ENGLAND READY FOR

WAR.

An Army Officer Says She

would First Attack us on the Lakes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.-"I see that a naval officer predicts the immediate destruction of Washington in case of a war with Great Brtian," said a prominent army officer to-day.

"Undoubtedly the capital and all our coast ports would be at the mercy of the enemy in such case and event;" he continued, "but that isn't where England would strike us first. She would choose our weakest points-perhaps not the weakest, for all our points are equally defenceless, but the most accessible. The Canadian border is the part of the country that needs looking after in case of war, for one can see with half an eye where the first blow would be struck. The big cities on the lakes would first receive their attention, for there is nothing to prevent English gunboats from swarming through Lake Ontario and effecting complete disaster and ruin. Ac-

KAIGHTS ARRESTED.

A Suit for $20,000 Dumages Instituted Against a Master Workman.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 .- James E. Quinn, Master Workman of District Assembly 49, Knights of Labor, was arrested at noon to-day at Pythagorasu Hall by United States Marshal Holmes on a warrant issued by Judge Shipman of the United States Circuit Court for interfering with the business of the old Dominion Steamship Company." Orders of arrest are also out against John McKenna, Master Workman of the Ocean Association, and J. T. Putnaun, Thomas McGrath and Patrick McCartland, of the Board of Arbitration and Strikes of 49. Order was obtained in a civil suit for $20,000 damages brought by President McCready, of the Old Dominion line. Quinn was brought to the United States Marshal McMahon's office and bail was fixed at $5,000, which was promptly furnished by Patrick Ford and Michael Crane and he was released. The extension of the strike to the railroad freight handlers on the piers of several roads having dock facilities on the city water front has brought the number of men now out up to about thirty thousand. The probability now is that before the day is over other railroad employes will cease work. Among the rumors eurrent to-day was one to the effect that the Longshoremen were becoming tired of the strike and would hold a meeting this afternoon or to-night for the purpose of declaring it off. The officers of the steamship companies were inclined to believe that such a meeting would soon be held, inasmuch as the men had struck without any grievance, and as their places were being rapidly filled. About one hundred longshoremen, who were seen by a United Press reporter and spoken to with regard to the rumor, strenuously denied that any such meeting was contemplated. Some of the steamship compaines were unable to get the vessels advertised for sailing to-day off by high tide this morning, but they expect that they will be ready by to-morrow morning. The La Bourgoyne, of the French line, sailed on time, as did also the State of Georgia, of the State line. The Gallia, of the Cunard, was unable to sail, but will leave to-morrow; so will the Erin, of the National line. The Flamborough, of the Bermuda line, sailed at 7 o'clock last night, after a delay of only 24 hours for coal. The Orinoco, of the same line, the agents say, will be ready to leave tomorrow morning. An important meeting of the K of L. and the Ocean Association of longshoremen, will be held to-morrow. It is said resolutions will be introduced asking that those longshore-ST. They Woke a Minister at 2 in the Morning, but he refused to Marry Them.

SYRACAUSE, N. Y., Jan. 31 .- At two o'elock yesterday morning the Rev. O. D. Burton, an aged and retired minister living on a small farm about seven miles from Clyde, was called from his bed by the calls and pounding at his door. As soon as the aged pastor could get to the door and open it, a beardless young man and a handsomely dressed, rosy-cheeked young woman pushed into the house.

"We have driven sixteen miles to your house, ' said the young man in rapid tones, "and we must be married as soon as possible." The minister objected to performing so hasty a marriage, and at such an unusual hour. The young man begged him to marry them, and urged that it was absolutely necessary to perform the ceremony there and then. The young lady became hysterical with excitement, and between Ther sobs asked again and again to be married to the young man.

