WEATHER INDICATIONS. By Telegraph to the Morning News.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Indications for the twenty-four hours commencing at 6 p. m., yesterday: For North Carolina, warmer, fair weather.

THE RAILROADS.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF TRAINS.

Table with columns for Railroad Name, Direction, and Time. Includes Richmond and Danville Railroad and North Carolina Railroad.

—Prohibition Club to-night at 8.

—The article on our first page, yesterday, headed, "Indeed We Have," ought to have been credited to the Wilson Mirror.

—The Baptist church will hold its regular monthly Conference tonight, at Bogart hall. A full attendance is desired.

—All members of the Prohibition Club are expected to be present at the meeting in the W. C. T. U. hall to-night.

—Died, on the farm of widow Lou Weatherly, near town, on Wednesday, April 6th, of chronic rheumatism, Miss Tamar, daughter of Mr. Alpheus Osborne, aged 15 years.

—We are daily in receipt of cumulative evidence that, thus far, the peach blossoms near and away from town are not all killed. There is promise of a fair crop of the early, a few of the medium and some very late kinds.

—Peck's Bad Boy caravanza, "William" Goat and Donkey, and the rest of the corps, passed through Greensboro yesterday morning, on their way to Winston. They treated a furore among our Peck of small boys, good and bad.

—The large number of people who are coming among us to make Greensboro their home is indeed encouraging and speaks well for the future of our city. The latest is Mrs. E. Lynch, of Columbus, Ga., a widow lady of considerable wealth, who having purchased lots, on Washington street, of Mr. Eckel, will at once erect a handsome residence. We cordially welcome her to our city.

—Not so much business was transacted in the United States District Court yesterday as on the day before. But one jury trial was had. Jerry McQueen was tried and convicted for infringing the revenue laws. Joseph Wedding, M. E. Clapp and E. P. Deaton, submitted. Wm. S. Harden, alias Capt. Jenks, was sent up for 18 months. The Court dismissed both juries on the ground that Congress had failed to pass the civil appropriation bill and there was not money enough at the command of the Court to continue the juries in session longer. The Court will hear motions, &c., to-day.

—A case was tried in the Durham Superior court at its late term, in which Lucius Rowe was tried for entering the house of S. H. Thaxton. He was charged with burglary, tried and convicted. The Tobacco Plant protested that the man was erroneously convicted on insufficient testimony. And so it proved. Yet, The Plant was condemned for its expression of opinion by some of the best citizens of Durham. On the 5th instant, Mary Castlebury, a principal witness in the case, went before Justice Barbee and swore that her testimony before the Superior Court was false in every material respect. Of course Rowe's lawyers will take measures for a new trial, and, undoubtedly, it will be granted. Now, to the point. The newspapers of the country, or, rather, their editors and reporters, are getting to be the principal detectors of crime. They are often accused of interfering in the cause of justice, but they do not. The rules of empanneling juries should be changed which will allow intelligent men to take seats in the jury box, and then the facts which the editors ascertain become aids to the lawyers and not hindrances to the administration of justice. Because a man has read an article in a newspaper he should not be deprived of acting as a juror. But, in this instance, the press—The Plant—did not go before the trial, but after. It warned the people of the perpetration of an injustice, and subsequent events have justified it. The editors must feel a commendable degree of pride in the outcome of the case. Now, let justice be done.

—The cry used to be, "turn the rascals out," and they went. Now it is, "the bugs must go," and they go, and don't "stand on the order of their going." They go at once, or so soon as they snuff the Per Oxide of Silicates, or "Great Bug Destroyer," including the "black fly or flea," which is so destructive to infantile vegetation. What is the Pr. Oxide of Silicates? A chemical production, the result of a long series of experiments by an Expert Agricultural Chemist, to combine a material, that while it would destroy the insects and bug pests on vegetation, would, at the same time, promote a healthy and vigorous growth, and not injure the delicacy of the plant, or impair its flavor, or to be injurious to the health or lives of persons using the plants or vegetables raised by its free use. This, the company claim to have fully accomplished, as a series of tests covering the last two seasons in the New England, Middle and Southern States will testify. The composition may be had by applying to Callum Bros. & Co., Greensboro.

—As a companion piece to Uncle's Catskill Letter, we remark that Capt. Boyton reached his destination, Barrytown, 24 miles from his starting point, which was Hudson. He left shortly before noon and arrived at 8:30. As he started the church bells were rung to cheer him on his way. At 2 o'clock he was opposite Catskill, and as hundreds hurried down to the bank to see him in his shiny rubber suit, we dare say that our "Uncle" was one of the number. While he was nearing the "Point," Uncle "Abe" Snead's wife presented him with a boy, which the father immediately named Paul Boyton. (Perhaps our Uncle will tell our readers who Uncle Abe is and how his wife and boy are getting on.)

—Rev. P. L. Groome, who returned from Charlotte yesterday, called at the office of the MORNING NEWS and made the following gratifying revelations concerning the recent work of grace in that city. On an average one bar room closes each week, one closed Friday and one Monday during his stay. No licences are renewed for a longer time than they would avail in case of a prohibition victory at the local option election in June, so certain are the whisky dealers of defeat. At a young men's prayer meeting in Tryon street Methodist church, Sunday morning, there were 185 present by actual count, all serious. Mr. Yatman held the first series of meetings under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association Tuesday evening at the Second Presbyterian church. It was difficult to get a seat, so full was the attendance. Mr. Groome says Charlotte is the most religious city he ever visited.

—We are requested to give notice to all citizens of South Greensboro to meet to-night (Friday), at Bellevue Institute, to consider the advisability of taking measures for the annexation of South Greensboro to Greensboro. The committee appointed at a meeting of last Friday night will make a report.

The Land of Beulah.

Our readers will most probably recall the publication of a very readable letter from our Indian River, Fla., correspondent which appeared in these columns about ten days ago, descriptive of the topical delights of that summer land. Our townsman, Mr. L. W. Andrews, called at our office yesterday and exhibited a dozen photographic views of scenes and objects around the home of our Florida correspondent. There were the stately palmetto palms; the Coquina rock bluffs; the patriarchal live oaks draped in long festoons of gray Spanish moss; the orange and shaddock groves laden with the fruitage of the tropics; a group of native Seminole hunters in their skiff with bows and arrows; the rippling waters of the limpid, island-dotted river; the white sailed fishing boats; the—well, the nose of your imagination just takes in the blended perfumes of wild jessamine, magnolia and orange blooms and with but little play of the fancy, you may look on these scenes and you are really in the fabled land of Beulah.

Commissioners' Meeting.

The Board of County Commissioners convened on Monday morning last, according to law. All the members were present, namely: C. A. Boon, L. C. Winchester, W. E. Beville, L. M. Foust and J. Henry Millis. They continued in session two days. The bridge over Richland creek
