure on the floor of the Senate. He could sit as a model of Jove, and the ladies like to look at him from the galleries. The first question asked by a lady visitor to the House of Representatives is; "Where is Mr, Hiscock?" and he is usually within sight, in one of his statuesque poses. When the Congressional Apollo is pointed out the lady visitor always exclaims; "Isn't he splendid?" Hiscock is as lazy as he is beautiful. He is languid, always tired. He yawns too much, and it takes too much steam to get him in motion. When he gets interested in debate or in a measure he has tremendous power, and has made some of the ablest speeches one can find in the Congressional Record, but the trouble is that he requires a month's rest after every hour's exer-

A Man Driven from His Home and His Wife Assaulted by a Gang.

NEW YORK, January 25, 1887.-John Sweeney, a cabinet-maker, of No. 57 Washington street, was awakened early yesterday morning by h is wife, who said: "John, there's some one at the door." He dressed himself and, stepping to the door asked: "Who's there?" There was a murmer of voices outside, and John recognized William Horahan, who asked him to open the door, as he wanted to speak to him, John refused, whereupon the door was forced open and five men, all of whom belong to the "Stable gang," entered. Sweeney had made himself obnoxious to the gang for having had them ejected from his hallway, where they had been in the habit of "working the growler."

On entering the room the men sprang at Sweney, who seized a razor to protect himself, and his wife screamed One of the ruffians struck Sweeney with a chair, knocking the razor out of his hand, and he fled to the street shouting for a policeman. It was half an hour before he returned with two policemen, and the five ruffians were captured on the premises. During his absence, however, Horahan and John St. George assaulted Mrs. Sweeney. Justice Duffy was very indignant when the prisoners were arringed in the Tombs yesterday.

"Twenty years in State prison are staring each of you in the face," said the Justice. "If I had my way I would blow you out of a cannon against a stone wall. You are a bad gang of loafers, and the city would be well rid of you. Had Sweeney shot you all the public would have approved of his act." They were each held in $3,000 bail for trial. Sweeney and his wife, who are in dread of other members of the gang, werd sent to the House of Detention.

PERSONAL MENTION

(From the New York World.)

Henry George does not seem to hold his ground. But, then, he doesn't believe in holding ground, anyway.

Mr. S. H. Hampden, of Chicago, is attempting to substitute knee-breeches for the current style of trousers, and one of the journals of that city thinks he will be successful. Perhaps this would be a good time to get up a corner on sawdust.

The father of Vice-President Hamlin called his four sons after the great warriors of ancient history-Alexander, Julius Cæsar, Cincinnatus and Hannibal. His four daughters were named respectively Europe, Asia, Australia and America.

The Boston Globe says: "Rev. Sam Jones has made the best impression on Boston of any revivalist who has visited the city in recent years. He is a man of brains and originality, and Boston likes men of that stamp." Hence the popularity of Daniel Pratt.

C. D. Jeffray, Treasurer of the American Opera Company, says that not a single piece of baggage has been lost since the company went on the road This quite remarkable, as the organization has 350 trunks under its care and a number of chest notes.

Gov. Ames, the millionaire Executive of Massachusetts, recently employed an artist to paint his portrait. Mr. Ames held a newspaper in his hands during the sittings and the painter has faithfully reproduced part of an advertisement which appeared therein. The wealthy Governor's thumb points conspicuously to the words "sliver plated."
