THE LATEST NEWS.

A RIVER OF FIRE.

The Great Eruption of Mauna Loa on the Island of Hawai.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 26, '87 .-The steamer Australia, which arrived here this morning from Honolulu, brings full particulars of the great lava flow from Mauna Loa.

The sight is described as magnificent beyond description. The colum of fire was first observed from the sumit of the crater on the night of January 16. The fire died down before midnight, but great volcanic disturbances continued up to the night of the 18th, when fire and lava again burst forth from the mountain side. The length of the flow is estimated at twenty miles. This distance the lava accomplished in two days, spreading as it descended, reaching the sea on the evening of January

The stream of lava continued to flow without interruption until January 29, when a river of fire burst forth, following the line of the lava flow. When the fires flamed out the heavy earthquakes ceased, although slight tremors were felt at intervals thereafter.

Still Denied Admission -- Doors Barricaded and Men Excluded from the Galleries.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 26.—Col. Robertson demanded admittance to the Senate Chamber this morning and was denied by the door keepers. All doors, except one, were barricaded and men were excluded from the galleries. Robertson says that he will institute no litigation to oust Smith, but will content himself by making formal demands daily for admission. Republicans in the Senate took no part in to-day's proceedings. The majority adopted resolutions asserting that no court yet held in Indianapolis had been for the purpose of reaching any decision on the election of a Lieutenant-Governor; that issue, as Judge Niblock had said, that the Senate was qualified to elect its presiding officer, and as it had elected Smith, he alone was president. However, they were willing to submit the question to the Supreme Court as arbitrator and abide by its decision. When the resoiution was mentioned to Judge Niblock he laughed heartily and said it struck him as a joke to call upon the court to act as arbitrator for refusing to accept the decision as judges.

Kansas Women Voters Elated.

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Parsons, Kan., says: "The wo men of this city held a mass-meeting and grand jubilee at Edward's Opera House last night, to celebrate the passage of the Female Suffrage bill. The platform was crowded with representive women of this city. Mrs. A. O. Brown, wife of the Mayor, presided. Addresses were made by Mrs. Goodnight, Mrs. H. A. Tucker, wife of the Methodist minister, and a number of gentlemen. The ladies are registering in great numbers, so as to be prepared to exercise the privilege of voting. It will undoubtedly create a revolution in local politics in cities of the first and second class in the State, as a large majority of the women will array themselves on the side of temperance, morality and good gov ernment.

Great Decline in Wheat.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- R. G. Dunn & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "The German Elections are believed to mean peace, wheat therefore declined, loosing the advances based on war rumors and touching the lowest quotations for the crop year. At Chicago stocks have advanced though as yet with no public to help. Small exports of gold hardly warranted by exchange quotations, have no effect on an easy money market. Foreign trade being just now the vital point. The official statement for January made yesterday is important with large gains in exports of cotton, bread stuffs and provisions. There was actual decreased of $1,600,000, in the miner exports compared with last year, so that the excess of merchandise exports over imports for the month tell below $20,000,000. Tet imports of specie were $2,000,000. The figures indicate some liquidation for stocks

The People Fleeing from Nice --Fall of a Dance Room and Church.

GENOA, Feb. 25.—The earthquake scare has not yet abated. Bussines is almost completely paralyzed and the streets are filled with people. Nearly all of the inhabitants remaining in this city slept in the open air last night or took refuge on board the many vessels anchored in the harbor. Further deaths have been received from Diano Marino showing the disaster at that place to have been greater than was supposed from previous reports. When the shock came a dance was in progress in a large house situated near a church, and without warning the house fell upon the heads of the dancers and the church toppled over upon the house, Subsequent examination disclosed the dead piled in heaps where they were caught by the falling buildings. Some soldiers exploring the ruins at Diano Marino yesterday found Judge Rassi beneath the ruins of his house but still alive. The soldiers attempted to extricate him and seizing him by the legs tried to pull him out. They succeeded in freeing his body from the weight which held it, when a beam fell from above; killing the judge and wounding his rescuers.

He Lied and She Blushed.

"Ah, madam," he said, as he extended a hand to help her up, "I never saw a more graceful full. You threw up your arms like a born actress, your little feet indulged in a shuffie, and down you settled with a swan-like movement which was superb."

"Really, sir?" "Honest Injun, madam."

And he picked up a number 7 rubber which had been flung . from her left loot, turned his back to a dent in the snow which looked like a cottage had been upset there, and raising his hat and making a profound bow, he took leave, while she got aboard a street car and continued to blush and smile for sixteen blocks - Detroit Free Press.

Some time ago, Mr. G. Martin, the accomplished and charming journalist, was called over to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of a young man whom he had known very well. Mr. Martin reached the city somewhat late, and, taking carriage, he hurried away. When he reached the street where the dead man had lived, a funeral prosession was just turning out of it, and thanking his stars that he had not reached the place too late, he tlod his driver to fall into the line of carriages and follow. At the cemetary he got out, and although he did not see any one he knew, he felt it to be his duty to talk to some one about the deceased, so he approached a nice looking old gentleman.

"He was a good tellow," he said, sadly, with a slight nod toward the grave. "Yes," replied the old gentleman, wiping away a tear.

"I loved him like a brother, and many's the time we've had together," continued Mr. M.

The old gentleman looked at him indignantly.

"Oh," apologized Mr, M., "I don't mean painting the town red, or any-thing like that, but just nice little chats and long walks, don't you know."

The old man's face grew redder. "What do you mean, sir? he said angrily.

"I mean what I say, sir. He was a rattling good fellow," and Mr. M. began to look surprised. "Who, sir?"

"The man in the grave there, of course."

"There's no man there, sir. It's a young lady. She's my niece, sir, and
