FRIDAY, JANUARY 27TH, 1887.

Gov. Foraker on Tuesday last appointed ex-President R. B. Hayes a member of the Board of Trustees of the Ohio State University. Mr. Hayes will accept.

The petitions for the pardon of Ex-Bank President, James D. Fish, have not yet been fully considered by the President, but are yet in the hands of the Attorney-General. The President recently made a casual examination of the papers, but will wait for a report from the Attorney-General before taking action.

Justice has done a most creditable thing in New York by cutting short the career of De Leon, the professional astrologer, whose business was in one branch most disreputable. For a time he will procure no more unfortunate women for the reeking dens of infamy at Panama, and his study of the stars will be confined to such glimpses as he can get through the bars of Sing Sing.

A compromise between Mr. Tilden's heirs and the executors of his will, by which each of the former will get $1,000,000, is said to have been effected. It is said that the contest will be withdrawn in consequence, and that the residue of the estate, valued at about $9,000,000, will go toward the public library, in accordance with the dead statesman's desires.

Farmer David Meredith has satisfied the Government that he was entitled to the annuities granted by the Government to the Cherokee Indians. Monday Meredith received a deed for a choice section of land in the Indian Territory. John Meredith, his grandfather, years ago organized a trading expedition among the Cherokee Indians. He was captured and was about to be put to death when the beautiful daughter of the chief interposed and saved his life. Meredith married the girl, and David is a descendant from this marriage.

The birth of Secretary Whitney's daughter Sunday is fifth instance in the last twenty years of an increase in like manner of the Cabinet family. During Johnson's administration Secretary McCulloch was presented with a daughter, as was also Postmaster-General Denison. In Gen. Grant's second term two Cabinet babies were born—one the daughter of Secretary Belknap, the other the daughter of Secretary Robeson. Why all Cabinet babies should be girls is a question that naturally suggests itself from the above facts.

Mrs. Cleveland had a very warm reception at the Baltimore Charity Ball on Monday night. The Baltimore Sun says: "Mrs. Cleveland, upon entering the box sat in full view of the audience behind a bank of flowers offered to her, and there was but one sentiment which found expression concerning her beauty, and that was that she was the most beautiful woman in the house. So open were some of the expressions of admiration that it is very strange if none of the comments reached her ears, but she maintained a bearing throughout of being unconscious of the gaze of of the hundreds of eyes fastened upon her."

The Friend to the Editor.

Some supposed friends of a newspaper have peculiar ideas as to what kind of items a paper requires. Not long since a gentleman came into the sanctum of a Texas paper and said to the editor:

"Look here, you miss a heap of live items. I'm on the street all day. I'll come up every once in a while and post you."

"All right, fetch in your items, but remember we want news."

Next day he came up, beaming all over. "I've got a live item for you. You know that infernal bow-legged gorilla of a brother-in-law of mine, who was in business here with me?"

"I believe I remember such a person," said the editor, wearily.

"Well, I've just got news from Nebraska, where he is living, that he is going to run for the legislature. Now, just give him a blast. Lift him out of his boots. Don't spare him on my account."

The editor shook his head and the news-gatherer retired.

Next day he came up again: "My little item was crowded out. At least I didn't see it in the paper. I brought you some more news," and he handed in an item about a cat, as follows:

"A remarkable animal.—The family cat of our worthy and distinguished fellow-townsmen, Smith, who keeps the boss grocery store of Ward No. 13 (beer always on tap), yesterday became the mother of five singularly marked kittens. This is not the first time this unheard-of event has taken place. We understand Mr. Smith is being favorably spoken of as a candidate for Alderman."

The editor groaned in his spirit as he lights a cigar with the effort. It is not long before he hears that Smith is going around saying that he has made the paper what it is, but it is not independent enough to suit the public.

Many readers will say that this sketch is overdrawn, but thousands of editors all over the country will lift up their right hands to testify that they are personally acquainted with the guilty party.—Texas Siftings.

STAGE TALK, from the N. Y. World:

Larry Jerome and a party of friends are going to Mexico. The Bermuda story is not true, and Tom Ochiltree is drawing up the itinerary. Col. Ochiltree is said to have tried in vain to dissuade the party from making the excursion. A gentleman who overheard the conversation at Chamberlain's in Washington a few days ago, reports it as follows:

"Do not go, sweet Lawrentinus," said the old-gold-haired hero of ten thousand fights. "Try not the pass, the old man said," as Byron beautifully expresses. The deadly pulque lies in wait beside the forest path. Beware the siren song of the lovely machete. The kiss of the hacienda is more deadly than the sting of the Cleopatra asp. The velvety cactus—

"Go to, go to, gentle Tomaso," replied the uncle-in-law to his nephew-in-law. "Your advice comes too late. The path of duty is mine. A party of young gallants, whom my counsels could not restrain, have resolved upon the perilous expedition and I am their guide, philosopher and friend. From the horrors of the rarefied atmosphere of the Mexican plateau I will shield them with the ægis of my protecting bosom. No pulque shall fly at their throats until I have sampled it myself, and as for the insidious mescal I shall make no miscalculation upon that. I don't care a profane ejaculation for the filibuster or any other buster, and if I can't get to the city of Mexico and come back sober, why the Rio Grande shall be dried up and sold for a smoked herring, the American Ambassador shall be hashed and served hot with parsley, and the name of Lawrence R. Jerome shall be scratched from the walls of the great American Valhalla forever."

Japanese industries, although in many cases their origin may be track back to China and Corea, have changed somewhat in recent years, but they have not been sufficiently developed to be carried, on as a rule, in what we call manufacturing establishments. They are mostly conducted in small workshops, with possibly the aid of a primitive water wheel, fan-making, and the manufacture of porcelain, paper pigments and lacquers constituting a large portion of the whole.

On the outskirts of Djeddah is pointed out what the inhabitants call the tomb of the world's mother Eve—which has a white stone placed above the waist, distance of which from the supposed of the head is only twenty-nine feet. The Mohammedans must believe her to have been of immense size. Mohammed pronounced it to be her tomb, which settled all questions of doubt with his followers. Baltimore Sun.

GENERAL NEWS.

Senator-elect Hiscock, of New York, is worth only $400,000. He'll feel lonesome in the Senate.

The marriage of Mme. Chrisine Nilson to Count Amaranda will take place next month. So the gifted singer writes to friends in New York.

The imports of San Francisco during the past year were the largest ever known, amounting to 218,106,199 pounds, valued at $10,133,278.

During 1886, the sales of railroads under foreclosure covered 45 roads, 7,687 miles, $170,140,000 of funded debt and nearly $204,000,000 of capital stock.

There is a story extant to the effect that the Hon. Benjamin Arrris Brewster loves a grate fire but hates black coal, and accordingly has his servant to white-wash the coal before it is brought into his room.

Every city in the South is growing in wealth and population. The rate of increase in population in some of the smaller cities is almost phenomenal, and the census of 1880 will be something of a revelation to the world.

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles."—E. Braddon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by a distressing cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second St., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Elizabeth M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25¢ six bottles, $1.
