Anti-Poverty Society.

NEW YORK, May 2 .- The Anti-Poverty Society, of which Dr. McGlynn is president and Henry Geo. is vice-president, held their first public meeting to night at Chickering Hall. Henry George presiding, and in his opening address said: "There is nothing sectarian in the platform of this society. All creeds are welcome. If Archbishop Corrigan chooses to join, he is welcome, and if Robert Ingersoll desires to become a member he will be welcome also. We propose to arouse the religious sentiment in men and women to help each other, and to do what charity cannot do. We hold that the poverty that festers in the hearts of our great cities does not arise from try and bring back religion to the world. "Religion will never be right until we shall see a democratic Pope walking down Broadway, with a stovepipe hat on his head and carrying an umbrella under his arm, In my opinion that man will be the greatest of Popes. Instead of having men carrying him on their shoulders, he will have the laugh on them, for he wil carry them in his heart."

Organized Tramps.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2 .- A party of tramps have for some time had a camp in the eastern outskirts of East St. Louis. Yesterday chief of police Walsh ordered it broken up and the tramps driven out of town, Lieut. Erwin with fifteen officers went to the camp and ordered the tramps to disperse and leave the city. They paid no attention to the orders and the police then advanced to arrest them, firing two or three shots in the air to intimidate them. To the great surprise of the police, the tramps returned the fire, but luckily without effect. The police then charged the camp in force firing as they advanced, and the tramps fled in all directions. Some of them plunged into a slough near there and swam for their lives. All of them finally got outside of the limits and joined another camp where the consolidated forces defied the police. The latter having no authority outside the city made no further effort to arrest the fugitives, but left a strong guard on the spot to prevent them from reentering the city, On going over the field again the police found one of the tramps groaning on the ground with a pistol shot in his spine. He was taken to the county hospital, and will probably die. The sheriff of the county has been notified of the congregation of armed tramps on his territory, but it is not known what action he will take.

Langtry's Soulful Stage Kiss.

Nothing in either society or theatricals this week is more curious than the kissing of Mrs. Langtry. It is done every night before an audience, and it is the most remarkable osculation yet performed in public. The lily of beauty is enacting Lady Clancarty. In the scene where her husband, whom she has never identified as an insurrectionist, climbs into her chamber through her window, in his flight from pursuers, she swoons away in his arms and he lowers her gently to the floor. The husband, if real would naturally kiss his fainting spouse tenderly; but, being only a mimic, you may suppose that he would merely pretend to do it. The actor is Charles Coghlan. He bends low over the Langtry, with his arms wound around her. She lies near the tootlights, with her famous face turned clearly towards the spectators. Coghlan puts his mouth against hers fairly and squarely; he holds it there while one might count five slowly; he emits a rapturous s-ch-ee-ee-weep, and the kissed creature sighs. It is a daring act and it thrills the audience every time .-- New York Letter.

Sweet Woman's Downy Lips

The New York Sun says: Women can have upper lips cleared of incipient moustaches by electricity. An illustration of the process was given lately before a class at the Women's College, New York. The students had seats in a small amphitheater, before a surgeon's chair, which resembled a barber's chair suggestively. The demonstrator was an expert in electricity. He first brought in a battery, attached to which were wires, one ending in a needle and the other in a handle. Then he introduced a girl. She was French, and on her Inventors and patentees and all hav- upper lip was a decidedly unpretty growth of hair. The operator placed the handle of the machine in one of her hands and told her to grip it steadily. That was to keep up a current through her whenever he touched her with the needle. He fixed a magneedle along down the course of a single hair to its roots.

"Ouch-h-h l'exclaimed the girl. Fifty were t'us done away with at tiny scars.

Garfield's and Other Statues --Visit to Charleston-- Honor to the Queen.

Special Correspondence of the News.

WASHINGTON, May 2, 1887.

