TO MARRY ACHINAMAN. The Mystery of Two Ladies and the Chines Washington Legation Solved.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 .- The mystery concerning the two ladies who have appeared so conspicuously in public as the honored guests of the Chinese Legation has been solved by a friend of one of the attachees of the Legation. He says the younger lady is the finance of Mr. Liang, one of the interpreters of the Legation. She is the daughter of a New York family. Her companion here in town is Mrs. James Lewis, wife of the theatrical manager. Mr. Ling is a graduate of Amherst College. He speaks well. He is an enthusiastic baseball player and was a member of the Amherst nine when in college. He is one of the handsomest members of the Legation. He is fully six feet in height, with broad shoulders, deep chest and well-formed, athletic body. He has a pleasant face, which is smooth-Leaves for Charlotte at 9-48 am shaven and a clear olive in color. His hair is jet black. He wears the queve reaching almost to the bottom of his blue silk skirts. He wears the most delicate shade of blue brocaded silk. When he was in college he wore the dress of modern civilization, but he was obliged to return to the Chinese dress after leaving school.

There is a complicated etiquette relating to the wives of the Chinese officials to which an American woman would not submit. It is probable that Mr. Liang, when married, will live outside of the Legation. Mr. Yung Wing, a former attache of the Legation, who married an American wife, lived in separate houses from the Legation building.

ROW ON THE STAGE.

Louise Pomeroy and Her Husband Charged with Assaulting Manes Fand.

On the Police-Court docket yesterday morning appeared the cases of Louise Pomeroy-Elliott, charged with striking Manes Fuld with a well-handle, and Arthur E. Elliott with assaulting and striking Fuld. Mrs. Elliott, better known as Miss Pomeroy is at the head of the company which played at the Academy last week, and Mr. Elliott, her husband, is leading man. Fuld was also a member of the company until the trouble occurred Saturday night, Mr E. M. Castine appeared as proxy for Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, and Mr. J. Samuel Parrish was present as counsel for Mr. Fuld.

When the evidence of the witnesses, present had been heard, and Mr. Parrish had nearly concluded his argument he referred to the fact that M ss Pomeroy struck Fuld a severe blow with the well-handle and knocked him momentarily insensible. Justice Richardson, hearing this, which he had not caught in evidence, continued the case until this morning, and ordered that several witnesses, mostly attaches of the Academy whose names were furnished by Fuld, be summoned. The tacts in the case, briefly stated, are these:

Saturday night Mr. Fuld performed in "Lady Audley's Secret," and was knocked in the well by a blow from the well-handle in Miss Pomeroy's hand, Pomeroy alleged that in falling Fuld kicked her, and, telling her husband of it, he assaulted Fuld and struck him on the head, Fauld sued out a warrant for the arrest of both parties, and had thenr arrested im nediately after the curtain fell. Fuid had an attachment issued previous to the difficulty against to be due, which was served that night; but as Fuld did not give the required bond the sheriff made no seizure. Elliott visited Justice Richardson Sunday with reference to the matter, and offered to plead guilty to the charge of assault and battery and pay a fine, saying that they had an engagement in Hagertown, Md., last night, which, it they did not appear, would cost them $100. Justice Richardson, after looking into the matter, and being satisfied that this was an effort to delay the company, allowed Elliott to leave and arrange with Mr. Castine to appear at court as proxy. The company left Sunday night.

CONSENTED TO BE KIL-LED.

Doubtful Confession of a Wife-Murderer and Wouldbe Suicide.

Sr. Louis, Feb. 8 .- William Dille who on Jan. 19 murdered his wife by cutting her thoroat, and then attempted to commit suicid by cutting his own, has so far recovered as to be able to make a statement of the affair. He says that on the day before the murder he and his wife become intoxicated. On awakening the next morning they were both ill and despondent, and, agreeing that their condition was intolerable, concluded that it was best for them beth to die. They discussed the v rious means by which death may be caused, and finally settled upon cutting their throats-The question as to who should die first was then discussed, and they agreed that the husband should cut his wife's throat and then commit suicide by cutting his own. He says his wife laid down on the floor, threw her head back and told him she was ready. He took up the butcher-knife and drew it over her throat. She died in a few minutes, but he hesitated when it came to carrying out the rest of the programme. Just then some neighbors entered the door and this decided him. He placed the knife to his throat and cut a deep gash, which severed the windpipe. The wound was not fatal, and he is now in a fair way to recover from its effects. The Coroner doubts the truth of this starement, and Dille will be tried tor murder in the first degree.

One Hundred and Fire Days of Fasting.

WABASH. Ind., Feb. 8 .- Mary Baker, the White County fasting girl, mentioned in previous specials to the World, completed the 105th day of her fast to-day. Her attending physicians and nurses are astonished at her endurance. Several days ago the extremities began growing cold and signs of dissolution appeared. She is still conscious and longing for death. She sleeps but one hour reach day There is a great interest among the medical fraternity in regard to the diagnosis of the disease, and the autopsy will be attended by a number of prominent physicians from different parts of the State.

Moonlighters Seize Arms.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—Twenty moonlighters raided the farm houses near Mallstreet, County Cork, on Friday, and seized a number of guns, discharging the weapons to intimidate the farmers. They also sheared the hair off the heads of four girls who had disobeyed the League's order not to speak to policemen. At Mass at which he considered too hard, Miss Millstreet to-day the officiating priest denounced secret societies

Small Riot at Belfust.

BELEAST, Feb. 8.-Large crowds of people assembled in the Shaukhill district yesterday, but there was no disorder, owing to the presence of a strong force of police. It midnight the people having retired to their homes, the police were withdrawn. About noon to-day two persons were arrested on Servia street for rioting. A mob tried to rescue the prisoners and the police were compelled to fire. A youth was wounded in the neck and taken to the hospital.

A Fox Hunt.

Mr. D. A. Overbey and Messrs. Ferrell, Brandon, Baugh, Beavers and Willis went to the country yesterday morning and had a lively chase after a fox. The chase was a beautiful one of one hour and ten minutes, when the sly old fellow was overhauled by the dogs. He weighed twelve pounds.-Demville Register.