The pastor learned that the young man was James Vanderbilt, the son o one of the wealthhiest farmers in the neighorbood of Waterloo, and the young lady was Miss Alice Robinson, daughter of the late Adams Robinson, of Sennett, Cayuga county. The young man Is it Mr., Mrs., or Miss Clevewas 18 years of age, and the girl 16. The story that they tolds Mr. Burton was that they had been acquainted for two years, and that they had been engaged to be married for several months. Their parents refused to sanction the marriage and the mother of the girl tried to discourage the engagement on the ground of her daughther's youth. The couple managed to meet olten at the home of a relative, and last week they agreed upon an elogement. On Thursday evening Miss Robinson packed a satchel and left home with the ostensible purpose of visiting a school friend in Seneca Falls, At 8 o clock she met her lover at the N. Central Railroad station in that place. In a few minutes more they were in a cutter drawn by a fleet horse, on their way to Pastor Burton's house to be married. The pastor, in spite of entreaties, refused to marry the couple then, and they drove away. It has been learned here that they were married by a justice of the peace in Tyre, Seneca county, a few hours later, and have gone to New York for a few weeks. Young Vanderbilt, it is said, is heir to about $90, 000.

long hand is thrust inside the breast of his coat and the other wanders around awkwardly outside until it finds a button to catch hold of. Repose is not the normal state of that quaint face and ungainly figure, and the attitude is constrained and stiff, like a wooden Indian. At the end of the prayer, Mr. Talmage begins to edge toward the platform steps, and when the singing begins he furtively slides down and escapes into his study where he can unbend and chat with parishioners. The revival goes on decorously. There is no shouting, no hysterical confessing of phenomenal depravity, no jumps. Mr. Munhal urges the wavering to engage in silent prayer, and the brethren go about quietly inquiring after the spiritual condition of strangers in the pews. Mr. Talmage comes out from his study with his overcoat collar turned up, and views the seene, but takes no active part in it, except when a penitent is led into the study. Then the famous smile breaks over the preacher's face, and he questions the convert, and congratulates him. Mr. Munball's work goes on without excitement, except of the mildest form, and before to o'clock Mr. Talmage comes out of the study and buttons his overcoat, which is the signal that the meeting is over, and the people quietly go away.

they have complete control of the navigation of St. Lawrence, at least as far as Kingston, and they possess just 111 gunboats that can navigate it. The St. Lawrence and the Welland Canal afford ample opportunity for reaching the lakes 'To be sure there are numerous rapids, so that to-day a vessel drawing 12 feet can pass through, and by the opening of navigation this will be increased to 14 feet. Forty eight hours after the declaration of war it would be too late for us to make a move. The big British ironclads would take possession of the entrance to the St. Lawrence and keep us away, while their light gunboats would swarm into the lakes; and, as I said, they have 111 that could get there. Don't you know that the British keep a number of these vessels in the vicinity of Bermuda to be handy in case of necessity? When the fisheries troubles first arose six of these vessels were ordered up to New Brunswick. The reason assigned was a needed change of climate for the squadron, but upon looking through the register I learned that five of these vessels were of the proper draught to navigate the St. Lawrence. We can't do anything to afford us protection without money. We might be able to get vessels to the lake by way of the Misissippi and Illinois Rivers, if we had a canal of the requisite depth from La Salle to Chicago; or we might get there if the oErie Canal should be made navigable. TALMAGE'S REVITAL.

Munhall's Work in the Brooklyn Tabernacle Quiet but Effective.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 .- A religious revival is going on in the Rev. Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle, and members are being made at the rate of 200 a week. The pastor is not doing the extra work himself, but has engaged a professional revivalist, L. W. Munhall. A revival meeting in the Tab. ernacle is a very quiet affair, however. Mr. Talmage opens the services with prayer, and then retires to a seat at the back of the platform, leaving the field clear for Mr. Hunhall, a sturdy, athletic man in a pea jacket. who speaks good English and argues like a lawyer, while he is urging the unregenerate to be saved. Mr. Talmage sits with his legs crossed and his chin upon his hand, looking se rions and as though impatient of his own inactivity in the revival. Occasionally a point in the revivalist's argument seems to strike him, and he busies himself for a moment with pencil and paper. When Mr. Munhall prays the pastor's tall, gaunt form stretches itself out and gets upon its feet ogainst the organ panels. One