The bronze statue of Garfield which has been contributed by the Society of the Army of the Cumberland for the artistic decoration of the city, has arrived in Washington, and will be unveiled with imposing ceremonies on the 12th of this month. Workmen are now busy upon the bronze ornaments and tablets which will adorn the granite shaft immediately above the three life-size symbolical brackets near the base of the pedesthe niggardliness of the Creator, but tal. These three figures are in a sit-from man's sinfulness. ting or recumbent position, and rep-Dr. McGlynn in closing said that he resent the three types of manhood always intended to remain a Catholic illustrated in Garfield's career, viz: and to preach Catholic doctrine, and to the student, the warrior, the statesman. The three tablets placed above these ideal figures are in the form of a shield on which rest a planetary globe for the student, a sword and trumpet for the warrior, and a laurel wreath enclosing the scales of justice for the statesman. The shaft, which is circular, is encircled by looped bands of oak leaves alternated with "buck eyes" in bronze. The statue is heroic in size, ten feet six inches in height, and weighs 5,000 pounds, The pedestal is eighteen feet in height, giving the statue an elevation of nearly thirty feet. The completion of this statue adds another permanent memorial to the already long list of conspicuous men, whose deeds and whose virtues have secured for them a place in enduring marble or bronze in the National Capital. There are now six bronze equestrian statues: Jackson, Washington, Greene, Scott, McPherson and Thomas. Six bronze pedestrian statues: Rawlins, Farragut, Dupont, Henry, Luther and Garfield. One bronze seated, Marshall. One bronze group representing Abrabreaking Lincoln of the slaves, as shackles as well as one marble group, two marble statues, and one marble distances. If a prohibitory liquor is also a bronze figure of Gen. Scott in the grounds of the Soldiers' Home, making in all nineteen outdoor memorials to public men. The different circles and squares in which they are located, are named in honor of the men in whose memory the statues were erected. And these parks, with their wealth of natural and artificial beauty, interspersed as they are with such luxurious frequency throughout the city, constitute a charm of which few cities can boast, and of which Washington is justly proud. They are not the least among the many charms for which this city can justly claim superiority over all others. They are esteemed among the greatest joys with which a city can be blessed, and Washington revels in a glorious profusion of such joys.

Those members of the Cabinet who attended the unveiling of the Cal houn statue at Charleston, have returned to the city, and are enthusiastic in their praise of Southern hospitality. To a majority of the party it was their first visit South, and from the way they speak of it, they the city and people of Charleston. They represent the city as about recovered from the effects of the earthquake. It is a wonderful resurrection, and shows what can be done by a plucky city.

The announcement is made that the Queen of the Hawaiian Islands will arrive in Washington on Tueswill arrive in Washington on Tues-day, and that officers from the State, War and Navy, will be detailed to attend the royal party during her so-journ. A government vessel will be placed at her disposal, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland will extend the usual courtesies.

MAY.

May shall make the world anew: Golden sun and silver dew-Money minted in the sky-Small the earth's new garments buy. May shall make the orchard bloom: And the blossoms' fine perfume Shall set all the honey-bees Murmuring among the trees. May shall make the bud appear Like a jewel, crystal clear. 'Mid the leaves upon the limb Where the wobin lifts his hymn. May shall make the wild flowers tell Where the shining snow-flake's heart, By some secret magic art. Were transmuted to a flower In the sunlight and the shower. Is there such another, pray, Wonder-making month as May?

Shocking Outrage.

FT. SCOTT, Kansas, May 2.- Saturday morning Mrs. Alice Fowler, a widdow with six children, living in the outskirts of town, was awakened by a nifying glass in his eye, bent over her negro who demanded money. She as she lay back in the chair, stuck the gave him all the money she had, $750. and he then choked her into insensibility and outraged her. Later in the day "Blue Jay" Williams was brought before Mrs. Fowler and she indentithis sitting. The operator explained | ned him as her assailant. He escaped that they could never grow again, but from his custodians, however, and that the process should be carefully barricaded himself in a house in the rooms and two pantries. Each located conducted in order not to make any vicinity. He was heavily armed and near Church street. defied the officers. No one ventured he escaped. He will be lynched if caught. His victim is in a precarious condition.

(Dr. Carter Berkeley, manager for the Valley Mutual Life Association of Virginia, paid last year to the widows and orphans of North Carolina over $73,000 in cash, and to-day paid into the State Treasury $1,026,34 taxes .-News and Observer, April 10, 1887.

The Valley Mutual Life Association of Virginia offers life insurance pure and simple, and it is "insurance that insures." It is not encumbered and complicated with banking and endowment and surrender value features, and one thousand other schemes which, while they may be well enough in their respective lines, have no more to do with life insurance in its true object, than a pawnbroker shop has to do with a postoffice.
